TRAIN HITS CAR; TWO ENGINEERS LEAP TO DEATH

Burning Gasoline Spurts Into Cab, Setting Fire to Men's Clothing.

WOMAN AUTO DRIVER DRAGGED FROM SEAT

Asylum Worker Apparently Tried to Beat B. & O. Near Berwyn, Md.

Two locomotive engineers were almost instantly killed yesterday afternoon when a Baltimore & Ohio express train crashed into a sedan stalled on the tracks at the grade crossing at Berwyn, Md. The gasoline tank of the automobile exploded when the engine struck it traveling at an estimated speed of 45 miles per hour, and flames enveloped the cab of the engine, firing the clothes of the engineers who, in their agony, leaped to their deaths from the train.

The dead trainmen are Albert Ward, 35, Jersey City, road foreman of engineers, and L. R. Walters, a student engineer, of Baltimore.

J. W. Lundy, fireman on the locomotive which was known as the President Pierce, was the hero of the disaster. Although also painfully burned, he leaped to the controls and succeeded in stopping the train a little less than half a mile from the scene of the crash. He was rushed to Emergency Hospital here immediately after the crash.

Woman Is Unscathed.

Miss Ethel Thomas, young employe of St. Ann's Infant Asylum, located near Berwyn, was the driver of the car. She escaped unscathed, probably due to the quick thinking of A. A. Mothershead, a Berwyn resident, who saw her stall the machine on the tracks when a safety gate closed against her after she had passed through the barrier on the east side of the crossing. She evidently had heard the bell but had tried to cross before the train passed.

Mothershead, with the assistance of several others, including Edwin Yost, standing nearby to watch the train, a fast express passing the station every day at 2:05 p. m., attempted to push the car back out of danger, but after several moments' frantic effort abandoned the attempt. Miss Thomas, frightened and bewildered, still sat in the car as the locomotive whistled and thundered toward the station. Mothershead took her arm and dragged her from the sedan and out of harm's way a few seconds before the engine, brakes screeching and smoking, smashed into it. The sound of the terrific impact was followed almost instantly by the loud explosion of the gasoline container, eyewitnesses said.

Both Bodies Strike Post.

The two engineers, apparently driven into a frenzy by the pain of their burns, jumped from the cab about 500 feet from the scene of the collision. One struck a whistling post bending it half over and the other hit a telegraph pole about 50 feet away. Their bodies, burned and broken, were found a few minutes afterward by members of the Berwyn Heights Fire Department, who were on the way to the scene almost before the noise of the accident had died away.

A Berwyn physician pronounced the men dead and Justice of the Peace Francis A. Shipley, of Berwyn, hastily summoned a coroner's jury and swore them in over the bodies. Later a Laurel undertaker took charge of them.

Justice of the Peace Shipley ordered an inquest to be held at his home at 8 o'clock this evening and was busy last night summoning witnesses for testimony before the jury.

Driver Is in Collapse.

Miss Thomas was taken to the St. Ann's institution, which is a summer branch of the main asylum here at Twenty-third and K streets northwest. She was in a state of utter nervous collapse, Mother Superior Rose, of the institution, said and could not be photographed nor talk to reporters. She is about 25 years old, it was said, and has been employed by the asylum for several years.

Mr. Ward entered the employ of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad in 1897 as a freight fireman. In 1900 he was assigned as a passenger fireman and in 1905 he was made extra freight engineer. On March 1, 1923, he was promoted to be a full-fledged passenger engineer, and since that time has been regarded very highly by the railroad officials. The President Pierce, the locomotive which he was driving, is the largest engine operated by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and one of the largest in the East.

Two Militia Aviators Killed in Plane Crash

Middletown, Pa., July 21 (A.P.).—An airplane reported attached to the 103rd Observation Squadron, Pennsylvania National Guard, crashed and was destroyed by fire at the Middleton Army Air Depot late this afternoon.

Two guardsmen in the plane were reported killed.

Air Mail Pilot Killed In Blinding Rainstorm

RAIL RATE HEARING RECESS IS STARTED

Attorneys Spend Most of Day Arguing Over Continuance of Proceedings.

(Associated Press.)

The first pause in hearings on the plea of the railroads for increased freight rates was reached yesterday with an adjournment designed to enable the opposition to prepare its case.

The recess was announced by the Interstate Commerce Commission after attorneys had spent most of the day in arguing whether the hearings should continue uninterrupted or be adjourned until August 31 as was the original plan.

Commissioner Meyer, presiding, said he and his colleagues would take under advisement a motion of the roads to resume testimony before that date.

During the day there came from Chairman Brainerd a declaration that the commission would proceed to its decision on the petition for a 15 per cent freight rate increase undisturbed by outside influences.

Writing to Senator Capper (Republican), Kansas, the chairman said the commission would not be stampeded into granting the increase, but "will continue as it has in the past to render its decisions based upon 'the record as made,' undisturbed by all the winds that blow."

At the hearing yesterday, Grenville Clark, attorney for railroad security holders, said that because of the emergency confronting carriers, the commission should make a final decision on the rate increase before September 1. He suggested that opponents to the petition be asked to present their case sooner than August 31, the day the commission had announced it would hear them.

Henry Wolf Bikle, attorney for the carriers, said later, however, that the railroads would not object to an adjournment of approximately ten days before the opponents began presentation of their testimony.

Bikle said he thought the commission should resume hearings not later than August 3 since the railroads ended presentation of their evidence yesterday.

Charles E. Elmquist, of Minneapolis, speaking for the shippers, told the commissioners the opposition could not prepare its case properly for hearings earlier than August 31. He asserted the railroads and security holders were as well advised last March as they were in June of "the threat to their credit."

Elmquist added the argument of the debacle confronting railroads was "piffle."

Two other speakers for the shippers devoted their argument largely to matters of procedure. J. Van Norman, of Louisville, Ky., suggested the commission refrain from lim-

Hearst Again Sued By Bishop Cannon

Courtship Articles Cause $1,500,000 Action to Be Instituted.

Libel suits claiming damages aggregating $1,500,000 were filed in the District Supreme Court yesterday against William Randolph Hearst and the Washington Times Co., publishers of the Washington Times and the Washington Herald, by Bishop James Cannon, jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church South.

Bishop Cannon sought to recover damages for alleged injury to his reputation resulting from articles published in the Hearst papers in July, 1930, relating to his courtship of Mrs. Helen Hawley McCallum, whom he married last year in London. The suits were filed by Attorney R. H. McNeil.

Philadelphia, July 21 (A.P.).—Bishop James Cannon, jr., of the Southern Methodist Church, today filed a damage suit against the Philadelphia Record Co., publishers of the Philadelphia Record, a morning paper. No amount of damages sought or grounds for the suit were given in the initial court papers.

Serpent 20 Feet Long Captured in Lake Erie

Sandusky, Ohio, July 21 (A.P.). Inside a tightly boarded box beside the lake shore here tonight was locked what several usually credible persons said was a large marine animal having specifications that might qualify it as an honest-to-goodness sea serpent, claimed to have been captured by two Cincinnati fishermen in Sandusky Bay.

The fishermen said the "serpent," measuring about 20 feet long and 12 inches through at the thickest place, colored black, dark green and white, arose late today out of the Lake Erie waters beside their boat.

Although frightened by the creature, they said, they hit it over the head twice with an oar and knocked it out, then fastened a line to its head and towed it to shore.

OKLAHOMAN BACKED FOR DISTRICT BENCH

By J. B. McDONNELL.

Lawyers seeking to have a District man named to the District Supreme Court bench to fill the vacancy created by the unexpected death of Justice Frederick A. Siddons will have to be more persuasive than are local political leaders in various sections of the country far removed from the National Capital.

Political fences are being built up with all the building power possible by the various State and sub-State leaders and a job is a job on the eve of a national political campaign, especially when it is such a job as appointment to the bench of the District Supreme Court.

President Hoover is said to have been deluged with recommendations for appointment of this or that man to the job and the recommendations are said to have come from all sections of the country. What recommendations have been received, of course, the White House refuses to discuss. The President's secretaries like to maintain the pose that little effort is being made to persuade him to a choice; that the whole country is willing that he should make his choice unaided by the extolling of the virtues and fitness of this or that candidate.

The name of Judge W. A. Woodruff, of Stilwell, Okla., is one of the latest to be advanced for appointment to the post. Supporters of Judge Woodruff called at the White House last week and their plea has been backed up by the support of W. G. Skelly, Republican national committeeman. The fitness of several others has been stressed to the President, though there has been, so far, no indication from the White House that a choice has been made.

Troops and Planes Sent To Nip Revolt of Troops

Buenos Aires, July 21 (A.P.).—Infantry troops and airplanes have been sent to Corrientes, Capital of Corrientes Province, the government revealed today, to suppress a revolt which broke out among the troops there.

The revolt, it was said, involved a battalion of about 350 men. Government officials tonight insisted the uprising was "of no importance whatsoever" and that all necessary means had been taken to stamp it out and to prevent the spread to other garrisons.

Women Burn to Death In Collision of Motors

Newark, Ohio, July 21 (A.P.).—Two women, believed to be from Columbus, Ohio, were burned to death and two men from Missouri were injured seriously in a collision of automobiles on the National highway, near Kirkersville, Ohio, today.

The machines skidded on the wet pavement.

FIXED NAVY BUILDING IS URGED BY ADAMS

Secretary Advocates Steady Program to Avoid Defects Recently Revealed.

(Associated Press.)

Naval construction under a fixed program covering a period of years was advocated yesterday by Secretary Adams as a means of avoiding such structural defects as have appeared in eight new cruisers all built at approximately the same time.

Five of the ships were found to have defective stern posts and all developed a tendency to roll so sharply as to interfere with effective gunnery in rough weather.

Alterations designed to rectify these conditions have been ordered.

The Secretary was asked whether such difficulties could be prevented by a long-term construction program under which lessons learned in trials of earlier ships could be applied in the construction of those that follow.

He replied emphatically that "the way to build the Navy is to build ships in a steady construction program rather than in bunches."

The eight cruisers in connection with which difficulties have been encountered were built under the 1924 program. Seven cruisers now under construction were authorized in 1929 and naval designers believe they will be free from the faults noted in their predecessors.

Secretary Adams pointed out that the 1924 cruisers were designed with a low center of gravity to improve their stability if damaged. Ship designs represent a compromise, he added.

"If you put the center of gravity too low the ships roll sharply," he said. "If it is too high the ships are more likely to turn over and sink when hit in battle.

"In the case of the new cruisers it is now believed the center was placed too low. It is felt, however, that this can be remedied without much expense."

The Secretary declined to estimate the cost pending completion of installation of antirolling tanks and larger bilge keels on two of the ships, the Northampton and Pensacola, in order to lessen the rolling tendency.

The bilge keels have already been doubled in size on most of the eight cruisers and the rolling tanks and other alterations will be made on the entire fleet if they prove successful on the Pensacola and Northampton.

FOUR CHANGES IN HENDERSON WILLS BARED

Mrs. Wholean, Reputed Granddaughter, Cut Out of Estate.

PREVIOUS PROVISIONS HELD AMPLE FOR HER

Japanese Secretary Is Left $100,000 and Trust Fund; Kin Receive Bulk.

Mrs. John Brooks Henderson, widow of Senator Henderson, Washington's "grand old lady," changed her will four times in the last seven years, and disinherited her reputed granddaughter, Mrs. Beatrice Henderson Wholean, long before recent court litigation was supposed to have caused a breach between the two.

This became known yesterday when a will filed for probate in the District Supreme Court, cutting off her adopted granddaughter from any share in the Henderson millions, was followed by the presentation of four earlier testaments by a trust officer of the National Metropolitan Bank.

The earlier wills, dating as far back as February 23, 1924, were not filed for probate. It was specified that the last, made in April of this year, would replace "any and all wills and codicils at any time heretofore made by me."

Chief Early Beneficiary.

Under the earliest testament, Mrs. Wholean was to receive the residue of an estate estimated variously between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000, and the right to occupy Boundary Castle, at 2200 Sixteenth street northwest.

In the second will, made in April, 1926, Mrs. Wholean was to receive the income from a $365,000 trust fund set up by Mrs. Henderson, and all personal effects. A will made in February of the following year specified that Mrs. Wholean was to receive no other inheritance than the income from the trust fund, although she was still granted the right to occupy the Henderson home. Similar provision was made in a new will made July 13, 1927.

The final document, filed for probate yesterday, indicated Mrs. Henderson went to her grave unforgiving recent efforts of her adopted granddaughter to have her judged of unsound mind.

Mrs. Wholean Eliminated.

"It is my wish and I so direct that Beatrice Henderson Wholean shall have nothing from my estate," read a clause in the document dealing with the woman whose adoption and subsequent litigation to annul it foreshadowed the wealthy dowager's death nearly a week ago at Bar Harbor, Me.

In striking contrast was the treatment accorded a Japanese servant, Jesse S. Shima, who was left $100,000 cash, and made the beneficiary of an additional $100,000 trust fund. Three other domestics were bequeathed sums ranging from $500 to $10,000.

Although Mrs. Wholean received nothing from the estate, estimated at between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000, the 90-year-old mistress of Boundary Castle was careful to explain what prior provision had been made for her.

Provided For in Trust.

"I have previously executed a certain irrevocable trust agreement," she said, "made and dated the 15th day of September, 1926, and comprising in the aggregate the sum of $365,000, which, together with such income as the said Beatrice Henderson Wholean shall receive from the

Scranton, Pa., July 21 (U.P.).—A gas bomb that brought tears to the eyes of Senator James J. Davis was hurled into a mob of fighting delegates today at the second session of the biennial convention of District 1, United Mine Workers.

The senator, tears streaming from his eyes, was escorted to a restaurant near the convention hall, where he recovered rapidly from effects of the gas, which had cleared the hall.

The rioting in the convention was a continuation of the war between the ruling administration, headed by President John Boylan, and the dissenting group under Thomas Maloney, who was defeated by Boylan in the presidential election.

When the convention opened this morning President Boylan ruled that accredited delegates only should be admitted to the hall and that the public should be excluded.

Maloney arose and demanded that union miners, though not delegates, should be permitted to hear Senator Davis speak, and that the public should be admitted. Boylan overruled this motion and the battle was on.

Fists were flying when a policeman tossed the tear gas bomb into the hall.

One of the major points of dissension between the two factions is the proposed strike of 15,000 employes of the Pittston Co. and it was learned from reliable sources today that these miners, representing thirteen local unions, probably will vote down the walkout proposal.

SENATOR J. J. DAVIS.

LONDON IN SPOTLIGHT AT CONFERENCE TODAY; U. S. FEELS OPTIMISM

Officials Here Feel That President's Proposal May Be Accepted.

LEAD IN PROCEEDINGS IS TAKEN BY AMERICA

(United Press.)

President Hoover's plan to stabilize German finances was before the London conference of government leaders last night, and officials here were optimistic that this, like the American debt postponement proposal that went before it, might be accepted.

The President talked all day with the men he has gathered at the White House to aid him in framing the United States plan, which is briefly to maintain the $1,200,000,000 of short term finance credits now extended to Germany by other nations, while a committee considers the possibility of a long term credit, and its desirability.

The situation last night was said authoritatively to be that the finance ministers of the negotiating governments talked over the Hoover stabilization plan at their meeting in London yesterday afternoon, that this plan still is the basis of negotiations, and that there seems hope of its early adoption in substance if not in letter.

It was added that the finance ministers had not agreed on any proposal as yet, and that their negotiations would continue. However, so optimistic was the tone of comment here last night that it seemed officials would not be surprised if some plan acceptable to the United States might be recommended to a full meeting of the London Conference within a day or two.

Leaders Are Silent.

How likely a recommendation by the finance ministers would be of immediate approval by the political leaders no one would say, but it was assumed that the French representative, like the rest, must be speaking in the name of his government.

However, it was unsafe, considering the peculiar diplomatic situation, to prophesy confidently on anything. President Hoover and his advisers have adopted the policy of taking the public into their confidence and to state as much of the American position as possible. This policy led yesterday to a comedy in which Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, chief American delegate at London, denied an official Government announcement made here of the President's specific comprehensive stabilization plan.

It was announced Monday night that the President had telephoned Secretary Stimson his proposals. Mr. Stimson denied this at London. The text in substance of the proposal was announced officially here yesterday, at a time when Mr. Stimson already had presented it to the London conference. Mr. Stimson, emerging, denied he had ever heard of any such proposal.

The answer to the puzzle is diplomatic niceties, considered vital in

Consul's Former Wife Files Contempt Charge

New York, July 21 (A.P.).—Counsel for Mrs. Virginia Harrison Gross, daughter of a former governor general of the Philippines, asked today that Capt. Christian Gross, of Chicago, from whom she is divorced, be held in contempt of court and fined $10,000 for failure to pay her $250,000 from a trust fund formed with her money.

Although Human Torch, Small Boy Saves Life

Hamilton, Ont., July 21 (A.P.).—A small boy, set afire by his companions, saved his life by quick thinking last night.

Youngsters playing with Fred Day, poured gasoline on his legs and then touched a match to them, he said. The lad buried himself quickly in damp sand nearby. His condition today was reported as fair.

Fordham Seismograph Records 2 Earthquakes

New York, July 21 (A.P.).—The Fordham University seismograph today recorded two earth shocks of medium intensity about 4,300 miles distant. The first shock was at 10:55:01 p. m., Eastern standard time, last night. The second was at 11:03:29.

The shocks seemed to have been in the general direction of South America, officials said.

Guardsmen's Bayonets Protect Man From Mob

Springfield, Tenn., July 21 (A.P.). Pushing people aside with bayonets, National Guardsmen tonight made their way through a crow estimated by them at 5,000 and started for Nashville with Everett Holloway, whom they were called to protect after his arrest yesterday for seriously wounding Sheriff J. Mart Murphy.

Latest Developments In London Conference

(Associated Press.)

The plenary session of the seven-power conference at London today is expected to receive a report from its committee of finance ministers which held a long session yesterday discussing plans for financial aid to Germany, but did not make public the results of its parleys.

In London Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius, of Germany, were described as being unaware of a new proposal of President Hoover, which was made public at Washington yesterday by Acting Secretary of State Castle. The French finance minister also denied official knowledge of the Hoover proposal.

Acting Secretary Castle said that the proposal had been telephoned to Secretaries Stimson and Mellon Friday and that the two Secretaries spoke to the French and German officials about it Saturday.

Prominent Wall street bankers yesterday were said to be generally inclined to indorse the Hoover proposals.

The proposal was expected to be presented to the plenary session today.

FRANCE SEES SLASH IN ARMS IMPOSSIBLE

Note to League Holds Cut Political; Low Limit Now Reached.

Paris, July 21 (A.P.).—French armaments have been reduced to the lowest possible point, the government declared in a memorandum on disarmament issued today in answer to the request of the League of Nations council for information preliminary to the 1932 world disarmament conference at Geneva.

In the memorandum, France takes the position that disarmament is a political, rather than a technical question. The country, it said, has reached the low limit in disarming in the present state of Europe and the world and it resists any suggestion that disarmament can be based either on population alone or in relation to the strictly limited armament imposed upon the central powers at the end of the World War.

The declaration was considered here to indicate clearly that France, believing she had reduced her armament to the lowest point under present conditions, would find it necessary to make increases in case any action were taken relieving Germany of the limitations imposed by the treaties.

To assure the security which France continues to insist is the only basis for disarmament, the government considers that it is necessary first to develop a system of mutual guarantees, such as the Rhine guarantees signed in connection with the Locarno pact.

It also suggests a second agreement by the signatory powers to any disarmament agreement, undertaking a consent to use their armed forces against an aggressor, the aggressor to be designated by the League of Nations.

The memorandum adds that France has reduced her forces to the present level only because she obtained the Locarno guarantees.

She asks no "unilateral guarantees." A large part of the memorandum is given over to explaining her reductions, showing important cuts in land forces since the war.

The increase in naval forces was declared to be commensurate with needs for home and overseas defense and the slight increase in air forces was said to be due to the increased importance of this arm from a military standpoint.

Regret is expressed that France did not sign the London naval treaty, but the government hoped that the disarmament conference will lead to a "complete solution of the problem" and that by that time "a suitable agreement will enable France and Italy, in full agreement with the British commonwealth, to set forth their intentions on construction for the next few years in a temporary form

Cyclone in Poland Kills 19, Hurts 300

Heavier Toll Is Feared as Section Southeast of Warsaw Is Hit.

Warsaw, Poland, July 21 (U.P.).—A cyclone centering near Lublin, 95 miles southwest of Warsaw, killed at least 19 persons today, injured 300, and demolished 1,000 homes.

The wind picked up carriages and busses and hurled them across streets and into homes and stores. Two freight cars filled with race horses were demolished and the horses were killed.

Communications with the rural districts were demoralized. It was feared the death toll outside Lublin would be heavy.

Delicate Situation Faced by Seven-Power Conference.

NEW HOOVER IDEAS TO GET CLOSE STUDY

Rumor Says That Proposals Suggest Financial Rule Over Germany.

London, July 21 (A.P.)—The seven-power conference faced a delicate situation tonight as the eyes of the participants were turned upon tomorrow's sessions, at which developments were expected of the greatest importance in the process of the attempt to save Germany from financial and economic collapse.

The outstanding work of today was a prolonged session of the finance ministers of the various nations, who met for several hours but did not report the result of their deliberations.

The committee of ministers had been given the task of devising a plan for solving Germany's problem. During the evening it was unofficially reported that the financiers had reached a decision, but no confirmation was obtainable. An official communique was issued in which it was said that the results would be communicated to the plenary session of the powers tomorrow.

Eagerly Read by Delegates.

Press reports cabled from Washington of new proposals made by President Hoover were eagerly read by delegates of various nations. Both the French and German delegates said, however, that they had not been officially apprised of the proposals.

In all conference circles it was insisted that a new American plan had not been submitted, but it was assumed that one would be submitted tomorrow.

In the face of disquieting rumors Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson of the United States continued, however, to maintain a quiet optimism tonight.

"The lines of the conference," he said, "are shaping themselves; the problems are being clarified and there is now a better prospect than there was of a successful solution."

Plays Leading Role.

Secretary Stimson's opinion was given following the meeting this morning in which he played a leading role.

Reports of new proposals by the American Government for solving Germany's immediate crisis by stabilizing the present volume of short term credits, estimated at $1,200,000,000 were cabled extensively to London and were the basis of rising hopes that the conference would be able to announce an early successful conclusion.

Every hour was admitted to be precious in the race against a possible calamity in Germany.

The finance ministers, however, adjourned their six-hour session this afternoon, issuing only a noncommittal communique to the effect that the results of the deliberations would be placed before the plenary session tomorrow.

Remains Deep Secret.

The nature of these results remained a deep secret, but it was emphatically stated that the new American proposals, which conference circles quickly dubbed "the new Hoover plan," had not been laid before the finance ministers.

This was confirmed by the members of the German delegation who appealed to the press representatives for full details of the plan. Rumors had reached the Germans that the new proposals suggested some sort of new financial control over Germany.

In all conference quarters it was insisted that a new American plan had not been submitted. It was assumed, however, that one would be submitted officially tomorrow, and meanwhile conference leaders were busy tonight taking steps to build confidence in the work which was being done.

Role of U. S. Discussed.

noon, and tonight Secretaries Stimson and Mellon held a long conversation over the role the United States is taking.

Prime Minister MacDonald stayed with the finance ministers throughout their six-hour parley, even leaving the members of the French delegation, who were his dinner guests at the House of Commons, without a host. They began their dinner, however, and the prime minister rushed thither as soon as the financier's conference was concluded, shortly after 6 p. m.

The conference today resolved itself into main sessions with side meetings of delegates such as the conference of Secretary Stimson and Foreign Minister Curtius this afternoon at which it was assumed Secretary Stimson outlined the American proposals, which are expected to be formally announced tomorrow.

Featured by Statements.

The morning session was featured by statements from all the representatives except the Japanese, but Secretary Stimson sounded the note which uneasy German financial circles were awaiting, when he made it clear, that despite reports in some sections of the German press, American banks are not withdrawing German credits, but in some instances these credits have been increased recently.

Challenged by newspapermen on this statement, the Secretary reiterated his assertion. He also expressed confidence that the big German-American banks would cooperate toward maintaining German credits and that the banks of other countries are prepared for similar action.

On this note the morning session adjourned, turning the problem over to the financial ministers, who met this afternoon. Under the direction of Prime Minister MacDonald and with Chancellor Bruening present, the financiers' discussions continued from midafternoon until 9 p. m.

Must Be Speedy.

Secretary Stimson declared today that if the conference is to attain its maximum success it must be speedy in its achievements and it is believed that tomorrow's meetings will reveal the success or failure of the negotiations.

Both the German and the French delegates are anxious to get back to their capitals, and as a gesture of continued concern with European rehabilitation, Prime Minister MacDonald and Foreign Minister Henderson may return to Berlin with the German visitors for a week-end visit, repaying the Germans' recent visit to Chequers. Provisional arrangements have been made for the trip.

The German and the French delegates were steeped tonight in a study of the American proposals, and in well informed circles there was a hope that the scheme for German stbilization embodied in these would be unanimously accepted.

GERMAN CRISIS LAID TO BRUENING'S RULE

Hitler Faction Resolutions Declare Government Is Solely to Blame.

Berlin, July 21 (A.P.).—A strongly worded resolution adopted by the Nationalist Reichstag party meeting today condemns German efforts at London to solve the economic crisis, for which Chancellor Bruening's government is held solely responsible.

Alfred Hugenberg, the party's chairman, read a telegram from Adolf Hitler and other party leaders to Chancellor Bruening, warning that the Nationalist opposition will not consider itself bound by "any further conditions entered into with France."

Planless in Crisis.

"The most devastating feature of the situation is the helplessness and planlessness with which the outbreak of the crisis has been faced," says the resolution adopted afterward.

"Everything was done too late, mostly wrongly and the most important thing left undone."

"Marxist spectacles," through which it said the government envisaged the situation, were blamed by the resolution for all the ensuing ills.

"With the measures hitherto adopted and with foreign money," it proceeds, "Germany's malady can not be cured. Foreign credit is today poison for us."

The Fatherland's only salvation, according to the resolution, lies in a prompt change of government.

Hit Press Restrictions.

Another resolution, equally pungent, dealt with the emergency press restrictions. It was indeed so pungent that the official agency report states "we are unable to reproduce it under present press regulations."

The agency indicated, however, that the resolution protested against the prohibition of certain Rightist papers in the provinces under emergency decrees, which, the resolution says, "are almost word for word taken from the czarist press laws of 1865."

Protest also was raised against the promulgation of these restrictions at the time the "steel helmeters" were trying to oust the Prussian Diet by means of a plebiscite scheduled for August 9.

No Marks Easy, Advises Missive to Hindenburg

—By JOHN J. DALY—

(Editor's note: The following letter, written by Hans Phehlhaver, of Washington, to the President of the German Reich, has just been released by the Conglomerated Press.)

"JUST read your letters to President Hoover. It was a little late getting into the papers, but it proves that the pen is mightier than the sword.

"A lot of beer has gone out of the breweries since those old days in 1914-18, when you led the concerted armies of all the Germanies—the poor old breweries.

"Well, the world does change!

"Note what you say about the mark not being so easy; but stick to it and everything will come out O. K.

"How are the Hohenzollern boys? Haven't heard from them for a long, long time. Wonder if there's any of the old gang left? Once in a while used to see a picture of Wilhelm, manicuring a wood-pile; but he got married or something, and sang the old swan song, 'Just Tell Them That You Saw Me But You Didn't See Me Saw.' 'Member that ditty? Those were the good old days.

"There isn't a little German Band left over here; not even an umph-umpah—and how we miss hearing that umph-umpah-umpah in the band! Something ought to be done about this. Can't you send over a couple of the boys? A good oboe player and a drummer would do. The boys could make their marks over here. All we hear now are saxophones and crooners—and you know what sax appeal is. Not so hot. And crooning—heaven protect us!

"WISH we could all get together again, down in a rathskeller, say, and knock off a couple of steins. A keg of beer surrounded by students—what an island! Personally, I think you should have invited all the folks over to your place this summer. London is no picnic ground. You can't see your right hand from the fog. Berlin, now, that's different.

Imagine being Unter den Linden on a hot day like this—under anything but the sun. You think you've got it tough over there. You ought to be in Washington. Almost everybody's out of town. Can't drum up enough people for a pinochle game. If President Hoover wanted to call a Cabinet meeting, he'd have to go to London. But that isn't what I started to say. I think it's time for some big man—and you are a big man—to start a return movement to the Garden of Eden.

"The old world is cockeyed, general, and no one knows it better than yourself. It isn't only Germany. It's all the other countries, too, including the Scandinavian.

"Now, I've doped out a little scheme that ought to be brought to the attention of world statesmen:

"Get back to first principles. Cut a new deal all around.

"What chance has a boy or girl under this economic system? The longer a man works, the shorter his pay. Farmers can't get enough food to eat. Tailors look like ragamuffins. Builders of houses have to sleep on the grass. They call it the machine age. Me? I've got another name for it. I'll tell it to you when we meet some day in the Tiergarten.

"Listen. Here's a piece of inside information. All Milwaukee is waiting for you to come over. Why don't you pay us a visit? We could get together then, out in Schlitz Park, and talk this thing over. St. Louis, too, is anxious to see you. You remember St. Louis from the old song, "Meet Me in St. Louis, Meet Me at the Fair." Well, St. Louis is in the same fix as Milwaukee. They are all waiting for the return of light wines and beer—but the schooners are sunk, and there is moaning at the bar. Come on over and see what can be done about it.

"YOUR letter was not given out at the official source. Somebody in the Associated Press scooped the White House. I note it is dated June 20, and here it is July 21 and just published. We have had quite a lot of trouble with the Postoffice Department lately, and maybe that was the reason; but, anyway, I am glad it finally got here—and was put in the paper, along with your picture. You look fine.

"With all good wishes, yours sincerely, HANS."

"P. S.—Am going over to Hoboken next week and hope to face a seidel of Pilsener. The Hamburg liners are still doing business at the same old docks. Louie sends regards. H."

HOOVER'S DEBT VIEW BACKED BY BANKERS

Suggestions Dealing With German Crisis Indorsed; Would Await Result.

New York, July 21 (A.P.).—Prominent Wall street bankers today were generally inclined to indorse the proposals of President Hoover to the London conference in its principal objectives.

Several who discussed informally the suggestions for dealing with the German financial crisis pointed out they were fundamentally in accord with the views which have been held in important quarters in Wall street of late and with the plan of maintaining the volume of credit to Germany which has been in effect through a gentlemen's agreement among leading Wall street banks.

Some perplexity was expressed as to how a rigid plan to maintain all credits outstanding could be practically applied, in view of the thousands of individual transactions involved. One prominent banker expressed emphatic disapproval of any plan which would involve the freezing of all individual credits to German concerns and individuals for any considerable time. He felt that bankers should be free to exercise their judgment in dealing with individual cases, at the same time making an effort to maintain the aggregate volume outstanding.

Spectacular Panacea Unlikely.

In some of Wall street leading banking circles, it is felt that the general objectives of Mr. Hoover's proposals are about all that can be accomplished for Germany for the present. While it is true that some bankers still favor the prompt extension of a considerable additional credit, an extensive canvass leads to the conclusion that that is scarcely the popular view.

Wall street generally does not look for any spectacular panacea for the central European ills from the London conference. It feels, rather, that about the best that can be hoped for at this time is a working plan which will permit Germany to carry on until confidence of both the German people and of foreign capital is restored.

Important bankers hold that if Germany will make strenuous efforts to put her finances in order over the next few months, it may then be feasible to consider a substantial long-term loan to Germany, to replace some of her burdensome short-term credits.

U. S. Heavily Involved.

It is pointed out that the United States already holds about half of Germany's short-term obligations, estimated at around $1,200,000,000, and that a large portion of the remainder are held in London. France is said to hold but a small portion of the total. Bankers here feel that there is little incentive to New York and London financiers to increase their already large stake in Germany, particularly under any plan which would involve important German concessions chiefly to France.

The stock market made little, if any, response to the Washington proposals. Professional stock traders, naturally, would welcome any plan which would immediately alleviate the European situation, and have been inclined to hope, faintly, that some cure-all might suddenly be discovered.

It is possible, therefore, that a dull sag in the share market, which closely coincided with the printing of the Hoover proposals on news tickers, may have reflected some disappointment. At any rate, a mild rally was interrupted at that time.

The market pushed upward again toward the close, however, and showed several gains of $1 to $4 a share. It was a listless affair, with a turnover of only 1,100,000 shares.

The extreme quiet and irregularly higher tendency of the stock market during the past five sessions, has seemed good evidence that there is no real alarm over the European situation. At the same time, there has been a decided disinclination to extend speculative commitments pending further clarification of it.

Crude Oil Buyer Puts Price Up to 40 Cents

Ponca City, Okla., July 21 (A.P.).—A flat price of 40 cents per barrel for all grades of crude oil in the Kansas, Oklahoma and North Texas field was posted by the Continental Oil Co. here today, effective at 7 a. m., tomorrow. The company, one of the major purchasers of oil in this area, has been paying the prevailing scale of 10 to 22 cents.

NUMBER GIVEN FALL IN PRISON HOSPITAL

Former Secretary in Good Spirits; Routine Will Be Changed Gradually.

Santa Fe, N. Mex., July 21 (A.P.).—Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, now convict number 6991 in the New Mexico State Penitentiary, was reported in good spirits tonight after his first day in prison. He was confined in the penitentiary hospital.

Dr. Eugene W. Fiske, prison physician, found physical ailments as reported by physicians who had formerly examined Fall.

"At present he will be kept in the prison hospital, under observation," said Dr. Fiske. "We will watch in particular for any evidence of decomposition of the heart or other effects which might result from the 7,000-foot altitude. He will be kept by himself until such time as his habits of a lifetime can be modified."

Dr. Fiske explained that Fall will be gradually adjusted to prison routine, which is quite in contrast with his habit of late sleeping and reading half the night.

"We can not abruptly change his habits and put him in a general ward in his present condition. His case is no exception in the history of the New Mexico prison. He is not the first man who has been received in the prison hospital direct from an ambulance," Dr. Fiske said.

Warden Ed Swope would not say whether Fall had been put through the prison routine of finger printing, photographing and other details of "dressing in" prisoners.

Fall was received at the prison last night to begin a sentence of a year and a day for his conviction of accepting a bribe of $100,000 while Secretary of the Interior for granting naval oil leases.

Fall's ailments were listed by Dr. Fiske as arteriosclerosis, myocarditis, chronic pleurisy, arrested tuberculosis and arthritis particularly of the spine.

(Associated Press.)

Justice Department officials yesterday disclosed that an exception had been made in the case of Albert B. Fall from a presidential ruling that petitions for executive clemency must be signed by the applicants before consideration is given to them.

Fall has made no personal application that President Hoover either pardon him or commute his sentence.

Nevertheless, actuated by a petition from Senators Bratton and Cutting, of New Mexico, and that State's Legislature, the Justice Department will collect facts upon which a recommendation for or against clemency might be based.

Attorney General Mitchel said only the usual routine investigation would be made. Steps have been taken, he said, to obtain opinions from the men who prosecuted and sentenced Fall as to whether clemency should be shown. He added, however, that no recommendation had yet reached his desk.

The Attorney General said Mr. Hoover thus far had made no request for a report. He added, however, that if "any one of the officers consulted advises clemency the papers shall be submitted" to the White House.

Transasia Expedition Crosses Burzil Pass

(Associated Press.)

Advices yesterday to the National Geographic Society indicated that the Citroen--Haardt transasia expedition had successfully negotiated another of the difficult barriers in its passage of the Himalayan Mountains.

Although the expedition left at Srinagar, in northern India, some of its heavier tractors, it is proceeding northward toward Chinese Turkestan with its scientific equipment intact, and still is using two of its lighter automobiles. A Geographic Society dispatch said these cars had reached Astor, indicating the expedition put behind it Burzil Pass, one of the most difficult in its pathway.

FRANCE DECLARES SLASH IN ARMS TO BE IMPOSSIBLE

The intention of the memorandum seemed to be to emphasize the political aspects of disarmament and to advance a strong plea for some sort of armed force which would be at the order of the League of Nations. Weaker nations, it indicated, should be protected and stronger nations must be strong enough to protect them under the orders of the league.

"By reason of the dangers threatening the weaker or more exposed states," the memorandum said, "a general reduction of armaments lays fresh responsibilities on the stronger, or less exposed, powers which they can not elude."

Mutual Action Advocated.

France expresses the conviction that security for all is only obtainable by "a mutual, effective and prompt assistance," which alone gives the League of Nations, "material and moral force sufficient to prevent aggressive attacks."

The memorandum recalls that the league never has obtained satisfactory answers from members as to whether, when conflict threatens, they would be willing to turn over a designated portion of their land, naval and air forces to "intervene in the conflict in support of the league council's decisions or recommendations."

The kernel of disarmament, it emphasized, lies in the question "What use will armaments be when they are limited and reduced?" War having been outlawed, it asks, what will the states do if a war breaks out and a crime of aggression is committed? These, it insists, are essential questions, to which the conference of 1932 must give definite answers if it is to succeed.

France, the memorandum stated, is ready to consider all general solutions: Universal pledges of mutual assistance, combinations of local agreements, constitutions of international armed forces or simultaneous recourse to all.

German Limitation Hit.

She asks herself no unilateral guarantee. "France," the memorandum says, "made a series of defensive treaties in the interest of international order, but she can not face such a task alone."

Text of U. S. Proposal To Aid German Credit

The essence of the problem is the restoration of confidence in Germany's economic life, both in Germany and abroad.

1. On the political side the United States hopes that, through mutual good will and understanding, the European nations may eliminate all friction so that the world may rely upon the political stability of Europe.

2. On the economic side, the present emergency is strictly a short-term credit crisis. Fundamental pressure upon German economy during the period of depression has been relieved by the joint action of the creditor powers in suspending all payment upon governmental debts during the period of one year. But Germany has financed her economic activities to a very great extent through the medium of short-term foreign credits. There is no reason to doubt, the soundness of the basis upon which these credits rest.

But the general uncertainty which has prevailed for the last few weeks resulted in such a loss of confidence that the German banking and credit structure was subjected to a very severe strain. This strain took two very definite forms, both of which resulted in a drain of banking resources and the depletion of German gold and foreign exchange holdings.

In the first place there was a flight from the mark within Germany. In the second place there was a withdrawal of foreign deposits and a curtailment on the part of foreign banks of outstanding lines of credit.

Fundamentally, there is nothing to justify these movements, and if through cooperative action they can be arrested, there is no reason why the present emergency can not be immediately and definitely surmounted.

(A) As to the first, namely, the internal flight from the mark, this can be and is being successfully combated by the vigorous action of the German government and the Reichsbank. Once unreasonable fear has been eliminated, it is certain that the patriotism of the German people can be relied on to prevent the destruction of the credit of their own country.

(B) As to the external credits, we believe that the first approach to this problem is the development of a program that will permit the maintenance of an adequate period of time of the present outstanding lines of credit. In this connection it is our understanding that this volume of credit, together with the freed reparations and the natural gain from the allayment of the panic should be adequate to meet the needs of German economic life for the immediate moment.

On the other hand, it must be apparent that, unless provision is made for the maintenance of these credits, an attempt to provide new ones, whether of a short or long term character, would be ineffective.

In the development of such a program, the governments of the countries having principal banking centers, including the United States, Belgium, France, Great Britain, Holland, Italy, Japan and Switzerland and other important banking centers, might well undertake to encourage their bankers so to organize as to permit the maintenance for an adequate period of time of present day outstanding lines of credit to Germany.

The responsibility for working out the details of such a program and the methods of making it effective with due regard to the protection of the banks and the needs of German economy should be left to the banking communities of the respective countries and the central banks could be relied on to furnish the necessary leadership, cooperation and direction, we believe.

Such voluntary arrangements should be supplemented, for the time being, by strict control of all foreign exchange transactions by the Reichsbank so that the integrity of the program can be maintained and the banks that are participating can be assured that there would be no arbitrary withdrawal either from within or without Germany.

3. It is our belief that if such a program could be made promptly effective it would result in an immediate restoration of confidence and that in a comparatively short time the necessity for restrictions of this character would disappear and normal conditions would once more prevail. There is all the more ground for faith in such a result in view of the fact that the United States debt-suspension program has now become effective and that the events which succeeded the announcement of that program clearly demonstrate that relief from payment of intergovernmental debts established in the minds of the business world the basis for renewed confidence.

4. A committee should be selected by the Bank for International Settlements or created by some other appropriate method to secure cooperation on the following questions:

(a) In consultation with the banking interests in the different countries to provide for the renewal of the present volume of outstanding short-term credits from those countries.

(b) In making an inquiry into the immediate further credit needs of Germany.

(c) In the development during the course of the next six or eight months of plans for a conversion of some proportion of the short-term credits into long-term credits.

Writer Explains Gold Flow To Pay for Nations' Goods

Last Year $417,000,000 of Precious Metal Poured Into United States Because America Was Selling to Nonproducers Abroad.

(Below is the second of three dispatches prepared by Charles D. Watkins, who covers the United States Treasury at Washington for the Associated Press, dealing with various aspects of finance involved in the present international negotiations.)

By CHARLES D. WATKINS.

(Associated Press.)

Like water seeking its own level, gold flows to that country producing and selling the largest amount of commodities.

If the gold of the world were evenly apportioned among the nations, such a division would last only until the nonproducing nations could spend it with the producers. Production of goods attracts gold just as a magnet attracts a needle.

Gold has flowed into the United States at the rate of about $417,000,000 in the last year, and in the month of June the United States gained $156,000,000, of which $90,000,000 was in one week, due chiefly to transfer of gold from Germany to the United States. American interests had loaned huge amounts to German interests on short-term credits, and when confidence in the German situation was shaken the Americans recalled their loans.

Such an unprecedented amount of gold could not have been shipped in one month from Germany, and the transfer was made possible because German interests held large amounts of gold in this country, which in international financial language was "earmarked" for the Germans. When the loans were called the Germans turned the gold already here over to Americans to pay the debts.

From May 31 until June 23 the German Reichsbank lost $230,000,000 in gold and $20,000,000 in foreign exchange, bringing its ratio of reserves to total note and deposit liabilities to 40.4 per cent in face of the legal requiment that the minimum be 40 per cent.

It was in this period that President Hoover proposed a year's postponement on all payments on intergovernment debts; such action would enable Germany to postpone for one year reparations payments totaling approximately $400,000,000. It would allow debtor nations to hold up for one year payments to the United States totaling about $245,000,000.

The latter amount represented the payments due for the twelve months on the $11,000,000,000 loaned to America's allies during and just after the World War. The allied nations were granted a long period of years in which to make repayment. The moratorium offered by President Hoover was about the same as a banker telling a merchant that it would waive payments due on his note if he did not seek to collect a long overdue grocery bill from a citizen whose financial failure would injure the entire community.

While the allied nations were discussing President Hoover's proposal the situation became so critical in Germany that the Bank for International Settlements at Basel, Switzerland, was called upon for aid and arranged a loan of $100,000,000 to Germany. The money was raised by the Bank of England, Bank of France, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and other European nations. The New York Federal Reserve Bank participated to the extent of $25,000,000.

In arranging the loan the Bank for International Settlements fulfilled one of the phases of its operations for which it was organized under the Young plan for reparations payments.

Board Would Defer Virgin Island Action

(Associated Press.)

The Shipping Board yesterday adopted a resolution requesting President Hoover to defer for another year extension of the coastwise laws to the Virgin Islands.

The board certified to the President that adequate steamship service by American flag vessels has not yet been established to the Virgin Islands. Extension of the coastwise laws would restrict the trade to American vessels. The President was requested to extend from September 30, 1931, to September 30, 1932, establishment of such service and to defer the time for extending the coastwise laws to the island for the same period.

Bingham Scores Delay In U. S. Building Work

(Associated Press.)

Delay in the execution of the Government's $700,000,000 building project was charged yesterday by Senator Bingham, (Republican), of Connecticut, one of the administration members. His attack, following closely upon a Democratic criticism, was provoked by information that only one of nine projects authorized by Congress for Connecticut in the last three years had actually been started.

Senator Bingham charged no Government official with the failure but blamed bureaucracy. He saw "red tape" and the "clumsiness of the Government machinery" as the cause and said the results supported his contention that the Government should "keep out of business."

HEAT OF 94 DEGREES LEADS TO ONE DEATH

Street Thermometer at 100; Temperature Today to Be Almost Same.

Killing one man and sending the thermometer to a high mark of 94 degress, the heat persisted yesterday with no relief in sight except the reiterated promise of the United States Weather Bureau that there will be thundershowers, if not during the night, by this afternoon.

The victim was Charles H. Hart, 37 years old, of Baltimore, employed by the Baker Ice Cream Co., 1336 H street northwest. Hart collapsed at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, shortly after lunch. He died half an hour later at Casualty Hospital. Physicians said that his death was caused by acute indigestion, superinduced by the heat. Hart was visiting here at 919 I street northwest.

Whether it rains or not, the temperature will remain about the same, according to the forecast. The kiosk thermometer on Pennsylvania avenue hit the 100 mark yesterday afternoon. The highest humidity at the Weather Bureau was 81 per cent at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

Late yesterday afternoon clouds gathered in black formation and for a while it looked as if the city were to get a real soaker, but only a few drops fell and the sky began to clear.

Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of Metropolitan Police, took pity on his men and issued an order that they might shed their coats, provided they had black ties, clean white shirts and no suspenders. The major announced that this convenience will be given the police whenever the weather gets as hot as yesterday.

Census Bureau employes were dismissed for the day after eight of them were treated at the emergency ward of the bureau for heat prostration. The dismissal came as a surprise to the employes as William M. Steuart, director of the census, announced a few days ago that they would not be dismissed in future regardless of how hot it became. The thermometer at the Census Bureau reached a high mark of 98.

Courts of Judge McMahon and Judge Given were recessed for the day and employes of the Federal Trade Board were excused.

Whirlpool Spins Outward With Force to Repel Ships

Captain on U. S. Survey Vessel Details Phenomenon; Lighthouse Service May Mark Spot and Greatly Aid Fishermen East of Cape Cod.

Boston, July 21 (A.P.).—A whirlpool in the ocean, 150 miles eastward of Cape Cod, so strong that it repels a ship, was described today by Capt. William E. Parker, of the Hydrograper, one of four United States Coast and Geodetic Survey vessels engaged in the first complete charting of Georges banks.

The whirlpool was reported by Capt. Parker as spinning outward, instead of toward its center. He said he had made several attempts to force the Hydrographer through it, but the force of the water immediately threw the vessel off its course. He planned, he said to investigate the phenomenon further upon his return to the banks. Capt. Parker left with his crew to resume the survey after four days in port for supplies.

Although the banks extend some 150 miles off Cape Cod, Capt. Parker said he found scarcely 12 feet of water in some of the shoal spots. One of the results of the survey probably will be the marking of such dangerous localities by the Light House Service. Such markings are much in demand by the fishing industry. The banks, with submarine peaks and valleys, correspond to a mountainous regional ashore and probably were thrown up during the last glacial period, according to Capt. Parker.

Small T N T bombs play an important part in the survey. Extremely accurate distances are obtained by measuring the time required for the sound of underwater detonations to travel between a working vessel and one at a fixed position. The sound is picked up on hydrophones by the ship at a known position and broadcast by radio back to the operating vessel. Sound travels faster in salt than in fresh water and in warm than in cold water, Capt. Parker said.

Other vessels engaged in the work are the Lydonia, Gilbert and Oceanographer, the latter formerly the private yacht of J. P. Morgan.

Toscanini Directs Wagnerian Opera

Bayreuth, Germany, July 19 (A.P.).—In the first of the summer festival performances here at Bayreuth, home of Richard Wagner, the opera "Tannhauser" was conducted today by Arturo Toscanini.

The direction was perfect and the technical production, which was designed by Siegfried Wagner, whose death cast a shadow over last year's festival, was no less creditable.

This charming Old World town is crowded with people from all nations, who are enjoying the opera and the primitiveness of the place. Ferdinand, former Czar of Bulgaria, who never missed the festival even in days before his son succeeded him to the throne, is the most striking personage among the royal group now gathered at the Bavarian musical center.

Mrs. Skunk and Babes Delay Golf Foursome

Bingen, Wash., July 22 (U.P.).—Bingen golfers love their game. When river turtles parade across the seventh green, as river turtles sometimes do, the players think nothing of it.

But when a foursome approached the green and saw mother skunk and five offsprings playfully gamboling on the green, they held up their game until the visitors were safely away.

The GIRL About Town

COUNT that day lost in Washington without its visiting celebrities! Yesterday, as I rode by the White House, I saw two strolling along, deep in conversation—Ambassador Charlie Dawes and Senator (Grandfather) Dwight W. Morrow. Their heads were close together, but I could read Grandfather Morrow's lips as he said: "He calls me 'Granddaddy,' and the other day—" Charlie Dawes had his "Melody in A" expression on as he listened with the calm of an older member of the Granddaddy Club, the most exclusive organization in the world. Now and then, the ambassador would wave his pipe to brush away a persistent bee, presidential variety, that kept buzzing out from the grounds of the Executive Mansion.

• • • •

Passed Bill Hard headed White Houseward. It reminded me that a friend had told me Bill was back in the flock of Hoover fair-haired lads once more ready, I suppose, to write a revised life of Herbert Hooyer for 1932 use. Wasn't it strange that Bill should have arrived at the Rapidan Camp several weeks ago a day later than the announced guests, so that his name never appeared in the official list?

Speaking of the Hards, Anne is just back from Rome, where she has been visiting the John W. Garretts in the embassy there. Anne had a marvelous time and only missed playing bridge with the King of Sweden when she learned that he played for 25 cents a point. Anne's game is good, but she was far from home and refused the glittering temptation.

• • • •

Lunching at the Mayflower in the big, cool dining room, a nearby foursome included "Ted" Joslin, of the White House secretariat. Ted looked rather warm and tired. This plumbing business, stopping up news leaks, is no job for an honest-to-goodness newspaperman. "Ted" did not officially find the leaks, which is the best for everybody.

IN a downtown bird store I found Senator Borah's vivacious better half, parking her trained canaries before she left on a visit to Mrs. "Tim" Ansberry, in the Berkshires. The senator is in Idaho. Mrs. Borah was in a hurry, but not too much so to stop and talk about her favorite philanthropy—the veterans of St. Elizabeths Hospital. Mrs. Borah is a patron saint of these poor boys, and they consult her on every possible topic. Now and then she has a queer experience with one of them. One morning last spring she was awakened at 6 o'clock by a tremendous ring on her door bell. There stood one of her "boys," a rather violent inmate of St. Elizabeths, clad scantily in B. V. D.'s. He had run all the way across the city arrayed thus, like a lily, and none of Maj. Pratt's finest had noted his Lady Godiva flight.

Had to meet a friend arriving from the South at the Union Station and got there in time to see Marian Jardine and a group of Washington girls who went to New York to meet her boat, on which she came from Cairo, where her father is American Minister. Marian was showing them an autographed picture of King Fuad, given to her by his own dusky but royal hands. After all, a king is a king in these days, when the species is getting rather rare!

• • • •

Met Trixie Henderson Wholean in the station on her way back to Bar Harbor. Foster Grandmother Henderson might have thought her mourning a little too modern, but to me it was chic and becoming. Trixie is sweet. She had a troubled girlhood and debutantehood, trying to be up-to-date like the other girls and old-fashioned for grandmother's sake, at one and the same time. Boundary Castle will probably join the group of famous houses, barred and shuttered, with caretakers, indifferent to echoes of brilliant entertainments.

• • • •

Now comes the news that Mrs. Henderson cut off Trixie without a penny, and left $200,000 to a Jap servant. What a shame. A dozen people told me to look out for a big will contest. Prescott Gatley is Trixie's attorney. Now's his chance.

Flying Missionary Starts for Arctic Today

New York, July 21 (A.P.).—Having cracked up one plane in the Arctic Circle last year, Brother George U. Feltes, S. J., will start flying another to the 400,000 square mile Catholic mission territory in Alaska tomorrow.

And now he'll have another flying missionary to help him. At San Francisco he will pick up Brother Martial Lapeyre, who is just finishing his flight instruction. The plane is a cabin ship big enough for ambulance work and has a Diesel engine equipped for use in extremely low temperature.

DOUBLE RELIEF NEED IN WINTER FORESEEN

Emergency Report Indicates Heavy Burden Despite Better Trade.

(Associated Press.)

An indication that the relief burden in cities next winter will be double that of last year was contained in a report made yesterday to the President's emergency committee for employment.

Allen T. Burns, executive director of the National Association of Community Chests and Councils, made the report on the basis of five weeks work on Nation-wide mobilization of welfare and relief resources. Of the country's 376 cities of 25,000 or more, 184 have reported, he said, leading to two general conclusions:

First, that regardless of improvement in business conditions the relief demands will be greater because of the exhaustion of resources by thousands of families.

Second, that "private philanthropy can not possibly raise all the funds needed to meet the aggregate demand" and that "the larger percentage of the direct relief burden must be met through municipal and county appropriations."

Burns said that in many cities the number of dependents already had doubled over last winter, but this did not necessarily indicate an increase in unemployment, but rather depletion of savings.

ACCEPTANCE OF U S. CRISIS PLAN IS SEEN

Form of Flag Waving.

Stimson believed, it is understood, that the United States should not take the leadership publicly because it might be regarded as a form of flag-waving, and that nothing should be said publicly of the President's plan. The exactness of this point was lost in the less diplomatic atmosphere of Washington.

It was disclosed that the United States began putting out feelers in Paris Saturday, after one of the daily telephone talks between Washington and Stimson on Friday. Stimson sounded out the Germans and the French. He and Secretary of Treasury Andrew W. Mellon then went to London Sunday night, and the proposal in its final form, after Stimson assured the President of a friendly reception, was telephoned to Stimson Monday.

Both Monday and yesterday Mr. Hoover had in conference with him an impressive bunch of helpers. Besides Acting Secretary of State William R. Castle, jr., and Acting Secretary of Treasury Ogden L. Mills, there were Ambassador to Great Britain Charles G. Dawes, coauthor of the Dawes reparations plan; Senator Dwight W. Morrow, former Ambassador to Mexico and former J. P. Morgan partner, and Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board.

They were in session all day yesterday, and did not break up finally until long after 6 p. m. The length of their session led to speculation as to the possibility of French counter proposals, such as those which almost sent the Hoover debt plan on the rocks.

Plan Was Not Acceptable.

The French did most of the talking last week, and made public a staggering plan of assistance to Germany, which would have made this Government a guarantor of a huge loan to Germany and a guarantor of the reparations plan until 1988, presumably with force of arms. It was immediately announced here that the plan was not acceptable.

Since then France has quieted down and the United States has taken the lead. It was explained here that the new Hoover plan does not give France a leading role in Germany's immediate salvation, except so far as being friendly with her goes.

Of the approximately $1,200,000,000 of short-term credits whose prolongation the President recommends, $800,000,000, or 50 per cent, are held by United States bankers, and but $60,000,000 or 5 per cent by French ones.

A State Department announcement of the plan said the essence of the problem was restoration of confidence in both German and other European economic life.

Incidentally, it cleared up the question whether and when the proposals were sent. It was headed: "American proposal as sent to Secretaries Stimson and Mellon at London." They arrived in London late Sunday, and talked on the telephone to Washington next morning.

Short-Term Credits.

The proposal deals in the first instance with the short-term credits and with measures by Germany to keep her own citizens from weakening the currency. It is suggested that bankers of the nations holding German short-term paper agree to prolong the credits while Germany simultaneously moves to protect her own currency by continuing her present decrees against withdrawal of foreign money by her own citizens.

Then, it is recommended, a committee should be appointed (1) to consult with bankers for renewal of present short-term credits; (2) to inquire into the immediate further needs of Germany; (3) in the course of the next six of eight months to plan conversion of some of these short-term credits into long-term credits.

College to Seek Flaws In Antilynching Laws

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 21 (A.P.).—A study of existing laws and procedures regarding lynching has been delegated to the University of North Carolina by the Southern Commission on the Study of Lynching with a view to drafting effective preventive measures.

The study the University of North Carolina will make, with its college of law serving as the investigating agency, is intended to reveal weaknesses in existing laws against lynching. George F. Milton, of Chattanooga, chairman of the commission, said "the study will enable the drafting of an effective antilynching law which can be adopted by various States."

Chicago Tag Day Spree Aids Alfonso and Idle

Chicago, July 21 (A.P.).—The Chicago City Council went on a tag day spree last night.

And before it had finished its members found that they had passed ordinances for tag days for the following:

Tom, Dick and Harry, unemployed.

Alfonso, former King of Spain.

RED CROSS WILL AID IDLE FOOD RAIDERS

Relief Provided for Oklahoma Jobless Who Marched on Grocecry Stores.

Henryetta, Okla., July 21 (A.P.).—Aid for Henryetta's jobless and hungry was arranged today by the Red Cross and municipal and State officials. Henry M. Baker, national Red Cross representative, who arrived from St. Louis, announced a trained Red Cross worker would come here to handle the situation in this coal mining district.

Only those unable to work and needy women and children would be given food, Mr. Baker said. Employment for all who want work will be provided, he said, but there will be no handouts as during the emergency several months ago.

At Oklahoma City Mayor Barclay Morgan and Ben Furr, chairman of the Okmulgee County Commissioners, placed relief plans before Gov. W. H. Murray. Public improvements, chiefly road work for which men would be paid $1 a day in groceries, is contemplated.

The local emergency fund, less than $1,000 Mayor Morgan said, will be supplemented by public subscription at the call of Gov. Murray. Gov. Murray said that some State money would be provided also.

Mr. Baker said the Red Cross would supplement the local fund, but the amount of Red Cross aid was not revealed. George Riley Hall, editor of the Free Lance, said that the "work or no aid" edict had caused many of the unemployed to disappear. He explained that most of the crowd of 500 who marched to grocery stores here late Saturday, and were given food, were not residents of the vicinity, but had been attracted by previous charity which was not on a work basis.

Mayor Morgan said conditions in the Henryetta district had been exaggerated, and that only about 500 men, rather than 8,000 or more, as previous estimates had it, needed work.

Massachusetts Wool Pool to Be Enlarged

Boston, Mass., July 22 (U.P.).—The Massachusetts wool pool, under which farmers get 45 to 55 cents a pound for their wool, regardless of the market, will be twice as large this year as in any previous year.

The general plan of the pool is that every farmer who keeps sheep sends his wool to the nearest of eight assembling points. From these points the wool is transported to the mill and made into blankets. Enough blankets are returned to each farmer to represent the amount of wool he turned in, figuring 11 pounds of wool to one blanket.

Clergymen Smokeaters.

Holden, Mass., July 21 (U.P.).—The Holden Volunteer Fire Department boasts two clergymen as call firemen. They are the Rev. P. Virgil Harris and the Rev. Elmer C. Adams, of the Congregational and Baptist Churches, respectively.

SOLDIERS IN SEVILLE PUT END TO RIOTING

Disorders in Spanish City Take 6 Lives; Many Hurt; Hundreds Arrested.

Seville, Spain, July 21 (A.P.).—Civilian life began to reappear in the streets of Seville today as troops and civil guards apparently gained control of a situation marked by syndicalist disorders in which six have been killed.

Mobile forces of guards patrolled nearby towns and suburbs, in which police fought with men described by the authorities as strikers and revolutionaries.

Dr. Vallina, syndicalist leader, and six alleged anarchists have been deported to Africa. The Mayor of Dos Hermanos, dismissed by the governor on charges of pacifist and syndicalist sympathies, was imprisoned.

Guards prevented a syndicalist attempt to burn the telephone building at Dos Hermanos, one of three towns in which crowds attempted to raid food stores, shops and factories. The other two villages were Utrera and Carmona.

Civilian volunteers replaced soldiers in the operation of Seville street cars and citizens began populating the cafes again with the reassuring presence of the military, who occupied the streets with machine guns and rifles earlier in the day.

More than 30 persons were wounded today in the hostilities, which have been termed "guerrilla warfare." More than 200 have been arrested.

Syndicalists were reported to have held up and looted a train of foodstuffs between Cala and Jerena and telephone lines to Seville were broken.

RAIL RATE HEARING RECESS IS STARTED

iting types of testimony and give the shippers time to show the proposed increase would not produce expected revenue.

J. F. Finnerty, of Washington, said the case seemed to him really to be in the nature of a proceeding before the suspension board to see whether proposed rates would be suspended rather than whether a 15 per cent increase should be granted. In such a situation, he said, he thought evidence should not be limited.

Chicago, July 21 (A.P.).—J. T. Scott, of Topeka, Kans., announced today that an organized effort would be made by agricultural interests in midwestern States to combat the 15 per cent freight rate asked by the railroads before the I. C. C.

Mr. Scott is chairman of the committee of agricultural interests, which met here to draw up plans for their protest. States represented were Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, North and South Dakota, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Colorado.

"The battle," Scott said, "is between the industrial East and agricultural West. The rate boost would raise the farmers cost of shipping, yet their price rates would remain the same, and the farmers are losing money as it is."

Representative Howard Favors Gov. Roosevelt

(Associated Press.)

Representative Howard, Nebraska Democrat, yesterday declared himself in favor of Gov. Roosevelt of New York for President.

Howard also proposed a five-year moratorium on home mortgages, principal payments with interest payments to continue. At the same time, he said, greater Federal assistance must be given in combating hordes of grasshoppers that are "marching right through our State, and getting into Iowa, crowding down from South Dakota."

OKLAHOMA WOMEN MAY FORCE BRIDGE

Governor Suggests Quilting Party Could Remove Free Span's Barricades.

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 21 (A.P.).—Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray has a new plan for untangling the Red River bridge problem—through placing the matter in the hands of women.

A quilting bee on the banks of the river with women from Oklahoma and Texas converging at the new free bridge between Denison and Durant, and "removing anything in the way that prevents their getting together" would be an excellent solution of the controversy, Gov. Murray said.

"You know the National Guard wouldn't shoot a woman, if she came along and took a few barricades out of the way—neither would a Texas Ranger," he smiled.

"I think that a group of women in Denison and Durant are going to open the free bridge," Gov. Murray gravely announced. He said he would leave it up to the women of Durant, as to how they should organize.

Texas Rangers have been guarding a barrier at the south end of the Durant-Denison free bridge, since last week when Oklahoma highway employes tore down the obstruction on Gov. Murray's orders to open the bridge to traffic.

The Rangers are acting on instructions of Gov. Ross S. Sterling of Texas, who said the free bridge must be kept closed under a Federal court injunction obtained by the owners of a nearby toll bridge.

Gov. Murray retaliated by closing the Oklahoma end of the toll structure and said he would use National Guardsmen if anybody attempted to interfere with his highway workers.

Man Sues for $50,000 For Loss of His Thumb

Alleged loss of a thumb while working in a roundhouse of the Southern Railway Co., yesterday was made the basis of a $50,000 damage suit against the railroad in the District Supreme Court by Roland M. Orrison, 1348 Euclid street northwest, a former employe.

Through Attorney Alvin L. Newmyer, Orrison claimed that while in the roundhouse near Alexandria, Va., October 6 last, the power operating a turn table was started without notice to him. He said his thumb was caught in the gears and had to be amputated.

Policeman Discharged For Absence From Duty

Policeman Chester A. Bailey, of the Seventh Precinct, was dismissed by the District Commissioners yesterday following his conviction by the Police Trial Board of charges of being absent from duty without leave and of willfully telling a falsehood about his whereabouts.

Bailey, who had been in the Police Department for six years, had a long record of reprimands for various offenses.

Glass Denies Inquiry Into Failure of Banks

Lynchburg, Va., July 21 (A.P.).—Senator Carter Glass (Democrat), said today that the Senate subcommittee on banking, of which he is chairman, is not planning an investigation of the Federal Reserve Board in connection with bank failures in the jurisdiction of the board.

Commenting on a report from Illinois that the committee was planning such an inquiry, Senator Glass said the statement was inaccurate.

Doctor, Diamond Witness, Is Held on Perjury Charge

Catskill, N. Y., July 21 (A.P.).—Dr. Joseph d'Urgio, of Jamaica, one of the principal witnesses for Jack (Legs) Diamond at his assault trial at Troy last week, left the Greene County courthouse late today, handcuffed to Sheriff Herman C. Snyder, of Troy. Deputy Attorney General Henry Epstein said the sheriff was taking the prisoner to Troy.

Dr. d'Urgio testified at Diamond's trial last week that he had seen the gangster in Albany on the night that Diamond was alleged to have attacked Grover Parks, Cairo truckman, near here.

Gillette Razor Accused Of Retaining Profits

Boston, July 21 (A.P.).—James Willing, an auditor, testified today in the master's hearing on the $21,000,000 Gillette Safety Razor Co. suit that at the end of 1928, more than $10,000,000 of accumulated unrealized profits had been written into the surplus of the company.

The suit, that of minority stockholders against certain former directors, is being heard before a master.

Traffic Director Warns Of 'No Titling, No Tags'

The small number of applications for certificates of automobile titles has prompted another warning from Traffic Director William H. Van Duzer that unless applications are filed in larger numbers that many will be unable to use their cars on January 1.

Since the new titling law was approved by the Commissioners only 2,000 applications have been filed. There are 135,000 automobiles in the District, and Mr. Van Duzer pointed out that certificates will have to be issued at the rate of 1,000 a day if every car is to be properly titled by January 1. No tags will be issued to automobile owners who do not obtain certificates of title.

ARSON COUNT HOLDS MONTGOMERY PAIR

Setting Fire to House of Uncle of One Young Man Is Charged to Two.

Charged with setting fire to a house owned by John Hill in Potomac, Md., William Pier and Walter R. Benson, both of Potomac, yesterday were held for the grand jury when arraigned in Rockville Police Court.

Police say that Benson, who is about 22 years old, set fire to the house because he was angry with his uncle, John Benson, who was living in it. His bond was set at $100, while Pier was held for $750. The fire, which occurred several months ago, destroyed the house with a loss of about $1,000.

The case of Walter V. Holmes, of Chevy Chase, charged with permitting pigeons to run at large, also came up at Rockville yesterday. Mr. Holmes pleaded guilty and was fined $5. The warrant against him was sworn out by Mrs. Sadie E. Jenkins, of 4507 Walsh street, Chevy Chase.

A suspended sentence of six months in the Maryland House of Correction was placed against Arthur Sirk, of Barnesville, on a charge that he threatened Milton Burdett with a rifle. Sirk will retain his liberty during good behavior. His wife, Mary Sirk, also received a suspended sentence on a charge of disorderly conduct.

A charge of reckless driving against Robert Tyler, of Silver Spring, was dismissed yesterday and another warrant charging him with manslaughter in connection with the death of Floyd F. Graves was obtained by State's Attorney Stedman Prescott.

Graves, who was 14 years old, and also lived in Silver Spring, was killed when the automobile in which he was riding ran off the road on July 11. Tyler was driver of the machine. Mr. Prescott arranged for the change of charges after talking to Earle Day, of Silver Spring, another passenger in the car, Sheriff Richard Landsdale and Policeman George Windham.

Charging that by reason of the conduct and treatment of Mrs. Anna Cummings he was forced to leave home, Charles B. Cummings yesterday filed suit for absolute divorce. The bill states that the couple were married in 1922 and have one child, Elsie May Cummings. He does not ask for the custody of the little girl. Mr. Cummings is represented by Kenneth Lyddane.

A well to augment the water supply of Rockville will be drilled on the Smithwick Farm, and a 100,000-gallon water storage tank will be built at Carr avenue and Luckett street, it was decided at a joint meeting of the town council and the advisory committee named to work on water and sewage expenditures for the town.

The joint meeting also decided to extend the main sewer 60 feet along Commerce lane from Perry street. The work will be done with funds realized from the sale of $50,000 worth of water and sewage bonds authorized by the recent legislature. The act authorizing the bonds also named the advisory committee. The construction will be begun and the sites purchased as soon as funds are available.

The new tank will nearly double the present storage facilities, and the additional well is expected to give an ample reserve for the growth of the community.

A general committee formed by Diamond, Dr. William D. Barnett and Lewis Reed has been named to work with the Gaithersburg Chamber of Commerce in making arrangements for the third annual outing of the chamber and the Gaithersburg-Washington Grove fire department. The outing will be held at Chapel Point on July 29.

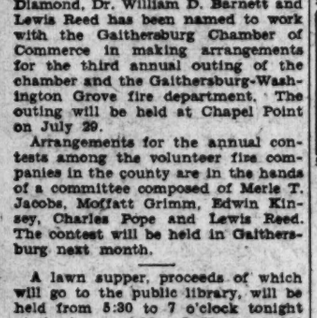
Arrangements for the annual contests among the volunteer fire companies in the county are in the hands of a committee composed of Merle T. Jacobs, Moffatt Grimm, Edwin Kinsey, Charles Pope and Lewis Reed. The contest will be held in Gaithersburg next month.

A lawn supper, proceeds of which will go to the public library, will be held from 5:30 to 7 o'clock tonight at the home of Mrs. J. H. Cissel, 909 Sligo avenue, Silver Spring. The ladies auxiliary of Cissel-Saxon Post, American Legion, is sponsoring the supper.

Cook Drowns During Scuffle.

Neal Foster, 38-year-old cook aboard the river tug Dorothy, anchored at the foot of Thirty-fourth street northwest, was drowned yesterday when he fell overboard while playfully wrestling with Andrew Robins, another member of the crew. Mr. Foster, whose home is in Norfolk, Va., was unable to swim, it was said.

Weak—Run-Down—Tired



"It helped me wonderfully"

"LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S Vegetable Compound has helped me wonderfully. I was weak and rundown and tired. Often I would have to go to bed.

"I read about the Vegetable Compound in the South East Missourian. I have taken six bottles with good results.

"Now I am able to work every day. I will recommend your medicine to my friends.

"You can use this as a testimonial if you value it."—Miss Zelma Bollinger, R. R. No. 1, Box 19, Sedgewickville, Missouri.

estate of my son, John B. Henderson, Jr., is ample for her support."

Difficulties between Mrs. Henderson and her adopted granddaughter began when Mrs. Wholean sought to restrain the nonogenarian social leader from giving a palatial home to the United States Government for a Vice President's mansion some months ago.

Mrs. Henderson countered, disclosing Mrs. Wholean was not her blood granddaughter, then petitioning the District Supreme Court for annulment of her adoption. Although formal ruling on the petition has not been made, the adoption was virtually voided in a memorandum opinion by Justice James M. Proctor, upholding certain contentions in the petition.

Japanese Gets $200,000.

The will, filed 24 hours after the body of Mrs. Henderson was laid to rest in Rock Creek Cemetery, names George E. Edelin executor. It directs him to sell all of her real estate, "either for cash or for notes secured upon such real estate, as in his discretion may be most advantageous for my estate, and to distribute the said proceeds in the manner and form hereinafter set forth."

Cash bequests of $5,000 each are made to Dr. Paul Bartch, a curator of the Smithsonian Institution, and Representative Ernest W. Gibson, of Vermont, who introduced the bill to provide for acceptance of her gift of a Vice President's home, and C. K. Kasegawa, "a member of my household," was bequeathed $10,000, and William Carter, her chauffeur, $3,000. To her maid, Josephine Farrar, Mrs. Henderson willed $500.

Shima, the Japanese servant, who was left $100,000 cash and $100,000 in trust, "has been my chief aid and help during my declining years," wrote Mrs. Henderson. She further paid tribute to "his unswerving devotion, generous aid, assistance and help to me in my family affairs and in the management of my estate."

Valuable paintings that adorn Boundary Castle and other of Mrs. Henderson's properties are left to the Smithsonian Institution, to be set aside in the National Gallery of Art and designated as the "John Brooks Henderson Collection."

Statuary to Smithsonian.

She left to the Smithsonian Institution five pieces of statuary by Ives, well-known American artist. They include his Egeria, Undine, Ruth and Sad Woman, which now adorn the ballroom of her home, and Young Boy, at present in her small dining room.

A bust of Pauline Wright Davis, by Paul Akers; a bust of her late husband, by a Roman artist; a statue, "Fisher Boy," by a Roman artist, and two bronze medallions, modeled by herself, one of her husband, and the other of Sydney Burleson, left to the Smithsonian for use in the National Gallery of Art.

To her nephew, Henry E. Arnold, and niece, Frances Arnold, both of New York, she bequeathed, share and share alike, "all the rest and residue of my estate, including clothing and wearing apparel, jewelry and articles of personal use and adornment, books, bric-a-brac, silver and household furniture, articles and effects of every kind and description, and any automobiles and accessories thereunto pertaining.

The will was sealed April 8 of this year, in the presence of two witnesses, Theodore D. Peyser and Freda Sacks.

A curious provision was made in one of the earlier testaments negotiated by Mrs. Henderson in July, 1927. She asked that her body be cremated, after she was first cut through the neck to be sure of death.

WOODLAND AFFORDS ESCAPE FROM HEAT

Thermometer Is No Concern to Families Which Buy at Post Retreat.

While most of the residents of Washington are bemoaning the heat and arguing with their neighbors over what the thermometer readings were for the day, then is your opportunity to outsmart the weather man by building a summer home in some cool, alluring retreat, far from the dust and din of the city.

No better place for such a summer cottage will be found than at Woodland Beach, The Washington Post's summer home development on the South River, in Maryland.

Probably you are already aware of the advantages offered by Woodland. Possibly you have in mind erecting a cottage there and have just delayed doing so because of the pressure of other business.

If that is the case, now is the time to get busy, buy a piece of property at Woodland Beach and get your home erected. Prices of lots at Woodland Beach are so reasonable that you can not go wrong on a purchase there, and prices of other items in the building line are so low that no better time for erection of a cottage is likely to appear for years.

Remember that each lot at Woodland Beach is listed at $93, no more and no less. Of that amount only $9 in cash plus the cost of a subscription to The Washington Post are necessary before you select your lot and start building. The remainder of the total cost may be paid in monthly installments of $3.50.

Woodland Beach is easily accessible if you have to remain in Washington during the day and want to use the resort only at night. It requires only a little more than an hour to reach the beach at a resonable rate of speed via Defense highway to Camp Parole, turning right there on Maryland State highway No. 2 across South River and then left to Mayo road which leads directly to the beach's community clubhouse.

Woodland Beach offers everything that is necessary for recreation and rest during the summer months. It has fishing, bathing and boating; shallow inlets in which the children may play in safety; wooded areas in which to seek shelter from the sun and a rapidly growing group of excellent summer cottages. Now is the time to participate in this unusual offer.

Baby Killed by Fall.

Shaw, on Visit to Moscow, Finds He Antedated Lenin

Reminds World That He Was, After All, a Communist Before Reds' Saint Was Born; Lady Astor Shocks Her Soviet Hosts.

Moscow, July 21 (A.P.).—George Bernard Shaw, one of the world's foremost exponents of socialism, arrived here today to survey a non-capitalistic country for the first time and remarked, dryly:

"After all, I was a Communist before Lenin was born."

The Irish author and critic spent an active day after his arrival, surveying what he could of the Soviet capital. Less than half an hour after reaching his hotel he set out on a sightseeing tour which took him to Lenin's tomb and the Kremlin, where he was photographed perched atop a czarist cannonball.

After luncheon, snatching scarcely more than an hour's rest, he went to the Park of Rest and Cure, a recreation center for workers on the Moscow River, and tonight he attended a special performance of the "Beggar's Opera," given in his honor.

Just as indefatigable as the noted satirist was Lady Astor, who, with her husband and one of her sons, was among the six making up Shaw's party.

The noted woman parliamentarian several times visibly shocked members of the Communist party who accompanied them on the sightseeing tours by reiterating frequently:

"I am a capitalist!" and criticizing the Soviet system for what she described as "its materialism and lack of religion."

Told that the ancient little red church which stands next to the large cathedral where czars worshiped would be destroyed," Shaw said:

"Well, then, I think they'd better have a five-year esthetic plan."

"But," he added, "if a revolution like this had happened in America, England or France, they would have looted everything. Such churches and art treasures as these here in the Kremlin would not have been left untouched as they have been here."

"If you stand here soliloquizing," Lady Astor interrupted, "we won't cover the ground," and she led him away by the arm.

115 New Buildings Completed by U. S.

Construction Program to Cover Next Six Years Well Started.

(Associated Press.)

The Treasury has completed 115 buildings of the expanded public buildings program at a cost of $37,737,362.

In addition there are under contract 186 projects which when completed will cost $104,795,366. Sites have been purchased in the District of Columbia at a cost of $23,866,963 and 66 projects outside the District have advanced to or beyond the specification stage. When completed these will cost $68,041,800.

The entire program, pushed during the last yaer to aid the employment situation, will cost the Government approximately $700,000,000 when finished six years hence.

Woman Communist Ordered Deported

Polish Textile Organizer, Held in Boston, to Be Sent Home.

Boston, July 21 (A.P.).—Deportation to Poland of Miss Edith Berkman, young organizer for the National Textile Workers Union, a Communist body, today was ordered by the Department of Labor, Mrs. Anna C. M. Tillinghast, immigration commissioner, announced.

Miss Berkman was arrested during a recent textile strike in Lawrence and more recently had been active in labor affairs in Maynard.

After her arrest Miss Berkman said she was born in Los Angeles, but the authorities said she was admitted to the country from Poland in 1921.

EASTERN STANDARD TIME

BECAUSE of tremendous popular demand for further air-conditioned service since we announced the first air-conditioned train in railroad history—the Columbian—in May, we are now offering a morning train service, also air-conditioned. Parlor cars, Club lounge, Dining car, and Individual Seat coaches—cool, clean, and quiet! For dust, smoke, cinders, and excessive humidity are removed from the air; the air itself is completely changed every two minutes; closed windows, and rubber pads on the car trucks, muffle outside noise. Clean and cool and quiet! Yet no extra fare.

Now you may leave either in the morning or afternoon of the hottest mid-summer day and arrive fresher and more comfortable than before you boarded the train!

ANOTHER HOOVER PLAN.

President Hoover has again taken leadership in the movement to stabilize Germany at a critical period. Delegates of the principal European nations and the United States are assembled at London in an atmosphere that is tense with the political animosities between France and Germany. President Hoover asks the conference to brush politics aside and to make a simple business arrangement that will allow Germany to get on its feet again.

Coming upon the heels of Chancellor Bruening's request that relief measures at this time be restricted to a continuation of short-term credits, President Hoover's program points definitely to a practical method of stabilization. There is no need for elaborate arrangements in which governments would undertake to guarantee loans to Germany. The Hoover moratorium relieves Germany of financial pressure for one year. What is essential now is an assurance of temporary credit that will allow Germany to set its financial structure in order. Apparently the German delegation at London believes with President Hoover that a continuation of the $1,200,000,000 short-term credits will be sufficient for that purpose.

President Hoover also asks for an investigation of the future credit needs of Germany by an international body. Short-term credits could then be converted into long-term credits as the need arose. There will be no cause for alarm over the European situation if these business arrangements are agreed upon.

The nature of Mr. Hoover's program as well as the turn events have taken in London suggest that the fundamental issue at stake is one of confidence rather than the amount of credit. In the last few weeks capital taken out of Germany by foreign short-term creditors and excited Germans themselves amounts to more than $500,000,000. When confidence is restored the export of capital can be expected to stop and that which has been withdrawn may flow back again. The immediate need is for economic stabilization under which normal activities can be resumed.

Hope of an agreement between Germany and France now seems out of the question. Premier Laval and Chancellor Bruening have exchanged ample evidence of good will, but behind each of them stands a nation of unyielding will. Germany will not pay the price France demands in the form of political guarantees and concessions for a long-term loan. France will not budge from its position until Germany agrees to cast away the dream of an economic union with Austria, to stop agitation for revision of the Treaty of Versailles, and to suspend construction of naval armaments. Further attempts to bring the two countries together at this time can only interfere with the restoration of confidence in Germany. The feud between Germany and France is centuries old. It is not to be supposed that it can be settled or substantially altered in the negotiations at London. If this crisis is to be met squarely and promptly, it is necessary to brush that controversy aside.

This is no time for a rehearsal of all Europe's political feuds. If the London conference entangles itself in controversies that are deeply rooted in history, Germany may collapse while the delegates wrangle. In view of these circumstances President Hoover's proposal should be as welcome to the delegates as was the moratorium proposal. Germany is in need of immediate financial stability. That stability can be provided by a simple banking arrangement. Let the politicians agree to turn the problem over to the bankers and then go home.

The way to heal a wound is not to keep it raw but to dress it properly and leave it alone. Germany's wound will heal itself, with the aid of the Hoover moratorium, if political friction is removed and confidence is restored. President Hoover says that there is no reason to doubt the soundness of the basis upon which Germany's credit is based. Germany's crisis has been magnified by the fear of the people. Obviously the most effective way to reassure the people is to bring the London conference to a close with the understanding that Germany's short-term credit will be renewed and that future problems will be met on a business basis.

DESTROYING SURPLUSES.

The peach growers of California are giving the overproducers of the world a lesson in self-reliance and practical economics that should not be lost. Faced with the common problem of overproduction, they are not only withholding a part of this year's crop from the market, but are taking Spartan measures to reduce acreage.

Producers of wheat, oil and cotton, to take prominent examples, have been brought to the brink of ruin before they would believe the plain fact that the markets of the United States and the world simply can not absorb as much as is being produced. The urgent advice of the last two years to limit output has been ignored. Every farmer and every oil man hoped the other fellow would do it. Now, with market prices demoralized, they are forced to inaugurate, not reductions, but State-wide suspensions of production.

When the Canners League of California found that the potential peach pack this year would reach 17,000,000 cases, an increase of 4,000,000 over last year, an agreement was reached to limit the pack to 9,000,000 cases. To do this, out of the 462,000-ton cling peach crop, 144,000 tons of surplus will be purchased by the Canners League at $12 per ton and destroyed. Furthermore, in order to keep peach production within consumption demands, peach growers have decreed a reduction of 20 per cent in acreage. Peach trees on 12,000 acres will be uprooted, for which owners will be reimbursed at the rate of $2.50 per tree. The canners have contributed a fund of $1,500,000, which will be used by the league in carrying out these measures for control of production.

The producers of the United States, both agricultural and manufacturing, will have to realize the patent truth that modern power, machines and mass production make it possible to turn out more things to eat and wear and use than the United States and the world can consume. The expansion of agricultural and manufactured output is not limited to this country. Until greater markets are developed among the millions of backward nations the brake will simply have to be held on production in order to maintain fair prices.

It is impossible to escape the feeling that the California peach growers, who propose to destroy thousands of tons of good fruit, are committing an economic crime. Can such waste be justified? Their arguments and the plight of agriculturists who have allowed other products to accumulate in great excess of market requirements until prices are depressed below the actual production costs are difficult to refute. If prices, through overproduction cease to be remunerative, a restricted local community is able to buy very cheaply, but there can be no general distribution of fruit or grain that can not afford to pay freight rates. Waste results whether overproduction is destroyed or allowed to rot unharvested. Destruction of surpluses and restriction of subsequent crops to legitimate demands at fair prices seem to be the only way in which growers can save themselves from economic chaos.

HOBBIES FOR SCHOOLS.

American schools for some years have been perfecting and successfully employing devices for measuring the natural aptitudes and capacities of students. Through intelligence tests, puzzles and timed experiments, children have been classified into groups permitting more intelligent handling than under the old system. Though the United States has done valuable work along this line, it is of interest to examine English methods of education and vocational training.

Oundle is a school which has evolved a valuable system, quite unlike the American method. It was the idea of Sanderson in 1892, when he joined the school, that facilities should be available to students for developing worthwhile hobbies. These extra-curricular activities would in many cases supplement the boys' regular studies, though that was in no way essential. Workshops were installed so that the best tools, machines and training were available to the students who wanted to take up that type of activity for pleasure. Experimental laboratories were also opened for chemical, physical and biological study outside of class hours. A studio for fine arts was established and many shops and laboratories have been added through the years.

No boy is urged to take up any one of these avocations, but he may try whichever he likes and change when he wishes. He may even have a hobby outside the school list which will receive the same encouragement by school authorities. In many instances this system helps students to find the vocation for which they are best adapted. In other cases it provides the individual with an avocation which is of enduring pleasure throughout his life. That these side studies interfere with school work is denied by schoolmen. They point out that Oundle and Bedford, another school employing the same method, stand near the top of the list of English schools on college examination records.

As compared with American youths of similar age, English pupils generally acquire a more thorough schooling. When the English boy is about 15 a preliminary college examination is given him to reveal his general aptitudes. After this the boy swings toward the courses suited to his talents and receives a thorough training along that line rather than a smattering of many subjects.

COOPERATING UNIONS.

Several labor unions among coal miners, unworthy as some of them are, have worked at cross purposes and have greatly handicapped agreements between operators and workers. This inability to present a united front has weakened the labor cause, and has discredited the standing of the unions in the estimation of many. Communist unions oppose all agreements for the purpose of promoting unrest.

Nevertheless, strides made in collective bargaining have been a credit to miners' unions in some sections of the country where workers and employers have developed a system for mutual protection. In a recent study by the Russell Sage Foundation, a review is made of arbitration methods adopted for the coal industry in Illinois. It has been possible in that State to evolve an industrial code for governing the mining industry through the cooperation of union leaders and employers.

This miners' code regulates the hiring of labor as well as the discharging of employes, the management of the mines and the settling of wage disputes. Both miner and operator are protected against infringement of rights by being able to appeal any point in question to a board of arbitration. The board is composed of representatives from both sides. In case of inability to settle any dispute by local appeal it may be taken to one of several higher commissions, with the ultimate authority resting in the State council.

By working together the two important branches of production have been able to develop a comprehension of each other's problems. Evidence of the benefit derived is seen in action taken by the Illinois miners who organized a sales department to assist in disposing of surplus coal.

It is the opinion of the research students from the Russell Sage Foundation that collective bargaining has not only increased wages and shortened hours, but that spiritual values have been gained as well. The organized worker, it is found, feels a dignity and sense of equality in his working relationship which was formerly unknown to the laborer.

When Senator Hawes gets through stirring up the Filipinos perhaps some factions in South America will make a bid for his services.

BOOKS AND LITERATURE

From the Boston Transcript.

A mistake made by many readers is to imagine that books are always to be considered as literature, a word in which they seem to find something in the nature of magic, even though the word literature is frequently degraded into signifying nothing better than an advertising pamphlet or circular. All writers do not necessarily create a work that is permanent. Often they are merely chroniclers or recorders of the temporary aspects of life or of the results of human industry and research. A book on reparations, a manual of the games of whist or chess, an exposition of economics or sociology, a volume of actor's reminiscences, an account of travel in foreign lands—while none of these is literature, they are sometimes as valuable for the moment as a great poem or a great novel is valuable for futurity. And it is possible that there may be some books among them that will outlive their own time. You will read from the hand of Addison in the Spectator—a periodical paper for the passing day that became in time a great work of literature—that "books are the legacies that a great genius leaves to mankind, which are delivered down from generation to generation, as presents to the posterity of those who are yet unborn," but this of course applies to but few of the many books yet written or to be written. Other books not necessarily "legacies" were no less important in their own day. The Spectator itself was simply one of many books; now it has become a book that has lived and that promises to live forever. It then presented the life of its time to its own time; now it presents that far-away life to our time and enables us to look into the past as if we were seeing its people and their thoughts in a mirror from which the images can not be effaced.

When we are reading new books, it is wiser to look upon them as transitory, and not to make rash prophecies that they will last forever, or even for a brief number of years. In other words, it is best to consider them simply as books and not as literature. Time will take care of them, placing them either in an unmarked grave or inscribing upon them the sign of immortality. Future generations alone will be aware of their permanent worth. A hundred years from now many of them will be nothing but waste paper. Who remembers more than an inconsiderable number of the books of the nineteenth century? A short history of the whole of English literature, written today, from Chaucer onward, will be sufficient to enumerate and appraise them all. There are Coleridge with "The Ancient Mariner," Dr. Johnson with "Rasselas," Goldsmith with "The Vicar of Wakefield," Jane Austen with "Pride and Prejudice," Macaulay with the history of England, Carlyle with "Sartor Resartus," George Eliot with "Silas Marner," and all the rest that readily come to mind. A literary history of the twentieth century, written a hundred years hence, will be a much shorter volume, perhaps containing scarcely more than a few pages. Where then will be the Shaws and the Galsworthys, the Wellses and the Barries, the Edith Whartons and the Booth Tarkingtons, the Theodore Dreisers and the Sinclair Lewises? Will they be with the Dickenses and the Thackerays, or with the unknown and the unremembered? None of us know, none of us can know, although many of us would like to know. They may be as obscure as the literary celebrities whose names resounded in the ears of the public a hundred or two hundred years ago. They may be the autnors of the literature that endures, or merely the writers of books that have passed in the night.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE LITTLE OFFICE PLANT.

High above the noisy street
Upon an office window sill,
Far from the tramp of human feet,
Almost as if against its will,
A potted plant of summer green
By hotel tenants can be seen.

All else about is drab and drear,
Too high the spot for singing birds,
That lonely little plant can hear
Only machines and human words.
It scarce can see the summer sky
And has no neighbor dwelling by.

Within the room a business man
Sits sternly at his desk all day,
Cons figures and appears to plan
Grave matters in a somber way,
As if his every thought were bent
On trade and office management.

He simulates a love of power
In rooms where men of force abide,
And yet that lonely little flower
Strangely betrays his tender side.
As if that man of iron will
Had left his soul upon the sill.

The One Who Treats Privates as Inferior Clay Is the Lieutenant, Not the General.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

EUROPEANS find never-ending enjoyment in ridiculing American men because of their submission to women.

That the American woman is placed on a pedestal is a fact so obvious that nobody attempts to deny it. But the explanations attempted by critics and apologists usually are so labored and unreasonable that they make a mystery of a very simple matter.

The usual explanation, on this side of the Atlantic, is that women were highly valued in pioneer days for the same reason that diamonds are expensive today—because of their scarcity, and that the practice of worshiping women was taught to each succeeding generation, along with standards of fair play and decency, until it became a fixed detail of American character.

The latest explanation from across the Atlantic is that America's climate weakens the masculinity of males and thus causes them to give trembling obedience to their feminine rulers. The weakness of this theory is the difficulty of explaining why the climate doesn't affect the ladies, also.

The true explanation does the American male much more credit. There are henpecked Americans, of course, as there are henpecked males in all lands, but the normal American male old enough to shave defers to women for the same reason that he doesn't strike a cripple or hit a man who is down or steal candy from a baby.

He is trying to be a gentleman. And his conception of a true gentleman includes a chivalrous regard for the weak.

There was a huge prize fighter of some renown whose diminutive wife occasionally lost her temper and beat him up. Asked by a sympathetic friend why he submitted to such indignities, he answered gravely: "Why, it doesn't hurt me any and it seems to do her a lot of good."

That is the attitude of the typical American male.

If he was aware of weakness or suspected that his present role was forced upon him, he would at once rebel and use his superior strength to prove himself the boss.

But it is the consciousness of strength that makes him willing to appear weak. Being good to his women folk gives him the same comforting assurance of virtue that others experience when they endure with long-suffering patience the unreasonable impositions of children and the childish old.

There is a general belief in America that the decency of a civilization may be judged by its treatment of women. It is that belief and the desire to be decent that makes the typical American a slave to his women.

His service to them feeds his pride, though a similar servitude would shame the European.

It all depends on the state of mind. Being defeated by a child isn't humiliating if you accept defeat to amuse the child.

PRO AND CON

Hopeful of Muscle Shoals.

Houston Post-Dispatch.

Since Secretary of War Hurley has gone down into Alabama to inspect the Government's property at Muscle Shoals, it is to be presumed the Government is still living in hope that something some time will be done with the great plant there. Perhaps when the new session of Congress meets another effort will be made to get the plant into use, with the odds favoring adoption of the plan of Government operation.

The Secretary's visit to Muscle Shoals is another reminder of the tremendous waste that has occurred as a result of the failure to get the property into operation. There millions of dollars have been tied up since the war in a project that might have been put to profitable use during these years, and which might now, under proper management, be serving to aid the country in pulling out of the depression.

Had the war continued for a while longer the Muscle Shoals plant doubtless would have been put to use and very likely, after the war, it would have been disposed of in some way, as was much other Government property. But the project got into politics and there it has remained, producing nothing, serving no purpose, and deteriorating.

Defending the Tariff.

Minneapolis Journal.

Writing in Current History for July, William Hard, a liberal and a progressive if ever there was one, warns the Democrats that, considered as campaign ammunition, the tariff issue is a dud.

That the tariff should be held responsible in any way for the present business depression, he considers ridiculous. In the first place, the decline in industrial production commenced in May, 1929, more than a year before the Hawley-Smoot Act was passed. In the second place, the stock market debacle, which accelerated a depression already under way, occurred in the fall of 1929, many months before the Hawley-Smoot Act was passed. In the third place, the country's present complaint is not high prices, but low prices, and the only effect of a downward tariff revision at this time would be to send them still lower; depression would be intensified, not relieved. As Mr. Hard puts it:

"The Democrats, before the new tariff law was passed, maintained that it would raise prices by a total of a billion dollars a year. All that the Republicans need to say is:

"'We believed you and we believe you. Prices are now a billion dollars higher than they would have been without our law. We dare you! Remove our law and let prices drop a billion dollars more.'"

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Washington Is Hailed as City of Health and Security, and Is Urged to Prepare for Inevitable Growth.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your editorial on Washington homes published July 12 suggests that this city should be awake to its day of opportunity. Last year we had phenomenal drought in our entire country. Many of our great cities and smaller ones were alarmed over water shortage or impure water. Washington was serene in consciousness of plenty of water of purest sort. Water famines can not touch our city. But more to the point in our advantages, despite the cry of "depression," Washington's unemployed have come largely from other cities, flowing into ours because word has gone out that Washington is little affected by the depression.

We have intimations of 1932 as a year of epochal inflow of people into our city from our own and other countries. We are putting our house in order for that reception. The evolution of Washington City is going on before our eyes, promising to be the most beautiful capital in the world.

Here's the chance for our better type of real estate men, our publicity men and our high-class newspapers. There is no need for artificial or bombastic advertising. Facts speak for themselves. Is there a city on earth where one can live in more security and comfort than in Washington? Let us talk less of our misfortunes and more about our blessings.

A Consumer Asks That Hearing on Railroad Rates Be Accelerated to Aid Return of Prosperity.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Representative Beck, of Pennsylvania, in his straightforward statement on the railroad rate question now before the Interstate Commerce Commission, has sounded a timely warning with which the vast majority of the American people will heartily agree. As he aptly states, the facts are already well known, and this being true, there is no good reason why a speedy decision should not be reached by the commission. A long-drawn-out hearing would not affect the final decision and at most would only serve to lessen the criticism which will be coming in due course in any event.

I own no railroad securities and do not expect to make any purchases. On the other hand, I am mindful, as a consumer, that an increase in rates will mean higher prices for the commodities which I purchase. But I shall be very glad to contribute my share in order that the great industry which the railroads represent may be put on a sound financial basis once more, realizing if this is done the whole economic fabric on which the welfare of our country depends will be materially strengthened and the return of prosperity assured.

It is, therefore, to be hoped that the commission will speed up its hearing and render its decision as quickly as its established rules of procedure will permit.

A CONSUMER.

Suggests That Railroads Could Put Rates Into Effect if Interstate Commerce Commission Refused to Act.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: While it might be a very unwise policy and the railroads might subject themselves to heavy fines for so doing, can there be any legal reason why they may not ignore the Interstate Commerce Commission and put into effect increased rates should the commission refuse to grant them or delay action thereon indefinitely? Such action on their part would call for no proceedings in the court by them. Such action would be a fait accompli, and it would then be up to the commission to initiate action in the courts by way of applications for injunctions to restrain the roads from exacting such increased rates without its consent and authority.

This would certainly be one way of getting prompt and effective relief and would put upon the Government the onus and initiation of action in the courts, where the whole question could be threshed out, and some definite ruling obtained as to the respective rights of the roads and the Government.

American Students in Mexico Report That They Are Courteously Treated.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In today's edition of The Grafico, a newspaper of Mexico City, appeared an article stating that in a recent edition of The Washington Post there was published a statement that there have been some discourtesies here to students from the United States as reprisals for the recent murder of two Mexican students in Oklahoma and the recent court incident in Chicago.

I have been in Mexico but a short time, but I have been especially impressed with the great courtesy and desire on the part of the Mexican people to treat me in the best manner possible and to make my visit here a happy one.

Not only would the publication of such an article be a grave injustice to the Mexican people, but it would also be a misfortune to both countries involved.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Gilpins Return From Sojourn Across Ocean

Visited France, England and Italy, Where They Had Villa.

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH GILPIN and their children, accompanied by the former's mother, have arrived in this country after a sojourn of several months in Europe. They went first to Italy where they had a villa for the early spring, and more recently have been in France and England.

Mrs. Gilpin, sr., who has a magnificent estate near Boyce, Va., has recently built a smaller home in Winchester, Va., where she will go from New York. The home at Boyce is a Georgian mansion surrounded by spreading lawns and fine formal gardens. An extensive estate, it is one of the show places of the East. During the absence of Mrs. Gilpin the gardens have been closed to the public but will be opened for those who are visiting through the late summer in that part of historic Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gilpin are among the popular members of the nearby Washington set and come to the Capital frequently during the season and are included in the smart entertainments. Mrs. Gilpin was formerly Miss Isabel Tyson, daughter of Mrs. Lawrence D. Tyson and the late Senator Tyson, and she spent much of her girlhood here.

With Mr. Gilpin she occupies a charming home built on the edge of the pretentious estate. The house is an old farmhouse, which has been remodeled and greatly enlarged. With its coat of white paint, deep green shutters and the wide verandas covered with the brilliant scarlet-coated blossoms of the Virginia trumpet vine the entrance forms one of the attractive ones of the region and will prove a delightful retreat after the long weeks of travel abroad.

Justice and Mrs. Butler At Blue Ridge Summit.

Justice and Mrs. Pierce Butler are at Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., where they went shortly after the marriage of their son, Mr. Kevin Butler, which took place in New York early in July.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Mark Bristol left yesterday for Skanateles, N. Y., where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roosevelt, at Roosevelt Hall.

Rear Admiral Livingston Hunt and Mrs. Hunt, who returned from Europe last week, are at their Catherine street residence in Newport, where they will be for the season.

Maj. John H. Hinemon, jr., United States Army, who was until recently stationed at Fort Monmouth, N. J., with Mrs. Hinemon, has come to Washington to take up his new post.

Miss Jahncke Returns With Her Parents.

The Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Ernest Lee Jahncke returned to town yesterday from Montauk, Long Island, where they went by airplane Saturday, the Secretary also making a trip to Quincy, Mass., for the launching of the new Matson liner Mariposa. They were accompanied home by their daughter, Miss Adele Jahncke, who has been visiting in New York and on Long Island since her return from Europe with her mother several weeks ago.

Mr. Francis H. McAdoo, of New York, son of the former Secretary of the Treasury, William Gibbs McAdoo, is at the Carlton for a brief stay.

Mrs. Margarita Spalding Gerry will sail August 1 on the S. S. Westernland for Europe. She will be with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Gerry, in Paris for a time and will also visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Waldemar J. Gallman, in Riga, Latvia, where Mr. Gallman is attached to the United States Legation.

Col. and Mrs. John W. Davidge, Miss Martha Davidge and John W. Davidge, jr., who have been in Europe for some time, accompanied by Mrs. Ambrose Cramer, of Lake Forest, Ill., are now staying with Lady Coghill, of Castletownshend, Ireland, at the Balmer Lawn Hotel, Brockenhurst, in the New Forest.

Mrs. Harrison Eustis, who was a Washington visitor last winter, has returned to her home in Fortunate Fields, Mont Pelerin, Switzerland, after a visit of three months in this country.

Mrs. Victor N. Cushman again is chairman of the putting teas given annually by the Kebo Valley Golf Club at Bar Harbor, Me. The first of these teas, which have been so popular with the summer colony there, was held Monday. Mrs. Marshall Langhorne, of Washington, and Mrs. William McNair, of New York, presided at the tea table. Among the Washingtonians who have given their names as patronesses for the teas are Mrs. Anne Archbold, Mrs. Armstead Davis, Mrs. Langhorne, Mrs. F. Hamilton McCormick-Goodhart and Miss Belle Gurnee.

The Ambassador of Spain and Senora Madariaga left last night for New York and will sail for Spain today.

The ambassador was elected a member of the Cortes to write the new Spanish constitution. He will return to Washington when the assembly adjourns in the fall.

The Rev. Dr. Arthur B. Kinsolving, of Baltimore, and Mrs. Kinsolving, with the Rev. Dr. Arthur Lee Kinsolving, of Boston, Mrs. Beverly Ober and the Misses Kinsolving, left Paris last Wednesday for La Baule.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Quinter entertained last evening at the Shoreham in celebration of their first wedding anniversary.

Col. and Mrs. Eastman Entertain at Shoreham.

Col. and Mrs. Clyde L. Eastman entertained a company at the dinner dance on the Shoreham Terrace last evening, their guests including a number of prominent figures in Army circles.

Those present were Col. and Mrs. Louis Chappelear, Col. and Mrs. Aristides Moreno, Col. and Mrs. A. C. Boris, Col. J. H. Van Horn, Maj. and Mrs. Haig Sheberjian and Capt. and Mrs. Frank E. Stoner.

Mrs. Francis S. Whitten, who is passing some time at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., gave a luncheon on Sunday at her cottage for a number of friends. Mr. Whitten, who spent the week-end at the Spa, has returned to Washington.

Mrs. Elihu Root, jr., will arrive today at Seven Pounds Inn at Southampton, Long Island.

Dr. Andrei Popovici, Secretary of the Roumanian Legation, and Mme. Popovici are at the Ritz-Carlton, in New York.

Mrs. McElroy Moss To Close Olney Home.

Mrs. McElroy Moss, with her two children, Nancy and McKenzie 2d, will leave their home near Olney, Md., the first of next week and will go to Sewickley, Pa., to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Benney. Mrs. Moss will leave the children with their grandparents, and early in August will go to Chicago to visit friends in her former home, where Mr. Ross expects to join her later.

Among the Washingtonians who daily join in the entertaining at Virginia's famous spa, Hot Springs, is Mrs. William Moffitt, who is staying at her cottage, The Patch, and has with her her niece, Miss Ellen H. W. Bates, and nephew, Mr. Julius S. W. Bates. On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Ira E. Wright, of St. Louis, entertained the group at the Colonial. Also at Hot Springs is Mrs. George Dunn.

Miss Margaret Horton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Horton, of Greenwich, Conn., has as her guest Miss Beatrice Clephane, of Washington.

Mrs. Frank P. Harman and her small son have left Washington and are at the Monterey Inn at Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., for the remainder of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard A. Block and small son, Huntington, sailed on Saturday on the Minnetonka for a stay of six weeks in England.

Miss Pauline Angela de Brodes, sister of Mrs. Philip George Walker, has arrived from her home in Honolulu and is with Mrs. Walker at her home in southern Maryland.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Shelton are now at Virginia Beach. They are staying at the Cavalier Hotel and will return to their Shoreham apartment within a few weeks.

Another of the charming old Georgetown houses which has changed hands is the former home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clifford, at 3033 N street, which has been bought by Maj. Gen. Clarence C. Williams, U. S. A., retired. Gen. Williams is well known in Washington, having been chief of ordnance from 1918 until 1922. He was retired from the Army in April, 1930, and since then has made his home in South Hamilton, Mass. He recently decided to return to the Capital.

The home he has purchased is of yellow painted brick, and set well back from the shaded street on a high terrace. It is the former home of Richard E. Gaskins, and is in the same block with the Todd Lincoln house and the homes of Senator Millard E. Tydings, of Maryland, and Maj. and Mrs. Henry Leonard.

Col. and Mrs. Clifford, both well known in Capital society, have moved to another old Georgetown home at 3130 P street, "just around the corner" from their former home, and have recently restored the charming old house.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. J. L. De Witt are at the Hotel Chelsea, Atlantic City.

Japan's Envoy Will Welcome Kishi's Party

Member of Parliament Head of Tourist Industry Survey.

The Ambassador of Japan, Mr. Debuchi, will come from Blue Ridge Summit to extend welcome on Friday to Mr. Mamoru Kishi, secretary of the Japanese government commission on tourist industry and a member of the Japanese Parliament, Mrs. Kishi, and the members of their party, who are in America to tour the national parks.

Mr. Kishi will be received by the President before leaving Washington on Saturday bound for Seattle, whence the group will sail for Japan later in the summer. What entertainment will be extended at the Japanese Embassy for the distinguished visitors seems not to be known by attaches who, however, are expecting the Ambassador.

The members of the group include, besides Mrs. Kishi: Mr. Sentaro Ohgai, president of the Wakamatsu Cinema Club, Ltd.; Mr. Keitar Sato, president of the Sato Co.; Mr. Goichiro Saito, Giichi Takamasa and Mr. Otoichi Kinoshita, executive director of the Japanese Trade Promotion Association.

The Japanese government has under way a plan to set aside a group of national parks throughout the empire in an effort to stimulate tourist travel and as emissary to this country the government dispatched Mr. Kishi to study the park developments in the United States. The probable location of the parks will be at Nikko, Mount Fujiyama, the Inland Sea and one or two other places.

The marriage of Miss Katherine Caperton Branham and Mr. Edward Gilman Howe, of Philadelphia, took place in the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. John Henry Bell, 2827 Fifteenth street northwest, Saturday afternoon.

The Rev. J. Pendleton Scruggs, of Crisfield, Md., a former pastor of the bride's family in Kentucky, officiated.

The ceremony was performed before a background of palms on either side of which were tall vases of pink gladioli and blue delphinium. The bride wore a gown of sheer white chiffon and carried a bouquet of pink roses, blue delphinium and lilies of the valley. A reception followed given by the aunt of the bride, Miss Katharine F. Bell.

Mr. and Mrs. Howe went by motor to the family camp on Lake Champlain and other Eastern points. They will reside in Germantown, Pa.

Miss Johnson To Sail Friday For Ireland

Will Be Guest of Mr. and Mrs. Buckley at Their Home.

Miss Mary Louise Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Evarts Johnson, who has been with her family at Blue Ridge Summit for the early part of the summer, will sail Friday for Europe to pass several weeks in Ireland with Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Buckley, who are now making their home there.

Mr. and Mrs. Buckley lived in Washington several winters ago when the former was with the foreign service of the Department of Commerce. They came to the Capital after serving in Sydney, Australia. Mrs. Buckley was formerly Miss Isabelle Palms, of Detroit.

Charles A. Cogen Goes to Bible Meeting.

Mr. Charles A. Cogen will leave Washington tomorrow for Columbus, Ohio, to attend the general convention of the International Bible Students Association which will open Friday night and continue until July 31.

On Sunday at 12 o'clock Judge Rutherford, president of the association, will address the session over the largest combination of radio stations ever assembled for one program. More than 300 stations will be hooked up. Several groups of Washingtonians left town yesterday for Columbus, making the trip by motor.

Miss Nona McAdoo Martin, daughter of Mrs. Clayton Platt, jr., of Chestnut Hill, who visited in Washington recently and was widely entertained, left yesterday for North Haven, Me., where they will be the guests of Miss Attaresta Bodine Moon, daughter of Mrs. Robert Wheelwright, at her mother's cottage. The girls will be debutantes this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb Jay have gone to Port Washington, L. I., for the remainder of the summer. They will return to their Shoreham apartment early in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Lyon and family are sojourning at the Hotel George V in Paris.

Mrs. Clarence W Grosner has left for Atlantic City and will not return to Washington until October 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ball Carter, jr., have returned to Washington from Brewton, Ala., where they have been visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theo F. May.

Dr and Mrs. Frederic J. Cullen have closed their apartment in the Potomac Park Apartments while they are taking a two-week motor tour of New England and Canada. Dr. Cullen is attached to the drug control office of the Department of Agriculture.

Maj. Henry L. Larsen, U. S. M. C., and Mrs. Larsen have returned to their apartment at Wardman Park Hotel after a ten days' visit in Williamstown, Mass.

Mrs. F. Hamilton McCormick-Goodhart, who is summering at Bar Harbor, is at the St. Regis Hotel, in New York.

Cabman's Hunger Plea Wins Mercy

Judge Suspends Sentence of Hacker Accused of Not Having Permit.

A taxi driver's plea that he was hungry and had to drive a cab to get money, even though his permit was revoked, yesterday resulted in a suspended sentence for Ernest R. Wright, 22, charged with speeding and driving without a permit.

"I was hungry," Wright told Judge Gus A. Schuldt. "I was down on my last dime and couldn't borrow a cent from anyone. I got to the point where I would drive a cab or do almost anything to get some money."

Judge Schuldt warned Wright not to drive any more until his permit is restored, suspending a sentence of $100 fine or 30 days in jail.

Wright's attorney, Fred A. Maltby, had appealed to the District Commissioners to grant a stay of order in the case after the driver had been forced to surrender his licence. Maltby, in correspondence to the Commissioners, laid before Judge Schuldt, accused M. O. Eldridge, former director of traffic, with failing to cooperate with him in preparing an appeal of the case. Maltby then asked the Commissioners to refer the case to the corporation counsel.

Driver Seized Near Census Bureau.

The collision of a truck and passenger automobile in front of the Census Bureau yesterday morning resulted in the arrest of William Lee Allen, who said he is 26 and lives at 637 H street northwest. He was charged with reckless driving of the private car. The truck was operated by Otis O. Schaeffer, 497 H street southwest.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Washington, Tuesday, July 21—8 p. m.

Forecast for the District of Columbia—Partly cloudy and not quite so warm, probably local showers Wednesday; Thursday, fair; gentle winds, mostly west and northwest.

For Maryland and Virginia—Partly cloudy and not quite so warm, probably local showers Wednesday; Thursday, fair; moderate winds, mostly west and northwest.

Pressure remains low almost generally over North America and Greenland, and it is abnormally low from Alaska southeastward to Montana, and from Hudson Strait and Labrador southwestward to the lower lake region and the Middle Atlantic States. Mayo, Yukon, 29.30 inches; Doucet, Quebec, 29.36 inches, and Medicine Hat, Alberta, 29.50 inches. As a result the temperature continues considerably above normal over most sections, except the lake region and the upper Ohio Valley. Maxima of 100 degrees or higher were registered this afternoon at many stations from Montana and southern Alberta southward and southwestward to Arizona and the interior of California. The highest temperature reported was 108 degrees at Phoenix, Ariz., and Fresno, Calif., while 104 degrees was registered at Havre, Mont.; Pocatello, Idaho; Winnemucca, Nev., and Medicine Hat, Alberta. No records were broken, however, except at Pocatello. Showers have occurred almost generally east of the Mississippi River, and in Arkansas and southern Missouri, while the weather has remained fair in sections farther west. The rainfall was locally heavy in the Ohio Valley, Tennessee, extreme southern New York, and central North Carolina, Raleigh, N. C., reporting the greatest amount, 2.40 inches.

1,000 Boxes Ready For Mission Picnic

One thousand children and mothers will be the guests of the Central Union Mission today for its annual picnic at Glen Echo.

The Women's Guild of the mission packed 1,000 lunch boxes yesterday in preparation for the event. These will be distributed among the children when they assemble at 10 o'clock this morning at the mission headquarters, 624 Louisiana avenue. The crowd will start from there by street cars for the amusement park. Each child will be given a ticket to the various amusement concessions.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Bennett, officials of the institution, said the names of the children invited on the picnic were taken from the mission's Christmas list. Included in the number are 35 boys and girls who make their home at the mission.

Homing Pigeons Stolen, Capital Man Reports

Julio Soldano reported to Tenth Precinct police yesterday that he was robbed over the week-end while absent from his home at 1412 Allison street northwest. His property will fly back, however, Mr. Soldano believes, if given half a chance. The loot was ten homing pigeons, spirited away from a loft in the backyard.

Indignant and worried over his loss, Mr. Soldano said that the birds are worth a minimum of $150. Two in particular he would be loath to part with for any consideration.

Mills Invites Tenders For $50,000,000 Bills

(Associated Press.)

Acting Secretary Mills yesterday invited tenders for $50,000,000 of 91-day Treasury bills which will be sold to the highest bidders on a discount basis on the afternoon of July 24.

The bills will be dated July 27 and will mature on October 26 when they will be redeemed at face value. Proceeds of the sale will be applied to the retirement of $53,000,000 of Treasury bills which fall due on July 27.

Others Wait as One Cab Firm Cuts Rate

Despite the fact that one cab company composed of union drivers puts a 20-cent rate for the so-called city proper zone into effect this morning, officials of other leading companies said last night that no immediate cuts in their rates were contemplated.

The Protex-U Cab Co. announced yesterday that the new low rate would be put into effect this morning at 6 o'clock in an effort to force the Public Utilities Commission to set a uniform rate for the District, and that it was prepared to make still more drastic cuts if other companies met the price.

It was thought last night that officials of other cab companie would confer today, and that announcement of their future action would be made.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE.

"CANCER."

IF July 22 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 10:30 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 3:15 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 9:10 p. m. The danger hours are from 11 a. m. to 12:25 p. m. and from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m.

The planetary aspects of July 22 denote that it is a very lucky day, especially for personal and social interests, as well as for the artistic and romantic. A spice of the unexpected and curious may be expected. In business all will be well, provided that speculation be avoided and conditions will be congenial.

Children born on this July 22 will, on reaching adolescence, have very clear and practical ideas of what they wish to do with their lives, and their parents will do well to encourage them in their ambitions. If cooperation is shown, success awaits them; but if they are thwarted they are destined to be failures.

Born on July 22, you are dual in character and mentality. This does not mean you are a "Jekyll and Hyde." Your duality does not consist of extreme good and extreme bad. Rather can it be classified as purposefulness and lack of purpose; great industry and reprehensible idleness; thrift and extravagance; strong, passionate affection and passive indifference. Your brain is subtle, versatile and brilliant. You are very difficult to understand. You are hot and cold almost at the same moment.

In society you are charming, and, if taken in your mood of the moment, you are a delightful person to meet, but no one has a deep hold on you for any length of time. In your heart you believe that you are constant and faithful. You may be at the moment, but each moment to you has a separate existence. If you have sufficient will power to stick to one thing, you will, without doubt, make a brilliant success of whatever particular thing you undertake.

You are highly strung and restless. You love speed and all rapid movement. Your affections are not very stable, although, when beguiled by them, you are very intense. Once your affection for a person changes, it is as if that person for you had ceased to exist.

Successful people born July 22:
John C. Kilgo, educator.
Frank H. Cushing, ethnologist.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

MIDSUMMER IN THE GARDEN.

IF YOU have an old-fashioned gourd vine in your garden be thankful. It is a pity these vines are not seen more frequently. This is the time to harvest your crop of fruit. If you are the happy possessor of a pewter platter do fill it with a few small gourds. You are sure to appreciate the decorative effect of the combination.

Your Madonna lilies are now in full flower. When their lower leaves begin to turn yellow you can move these bulbs if you wish. Before resetting the old bulbs be sure to add some leaf mold to the soil. They do best in a soil that has been enriched with bonemeal, leafmold and sand. It will soon be time to order more of these bulbs; you may plant them three or four inches deep as soon as they arrive.

Do not rake away the grass clippings at this time; rather allow them to lie where they fall, where they will act as a mulch and be a great aid in the conservation of moisture.

This is a good time to take off cuttings from all woody plants. These can be set in a shaded frame or planted in some shady place in your garden.

Newly planted evergreens must be kept well watered from now until frost.

Should the blooms of your heliotropes begin to grow not only smaller, but fewer, offer them a tonic in the form of constant cultivation for at least four weeks, also a little liquid manure.

Begin to take note of the changes you mean to make in your garden in the fall.

This is a good time to remove dandelions. The work will not be laborious as the roots are now quite close to the surface. The slightest twist of the wrist will uproot them.

Do not neglect to keep your peonies watered and well fed. Each plant should be given a cupful of bonemeal in late August. This must be scattered over the soil; the first dashing rain will carry it down to the feeding roots.

It will soon be time to sow such seed as English daisies, hollyhocks and Oriental poppies. Look up some of the newer varieties in the catalogues.

(Copyright, 1931.)

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed stamped envelope is supplied.

A Interpreter of the MODE

New York, July 21.

THE luxurious idea of lots of skins in a scarf has become a well-known fur fact. The lucky lady who wears a four-skin silver fox scarf knows two things—that she is in the height of style, and that she is gazed upon by her less financially established friends as a lovely example of what money will do. Oddly enough, though four matched silver fox skins will never be cheap, they aren't anywhere near as expensive as they have been, or as they will be again as soon as cooler weather returns.

All the little foxes are popular this summer except the red fox. The bright yellow-red color is trying to most types of women, and sort of hottish for summer anyway! But to take its place leading furriers are developing kit fox—smaller than most pointed and silver foxes, but of a lovely dark gray color with thick, exquisite white markings. This kit fox has been used for a long time to trim sumptuous coats, but this season for the first time is being used as a separate scarf.

And these are good days for women who have longed secretly for a beautiful fur scarf of an expensive fur! The prices of all fur, including the sable of royalty, are down, and the furriers have discovered new ways to mount them, and the combination is irresistible. But don't think you'll get away with a single sable pelt any more than you would with a single fox pelt. Four or six or more skins are used to make scarfs that are really capes, handled with supreme artistry and resulting in an effect of loveliness unmarred by graceless lines or awkard bulk.

Possibly, then, I should have said that furs were less expensive, but still too expensive for most of us. But we have the privilege of having our last winter's flat fur jacquettes made into smart capelets and looking as chic as our sabled sisters.

* * * *

Moonlight and the perfume of honeysuckle—slender youth and the midsummer spell of one's first romance! All these things, with their memory-stirring sweetness can be woven into one evening gown, if it be the inspiration and workmanship of an artiste. And I was reminded of all these things when I sketched the Mirande evening gown for you today. It's such a fragile thing, of white tulle, hand smocked, and delicate white lace. And so unusual too, with its flowers on skirt and decolletage of the same white lace! In short, the evening frock for the jeune fille to make her as lovely as her dreams.

Colors are undeniably smart for summer evening wear, but there's a place and a need in every wardrobe for one evening gown of plain white. White gives the wearer a delicate beauty and charm that no other color can!

* * * *

By special request, I've sketched for you again the dull silver and real amethyst quartz necklace which is some hundreds of years old, a family heirloom, and came from far northern Russia. The ring didn't originally belong with this pendant, but was spotted and coveted by a dear friend for years before it was possible to buy it and give it to me to wear with the pendant. So you see, costume jewelry isn't the latest fad in the world, now is it?

* * * *

Why is it that you just wish 'n' wish you could afford a French maid? Because you want to be swanky? Because you're lazy? No indeed! It's because you want your clothes to be as exquisitely neat and lovely as the ones that fall under the ministrations of a French maid, now isn't it? And you can have such a French maid right in your very own home—if you'll sit right down and send off your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post. 'N' you don't have to feed her either—for she isn't the real French maid, but just her clever ideas contained in my helpful hints leaflet.

Au revoir!

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

Man, the Wonderful!

DEAR Frances McDonald: Please tell me what to do with a man who seems to be willing to wait the next 70 years for his ship to come in. What does it matter if he hasn't money now? Money can not buy real love. Why doesn't he get busy and tell me how he feels? A girl may know that a man loves her, but when he has not said anything to her about loving her, of course, she can't say anything to him, and goes on grieving, not saying a word to anyone about it. Oh, I could shake some of these boys! What do they think? We are all just ordinary working girls, who can go out and earn our own living. Why should we be afraid to get married to someone who loves us and whom we love and work together for a little home? The majority of the happy married couples I know are those who started out with very little, but today are having things easier and they are together, which means a whole lot.

Some of the happiest times I have had have been with this someone I love, not going any place in particular, but just being together. But he is like Peter who wrote to you—tells everybody I'm his "dream girl," but all he says to me is some day when he gets enough money we will have a little home—he makes the same pay I do, and if he would only tell me he loved me I could say then how glad I would be to save and help him now, instead of waiting—and in the meantime, there are other boys who are lonesome too, nice good fellows who want to take me out, but I don't enjoy myself while with them and oh, dear, Miss McDonald, everything is so mixed up. Why, I ask you, are some boys so dumb?

JUST LONESOME ALICE.

Men are not dumb. They are vain. They want to do handsprings around their fellow men and be applauded. And it is easier to do handsprings if not tied. Men were hunters and warriors before they were husbands and fathers. They made good with the men first and then turned their attention to the long-haired on-lookers, invariably picking the one who made the biggest eyes over their valorous performances. She was probably then as now saying to herself "This poor oaf has got something despite his foolish appearance and boastful ways and I believe I could make a man of him before the funeral." And she usually was elected. What she let herself in for any married woman knows, and what success attended her efforts can be seen in the fact that 10,000 years later his descendants are still bent upon handspringing their way to attention and applause. No one will ever produce a small boy who will not shinny up a tree in his best Sunday suit if a round-eyed small girl happns to be standing open-mouthed waiting to be awed by this daring. And the world will never see a man who does not at least want to try to dazzle with his achievements the woman whose eye has singled him out from the rest of the circus. He may fail. If he does he can fall back upon the achievement of being able to get the woman willy-nilly. It seems Nature's one dispensation in humanity's favor that even those who muff a handspring can still be heroic in the eyes that love them! Hence the girl who stands by, waiting for the prizes to be given out and the nonsense to be over. The girl who does not give a rap for handspringings. The girl who is just a working girl willing to work and preferring to work with than without love.

How to hustle on the showdown, Alice, is almost beyond answer. Man simply must put on his act. Until he has done so the woman really is only a dream, something to which he must turn his attention when he gets time. She is just the long-haired onlooker despite her boyish bob. Trouble is, Alice, man has not changed much. He still comes to us only that we may crown him with laurels or bandage up his wounds, never that we may share his achievemnts or his actual acomplishments. And our part seems to be to know enough to fix a bandage that will look like a crown. And apply it with a smile when he comes limping up to lay his disappointments at our waiting feet. What a life!

Culbertson on Contract

by Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

DISTRIBUTIONAL BIDDING PLUS ACCURATE PLAY.

THE ROCKS on the reefs of the Sea of Distribution have wrecked many a Contract clipper. There is no more important element, either in the bidding or in play, than distribution and in the bidding, according to the standards laid down by many writers, there is no element more neglected.

Adequate trump support is not sufficient reason for supporting partner's Opening bid of a suit. In addition to adequate trump support you must be able to find the playing tricks to make probable the fulfillment of any contract which you may undertake. It is for this reason that hands of balanced distribution, such as 4-3-3-3, 5-4-3-1, 4-4-3-2, ordinarily play better without trump than at a suit because the hand contains no ruffing values.

Below I give a beautiful illustration of this principle. It was played by Mrs. Culbertson in a recent championship match.

North—Dealer
Neither side vulnerable

	♠ Q 8 6 4 3 ♥ A Q 4 ♦ Q 10 4 ♣ A 10
♠ — — ♥ K J 10 5 ♦ K J 9 5 3 ♣ 8 6 3 2	N W E S	♠ A 10 9 7 2 ♥ 8 3 2 ♦ 8 7 ♣ K J 5
	♠ K J 5 ♥ 9 7 6 ♦ A 6 2 ♣ Q 9 7 4

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1♠ (1)	Pass (2)	1NT (3)	Pass
2NT (4)	Pass	3NT (5)	Pass
Pass	Pass

1—The spade suit is not quite biddable but it is better to shade the suit than to venture on a perilous notrump declaration without information as to distribution. The suit bid does not shut out an eventual notrump. A notrump Opening might result in a disastrous set.

2—East, of course, is well satisfied with the spade declaration and, therefore, passes.

3—South has adequate trump support but the hand does not, because of its balanced distribution, afford sufficient playing tricks to justify a Raise at spades. Mrs. Culbertson, therefore, offered the alternative of a notrump declaration, at the same time affording her partner another opportunity to bid if the hand warranted it.

4—North's hand has slightly more than 3 honor-tricks. There is not enough to raise to three notrump but the hand is strong enough to raise to two. Of course, spade suit can not be rebid.

5—South holds more than 2 honor-tricks and, therefore, the try for game at notrump is fully justified.

In the play, West opened the 5 of diamonds and this trick was won with the 10 in Dummy. Mrs. Culbertson then started on the work of establishing the long suit as the most probable road to game. The spade 3 was led, East played low and Mrs. Culbertson won with the King. When West failed to follow suit, Mrs. Culbertson was compelled to change her entire plan of campaign. A small club was led and the Ace played in the Dummy. The suit was then returned and East, after some hesitation, played the King and returned the diamond 8, which was won with the Ace in the closed hand. West had been forced to discard a diamond on the spade lead so, in any event, he could hold but two good diamonds and his hand probably lacked any reentry, as East's hesitation made it probable that he held at least three clubs. Two club tricks were then cashed and then Mrs. Culbertson took the heart finesse. When this won, game was assured. A spade was led from Dummy to establish the second spade trick, South thus made three clubs, two diamonds, two hearts and two spades for a total of 9 tricks and game—a fitting tribute to an accurately bid and beautifully played hand.

Today's Pointer

After an Opening bid by an opponent, a bid higher than necessary in a different suit is a Jump Overcall.

This bid shows a powerful hand—and should be used in preference to a Takeout Double when holding more than 3 honor tricks with a freak hand (seven-card suit) or a strong two-suited hand.

Although it is not a Forcing bid (because opponents have opened the bidding) it strongly invites partner to raise if able, or to keep the bidding open provided he has about 1 honor-trick.

Alexander Moore Estate Redivided

Lillian Russell's Daughter to Receive $50 Weekly Rest of Life.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 21 (A.P.).—An order directing transfer of $40,000 from the estate of Alexander P. Moore, late Ambassador to Spain, to that of Lillian Russell Moore, his wife, so that her daughter, Dorothy Russell Calvit, may receive an income of $50 a week for the remainder of her life, was directed by Judge Thomas P. Trimble in Orphans Court here today.

The order was a result of an agreement between counsel for the estate of both Miss Russell and Moore. The money transfer will be added to a trust fund of more than $36,000 in Miss Russell's estate from which Mrs. Calvit is now receiving income.

Mrs. Calvit contested Moore's will, which gave her a bequest of only $1,000, and claimed that a prenuptial agreement between her mother and Moore entitled her to one-half of Moore's $600,000 estate. The contest was the subject of a long trial recently, and today's decision was its result.

SCOUT FOR CUSTER, AGED MAN CLAIMS

Oklahoman Says He Eluded Scalpers by Dyeing His Hair With Blood.

Okmulgee, Okla., July 21 (U.P.).—Historians have recorded that not a white man escaped alive from Custer's massacre, but "Billy the Kid" contends there was at least one—himself.

As he celebrated his 95th birthday here recently the veteran scout and pioneer, known in everyday life as J. B. Guntor, related how the color of his hair saved his scalp when the warring Sioux, led by Chief Sitting Bull, slew 300 United States Cavalrymen on the Little Big Horn River in the Dakotas in 1876.

"I was wounded fourteen times in that affair," he said, "and the Sioux threw me back into the maze of dead soldiers' bodies because they were scalping only black-haired men. I had dyed my hair with blood to make it red."

Guntor, or Billy the Kid, as he said he was known to Gen. Custer, Buffalo Bill, Kit Carson and other famous scouts and leaders, was born in Arkansas in 1836. He left that State in early manhood to become a "part of the West." Later he joined Custer's ill-fated band as a scout, he said.

As to Custer's fate he did not know. Older historians recorded that Custer died at the hands of the Sioux. Recent recorders say Custer died by his own hands rather than be captured by the Sioux.

Sitting Bull, so the recent accounts maintain, ordered his braves to capture Custer alive, and when the braves closed in on Custer he took his own life.

Billy the Kid claims he escaped the Sioux despite the fact the United States Government will not recognize his application for a pension as a scout to Custer because he has no proof other than his own word.

"Federal officers told me that history said every white man died that day, and that since I have no discharge from Gen. Custer they can not recognize me as a member of the troop," Guntor said.

Prisoners Will Build New County Courthouse

Creighton, Nebr., July 21 (U.P.).—Knox County's new courthouse will be built by prisoners of the county jail, Oliver Prosser, brick maker, has been hired by the county to boss the prisoners in making the bricks which will be used in the new county building.

The present jail population is two men. Prosser says he needs two more for an efficient force.

School Named in Honor Of Veteran Instructor

Herkimer, N. Y., July 21 (U.P.).—As a tribute to her 50 years of school work, during which she has gained Nation-wide fame for her Americanization methods, a grammar school here has been named for Miss Margaret Tuger, 68. Her success in taking children of immigrants and making model citizens of them has prompted educational systems throughout the country to send representatives here to study her methods.

New Railroad Coach Built for King Gustaf

Stockholm, July 21 (U.P.).—A new royal railway carriage will be built for King Gustaf of Sweden, to be used both at home and abroad. Aside from a bedroom, a salon and a reception room for the king, it will contain three compartments for his entourage and two for valets.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

ANOTHER premiere for Washington's new theatrical season.

As his initial offering of the new season, Leonard Bergman will present "Peter Flies High," a comedy by Myron C. Fagan. "Peter Flies High," according to last-minute advices, will have its first performance in the National Theater in this city on Monday, September 14, to be followed by a two-week engagement in Philadelphia.

The New York opening will occur during the week of October 5. The piece will be staged by the author. Casting is now under way.

Among several other productions Mr. Bergman has in contemplation for autumn and early winter is another Fagan play called "Hollywood Be Thy Name," upon which the author is now at work.

Mr. Fagan, author of "Nancy's Private Affair," "Jimmie's Women," and other plays that have achieved Broadway note, has just returned to New York after a year's absence in Hollywood, where he was engaged in writing and directing dialogue for Pathe.

"Hollywood Be Thy Name" is probably his method of getting even.

There is an interesting revival being cooked up, on the other hand, that Washington seems likely to miss. Joe E. Brown, at present completing "Local Boy Makes Good," for First National, will be starred in another stage production of the Ring Lardner-George M. Cohan hit, "Elmer, the Great," in which he appeared for several weeks in Los Angeles earlier in the season—just as Douglas Fairbanks, jr., has more recently done in "The Man in Possession," from which Robert Montgomery's screen vehicle, current at the Palace, was adapted.

Present plans call for a road tour of the wide-mouth comedy that will include Milwaukee, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and possibly Philadelphia and Boston.

The original production of the piece, in which Walter Huston played Elmer, the spectacularly dumb ball player, was seen in both New York and Chicago for long engagements, so the revival will not be presented in either city. The tour is expected to last ten weeks.

That's nothing at all for Joe Brown. He could swallow ten weeks in one gulp!

Warner's Metropolitan Theater, which is now showing Charlie Ruggles' first starring comedy, "The Girl Habit," will close down for the summer at the conclusion of the engagement on Friday of this week, July 24.

The Metropolitan, which for years has been one of the first-class motion-picture theaters of Washington, was forced this season to present attractions which have not been up to the Metropolitan standard. With the reopening for the new season, it is stated the Metropolitan will be fortified with a parade of hits that will bring joy to the hearts of local motion-picture goers.

Announcement of the reopening date and some of the attractions will be made within a few weeks.

And what local cathedral of the motion picture, located on F street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth—a little nearer Fourteenth than Thirteenth—with the beginning of the new season is going to serve coffee and cigarets to its feminine patrons? And what kind of Wilkins Coffee, and what kind of Chesterfield cigarets?

Aw, somebody told you!

So Lil Dagover, famous German stage and screen star, is being groomed as a fellow-countrywoman and threat of Marlene Dietrich, eh, and a possible hazard of Greta Garbo's?

Well, this department's head ferret has just nosed out a vital statistic to the effect that Lil was born Lilith Witt in Madioen, Java, Dutch East Indies, of a German father and a mother who was a descendent of the French Huguenots—which doesn't exactly make her an Eskimo, either. Not that it matters.

Her favorite pet is said to be a small owl named Pallas Athene, thus proving that the Greeks had not only one, but two words for it!

In order that the title of "The Vanishing Legion," the first serial ever presented in the Fox Theater, may not be indicative of the playhouse's juvenile patronage, Manager Harry Crull has decreed that the first 200 children, under 16 years of age presenting themselves at the theater Friday morning for the first show, will be admitted free of any charge, fee, tariff or assessment of any kind, whatsoever, so help him Harley L. Clarke!

"The Vanishing Legion" will present its first installment at 11:19 a. m. and 5:53 p. m., on Friday, as a part of the new week's bill, featured by Peggy Shannon and Richard Arlen in "The Secret Call," on the screen, and Fanchon & Marco's "Golden West" Idea, on the stage.

This is very elegant ballyhoo—provided the first 200 kids don't turn out to be 20,000!

Assured by the architects and builders that the acoustics of the new Earl Carroll Theater were perfect, Earl Carroll took an extra precaution to make sure that the proverbial stage whisper might be heard in the remotest nook or cranny of one of the country's largest legitimate playhouses.

During construction, the Berliner Acoustic System was installed. This involved the placing of more than 5,000 discs in the walls of the new structure. This thoroughly tested system, perfected by the late Emil Berliner, Washington scientist and inventor, was selected after every acoustic device now in use had been inspected by Mr. Carroll, the architects and the builders.

Mr. Carroll is to be congratulated. Too many theaters have been constructed merely for vision, although, of course, it is at times a priceless advantage to have the dyspeptic dialogue and colicky chromatics of some of our productions acoustically tuned out without the bother of plugging up the ears!

Every girl playing in the Earl Carroll Theater, by the way, will have her own individual dressing table, thus making it unnecessary longer to pick her face out of the myriad reflections set up on the old-time "dressing shelf."

This, no doubt, will come as something of a shock to those who discover their own faces for the first time!

And that reminds me. Is there anything that can be done about improving the early morning view in that shaving mirror?

SMALL GRIST MILLS YIELD TO PROGRESS

Huge Modern Plants Take Place of Individual Grinder of Old.

Kansas City, Mo., July 21 (U.P.).—Modern methods have entered the milling ranks and smitten heavily the individual grinder of the community's grain and the old mill wheel romanticized in tradition and literature.

Some of the delegates to the convention of the Association of Operative Millers of the United States, Canada and Mexico, however, saw an economic trend favorable to the smaller mills.

But many—or most—of the individual operators have bowed to the modern mills with vast equipment, laboratory experts and sales and advertising managers, it was indicated.

MEN OF AFFAIRS . . . Insist Upon Timely, Accurate . . . . NEWS

IT is a significant fact that ALL the leaders in the business, professional and civic affairs of Washington are subscribers to The Washington Post . : : They need information of world and local happenings FIRST, and they know that the majority of important news occurrences develop during the hours of night and are revealed FIRST in the morning Post. "Men of Affairs" insist upon accuracy—they must have the FACTS, uncolored by hypothesis or biased suggestion. They must have the complete story, but undecorated with meaningless phrases—the story as presented in the concise, modern manner of The Washington Post.

The factors that are so important to "men of affairs" have an equal value for men and women in all walks of life. A value that is appreciated and reciprocated by the staunch loyalty of Post readers . . . That is why Post advertisers secure results in maximum measure.

HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Ray Senusky

TO CUT CAPERS
THE LATIN WORD FOR GOAT IS "CAPER." THESE ANIMALS ARE SO MISCHIEVOUS AND ACTIVE THAT THE ROMANS APPLIED THE NAME TO TRICKS AND MISCHIEF, AND WE FOLLOWED THE EXAMPLE.
TOBYS AND STOGIES
WHEN PITTSBURG WAS A SMALL VILLAGE, A CERTAIN OFFICIAL WAS MUCH ADDICTED TO SWEARING. WHEN TAKEN TO TASK FOR THIS, HE WOULD QUOTE A PASSAGE FROM "TRISTRAM SHANDY" IN WHICH UNCLE TOBY SAYS A BAD WORD. THE RECORDING ANGEL DROPPED A TEAR ON THE RECORD BOOK AND BLOTTED IT OUT. THE DRIVERS OF CONESTOGA WAGONS BEGAN TO CALL THEIR LONG CIGARS "TOBYS" AS WELL AS STOGIES.
ALL QUIET ALONG THE POTOMAC
DURING THE CIVIL WAR THIS PHRASE APPEARED SO OFTEN IN SECRETARY STANTON'S BULLETINS THAT IT BECAME SYNONYMOUS WITH PEACE AND REST.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

SWOLLEN ANKLES.

THIS discussion includes swelling of the soft parts in various sections of the body, well-known illustrations being the ankles and feet and the loose tissues around the eyes. Probably similar swellings occur with frequency in all loose tissues in the body, inside and out, but we can not see the results and, having no other way of learning about them, we never know.

When a man gets out of bed in the morning he instinctively looks in a mirror, and what he sees makes him wish he had not. He goes straightway to a wash basin and uses cold water to reduce the swelling. Swelling of the face, and particularly of the loose tissues around the eyes, is most noticeable after sleeping. It is sometimes attributed to fighting booze the night before, often ustly. More frequently it is ascribed to sleeping hard—whatever than means. We rarely hear now that a swollen face means that witches have been riding the possessor of a swollen face.

Swelling of the ankles is generally noticed at night. When the shoe is removed a swelling is noticed, as marking the location of the shoe top. It would have included the entire foot, but the pressure of the firm shoe against firm bone made that impossible, although some puffiness under the protection of the large ankle protuberances is often noticed.

Such swelling of loose tissues is very likely to mean Bright's disease or heart disease. Bright's disease, existing alone and in a mild stage, is more likely to cause swelling of the face. Heart disease, on the other hand, is more liable to cause swelling of the ankles.

Among other somewhat properly called "organic diseases" which cause these swellings are cirrhosis of the liver, pernicious anemia, phlebitis and varicose veins. Among other causes to be suspected are trichinosis and myxedema. Some obstructons in the abdomen, pelvis or leg may be the cause of swelling of the ankles.

Whenever there is any swelling in any of these localities there should be search for an organic disease. In many cases such cause will not be found, particularly in warm weather. In these cases the cause is said to be a local acidosis. The tissues in a given area are said to become less alkaline than is normal, and this serves to cause an unusual amount of fluid to ooze into the area and more or less stagnate there. The increase of fluid locally is responsible for the puffiness. The theory is quite plausible—at least, in part. There is some change in the local chemistry. Whether the change is a local acidosis is not so certain.

By way of treatment the following precedures are advised: Cold bathing will cause the swelling to disappear temporarily. The face is washed in cold water. If the swelling is in the feet a cold foot bath is used. A cold shower is of service. So is massage of the swollen area. Massaging the face with ice is recommended. Some advise changes in diet. More fruit and vegetables and less cereals, breads, pastries and proteins. Others advise a low salt diet. There are people who think the tendency to swollen akles in summer is due to the custom of eating salted melons and vegetables more than to the heat. However, most of this is speculation, and may be right or wrong. Pepping up by cold baths seems to be based on ground as to which we are surer.

SOMETIMES IT WORKS.

A daily reader writes:

1. I was reading some time ago that it was possible to strengthen weak eyes without the use of medicine or surgery and thus enable a person wearing glasses to discard them. Is this possible?

2. Is glaucoma a serious eye disease? I have all the symptoms, and would like to know if I should have it attended to?

3. Will it eventually lead to total blindness?

REPLY.

1. This method has a very limited field of usefulness.

2. It is—very.

3. It usually does. Glaucoma outrank cataract as a cause of blindness of the aged.

STOCKS BEGIN RALLY IN CAUTIOUS TRADING

New York, July 21 (A.P.).—The stock market felt its way cautiously today, and with a little help from bullish professionals advanced moderately along all major fronts.

Volume expanded to 1,134,430 shares, compared with yesterday's five-year low record. Rails came to the rescue in the afternoon, when prices had begun to sag from an earlier rise of 1 to 3 points, and although final quotations were generally under the top, there was an average advance of about a point and a half.

President Hoover's proposal that international bankers maintain present credits to Germany and that that republic continue to exercise close control over foreign exchanges was favorably received in banking quarters here, which noted particularly that no further financial assistance to the Reich was mentioned. Many prominent bankers have contended that Germany did not need more credit, and have looked with disfavor on any plan for an immediate large loan, part of which would be floated in this country.

Belief in Revival Grows.

Meanwhile, there is a growing belief that once foreign matters are straightened out American business will be ready to move slowly out of the depression. Some signs of gain have been noted and others are shaping up. Of the latter, the petroleum industry appears to be groping toward better times, and there is talk of higher prices following the curtailment of production through the shutdown of wells in the midcontinent.

Just how much more contraction is ahead of the steel makers is rather problematical; but Dow, Jones & Co. estimates that U. S. Steel's operation rose to 33 per cent this week against 31 per cent a week ago, while American Metal Market said there had been no change. "Chances are," it added, "this will prove to be the low rate of the year; but that is by no means certain as mills have almost no backlogs and are maintaining their operations with difficulty, making strenuous efforts to obtain all orders possible."

The stock market continued to follow U. S. Steel, whose directors meet next week for dividend action. There is difference of opinion as to whether the present rate will be maintained, some pointing to the large cash on surplus which the regular payment would entail and questioning whether the directors would be willing to make that demand even as a gesture of confidence. The shares today made an extreme gain of 2 points, closing 1½ higher.

National Biscuit Gains.

National Biscuit indicated that it had discounted smaller second-quarter earnings by rising 2 points. General Electric's 37 cents a share for the second three months against 38 cents in the first period this year offered further evidence that business in April, May and June was not completely disheartening.

Bethlehem Steel, American Can, Case, Corn Products, Youngstown Sheet, American & Foreign Power, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific closed 1 to 2 higher. Atchison & Rock Island rallied 4. Net advances in the oils were fractional, but the group was active, particularly Sinclair and Standard of New York. Motors were firm.

Small Southwest receipts, bullish Canadian weather and a better export demand sent wheat up ½ to 1⅝ net. Corn's gains were nominal. Net losses in cotton ranged from $1.20 to $1.45 a bale.

Foreign exchange rates moved irregularly. Sterling rallied, then declined and finally closed unchanged at $4.85 on cables. The French franc was a trifle heavy, but the mark held nominally at 23½ cents.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, July 21 (A.P.).—Plans approved by President Hoover whereby American banks would maintain credits in Germany, provided other countries' banks did likewise, helped to lift grain prices today. A substantial falling off in receipts of domestic winter wheat, together with adverse reports of the spring crop in Canada and North Dakota, were also bullish factors. Curtailing of the movement of United States winter wheat was ascribed largely to a widespread holding tendency by farmers in the Southwest because of low prices.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅝ to 1⅝ cents higher; corn, ¼ to ½ advanced; oats, ⅛ to ¼ up, and provisions varying from 32 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

Grains showed an advancing trend only after word came that American Government representatives had presented to the London international financial conference a definite plan of help for Germany. Earlier, the fluctuations of wheat had been confined to extremely narrow limits, the market awaiting developments at London. First decided upturns in quotations were for July wheat, a circumstance that emphasized decrease of hedging pressure in connection with purchases of new crop. It was significant that primary receipts of wheat totaled but 3,441,000 bushels against 4,345,000 a year ago.

Aggregate arrivals of new wheat at all domestic markets were the smallest in some time, 2,635 cars. Meanwhile an authoritative Canadian crop summary indicated that for the third successive week improved moisture conditions had been effective only in stopping wheat deterioration, and had brought about no enlargement of expected yields. There was also a comprehensive report by a Chicago crop expert who had returned from a survey of North Dakota conditions and who said the outlook pointed to only about enough North Dakota wheat for feed, seed and food, much wheat being cut for hay.

North American wheat export business lacked volume, except 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat taken yesterday for shipment overseas. Corn and oats followed wheat.

Provisions were responsive to downturns of hog values.

RAILS LEAD BONDS IN ACTIVE MARKET

Foreign Issues Show Gains After Loss in Advances; Utilities Are Dull.

New York, July 21 (A.P.).—Bonds made irregular progress in a more active market today. Foreign issues were prominent, with the trend mixed, while domestic rails, especially some of the secondary obligations, improved. Sales totaled $7,362,000, par value.

Although German 7s and 5½s sold higher, much of the extreme advance was lost. Numerous loans of German states and municipalities, together with many of the industrials and utilities, turned heavy. Latin Americans were mixed.

Advances in the American rails covered a wide list. Gains were more noticeable in such issues as the Erie, the Missouri Pacifics, Frisco 4½s, International Great Northern adjustment 6s, New York Central 6s, Seaboard 6s and Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh 4½s. The Pennsylvania group was active and firm.

The more favorable aspects of the petroleum situation was reflected in increased turnovers in oil bonds, mostly at higher prices. Phillips Petroleum 5½s gained more than 2 points, while Shell Union 5s with warrants rose 1½ net. Sinclair 5½s and Standard of New York 4½s improved fractionally. Otherwise the industrials were about steady. Certain-teed 5½s, International Cement 5s, Goodrich 6s and Vanadium 5s worked upward, in contrast to the decline in International Paper "A" 6s and St. Joseph Lead 5½s, the last-named sagging 1¾ in a substantial turnover. Sugar bonds gained as prices of the staple were advanced.

Utility mortgages and debentures were firm and dull. United States Governments held steady in a sluggish market.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, July 21 (A.P.).—L. A. Paddock, formerly vice president, has been elected president of the American Bridge Co., a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corp. He succeeds Joshua A. Hatfield, who died about two weeks ago. A. L. Davis, formerly general contracting manager, has been made vice president in charge of sales, with headquarters in Pittsburgh.

Offering is expected soon of $15,000,000 one-year 4 per cent notes of Public Service Co., of Northern Illinois at par. The proceeds are to meet bank indebtedness and contemplated additions to plants during the balance of the year.

Jerome Lewine, of H. Hents & Co., has been elected president of the National Raw Silk Exchange for the third successive time.

The Lanbert Co. for the June quarter had net profit of $1,462,222, equal to $1.95 a share, compared with $2,110,307, or $2.82 a share, in the preceding quarter, and $1,696,082, or $2.26 a share, in the June quarter of 1930. Net profit for the first half was $3,572,529, or $1.77 a share, against $3,764,349, or $85.02 a share, in the first half last year.

Revenues of manufactured and natural gas utilities aggregated $54,788,105 in May this year, as compared with $55,505,276 in the like month last year, the statistical department of the American Gas Association reports. The decline, amounting to 1.3 per cent, the report said, was the smallest decrease in gas utility revenues registered during the current year, "and doubtless presages the attainment of stabilized levels from which future changes would take an upward trend."

W. H. Lally, president of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Co., said that July shipments to dealers are ahead of June. Shipments during June were 27.7 per cent ahead of May, and 43.6 per cent greater than June of last year.

World output of slab zinc amounted to 82,063 short tons in June, compared with 86,393 tons in May and 89,637 tons in April, the American Bureau of Metal Statistics reports.

Virginia Iron, Coal & Coke Co. reported for the quarter ended June 30 net profit of $26,828, compared with net loss of $68,766 in the corresponding period of 1930.

Island Creek Coal Co. for the first six months this year has net profit of $803,292, equal to $1.21 a share on the common stock, compared with $1,119,802, or $1.73 a share, in the first half last year.

United States Leather Co. reported for the June quarter net loss of $318,284, compared with net profit of $19,859 in the like quarter of 1930.

General Railway Signal Co. for the June quarter had net earnings of $564,868, equal to $1.64 a share on the common stock, compared with $658,933, or $1.72 a share, in the June quarter last year.

Sorrell Blanks Nats After Their 3-Run Attack in 3d.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

IT as not a question of which was the better team in yesterday's finale between Detroit and Washington, but which was the worse, the Nationals proving to be the latter and so losing he decision, 4 to 3. At that, it was an interesting game to watch, with good and bad baseball played and the result in doubt until the very end. The visitors were much the worse at the start, but showed a flash of good baseball in the ninth to break the 3-all deadlock and earn the verdict.

Two streaks were snapped as a result, the Tigers breaking a losing one which had extended to seven games and, at the same time, stopping Washington's winning rampage at five in a row. As the Mackmen again downed the White Sox, Manager Walter Johnson's charges dropped back farther than they have been at any time this season, eight games now separating them from the league leaders.

Nats Give Fischer Early Lead.

Carl Fischer, who won his ninth game in Detroit on June 25, started on the hill for the Nationals and, after four failures to hit the 10-mark, seemed to have his goal in sight when one of the five allen errors charged, a two-base one by Doljack in the third, presented him with a two-run lead and set the stage for a third. But Carl was having his own troubles, being in hot water in practically every inning, and

Giants Lose In Row With Umpires

Bancroft and Fitzsimmons Chased; Cards Win, 8-5.

Continuance of War Expected as McGraw Returns Today.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 21 (A.P.).—Treated roughly by both the Cardinals and the umpires during their four-day stay here, the New York Giants left town tonight for Cincinnati, where tomorrow their fiery leader, John J. McGraw, returns to the baseball wars after a three-day suspension.

The Giants, defeated in three games out of four by the Cardinals, fared even worse in their arguments with the umpires, not winning a single one of importance.

The umpires also suffered one casualty during the series, Bob Clarke, who banished McGraw Saturday for what President John A. Heydler, of the National League, called "abusive language." Clarke was suffering from tonsilitis today and unable to work in the series final, but Umpire Rigler continued where Clarke left off and banished Fred Fitzsimmons and Coach Dave Bancroft, of the Giants, who was acting manager during McGraw's absence.

Bancroft Ordered To Showers.

Bancroft was ordered from the field in the fourth inning, when he protested a base on balls Fitzsimmons issued to Frisch, the hurler going to the clubhouse while Bancroft continued the argument.

The Giant-Cardinal series was featured by a bitter verbal exchange Sunday between McGraw and Heydler. McGraw, notified in the morning of his suspension, learned Heydler was in St. Louis and waited for him at Sportsman's Park, berating him for "protecting incompetent umpires." Witnesses said the argument was not entirely one-sided, although McGraw generally was credited with the unofficial decision. Heydler said later McGraw was not entitled to privileges with umpires "just because he is vice president as well as manager of the New York Club."

McGraw Anxious To Return.

His team defeated in all three games during his absence, McGraw tonight was anxious to return to active leadership—and more arguments with umpires, if, in his opinion, they are wrong.

Today the Cardinals knocked Fred Fitzsimmons out of the box in the fourth inning, scoring five runs, and added three more off Bill Walker in the seventh to defeat the New York Giants, 8 to 5, in a stormy game.

Jess Haines started for the Cards, but gave way to Jim Lindsey, who was given credit for the victory. Bill Hallahan finally finished for St. Louis. The victory gave the Cards the series, three games to one.

MICKEY WALKER.

JACK SHARKEY.

Ex-Sailor Is Assured 25-Pound Advantage Over Mickey.

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

NEW YORK, July 21 (A.P.).—Eight years of gloved warfare, success, failures and disappointments, converge tomorrow night for Jack Sharkey in the same ring in Ebbets Field where he jumped into fame overnight in 1926.

And if by any chance the bellicose sailorman from Boston should fail to ship Mickey Walker, the overstuffed middleweight who aspires to be a giant killer, he will be right back where he was before he conquered Harry Wills, the old Black Menace, that October night in the Brooklyn National League ball park five years ago.

Sharkey Has Everything To Lose.

The main difference, of course, is that Sharkey, before he humbled the Negro, Jack Dempsey was supposed to have feared, was a rough and tumble youngster, fresh from a battle wagon in Uncle Sam's Navy, spoiling for a fight, his whole career ahead of him. Tomorrow night he faces Walker at the crossroads, his conquests of Wills, Maloney, McTigue, Godfrey, Stribling, Loughran, behind him. Defeat will tumble him from the front rank and ruin any chance the sailor has of another opportunity to win the heavyweight championship from Max Schmeling, the man he fouled into the title over a year ago.

The fight experts, however, after peering at the two warriors in training for several weeks, can see little reason why Walker should win the 15-round duel for the benefit of the New York Milk Fund.

Sharkey will have about 30 pounds advantage over the barrel-chested, thick-legged Walker. He is a head taller, has a longer reach, and more strength, skill and socking power on his side. Mickey hits hard with a left hook to the body—for a middleweight. He still has remarkable powers of endurance despite a dozen years of lusty warfare. The betting is light but what there is favors Sharkey at 2½ and 3 to 1. The match will not be broadcast.

Battlers Take Light Exercises.

The advance sale was around the $100,000 mark and the last day's rush for cheaper seats tomorrow may shove the receipts up above the $200,000 mark. The attendance may reach 25,000.

Both Sharkey and Walker exercised lightly and rested today in their training camps, Mickey in his Orangeburg, N. Y., billet, Sharkey across the river in New Jersey. They are due in New York tomorrow afternoon for weighing in.

Intercamp bickerings, the discovery of a Sharkey "spy" in the Walker stronghold yesterday and a mutual exchange of predictions from the managers "hat the other fellow intended to "foul out," have kept the ballyhoo steaming for the past few days. There can be no foul tomorrow night, however, as the boxing commission ruled some time ago that bouts no longer can be terminated by low punches.

Ten heavyweights have been paired in a series of five-round preliminaries on the supporting card. The line-up follows: Al Morro vs. Tommy de Stefano, Arthur de Kuh vs. Frank Cawley, Jack McCarthy vs. Pavese Presidio, Babe Hunt vs. Walter Cobb and Justin Sirutis vs. Chester Matan.

MACKS BEAT WHITE SOX, 10 TO 5

PHILADELPHIA, July 21 (A.P.).—The world's champion Athletics ran their newest winning streak to eight straight today when they took the final contest of a four-game series with the Chicago White Sox, 10 to 5. They pounded out fourteen hits.

Waite Hoyt, who was affected by the heat and had to quit after seven innings, received credit for his fourth triumph in as many starts since the Athletics secured him on waivers from Detroit. The game was stopped for a short time because of a heavy shower.

NATS HOSTS TO BROWNS TODAY

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

MANAGER KILLEFER'S St. Louis Browns, who always may be depended upon to put up a good scrap, open a four-game series against the Nationals this afternoon. The second game will be played tomorrow, with Friday an open date, and contests Saturday and Sunday will complete the set. "General" Alvin Crowder, former Brownie, will do the native flinging, with Sam Gray expected to do the box work for the visitors.

Of added interest to this series is the fact that "Goose" Goslin, who played here for so many years, will be here with the Browns. He is hitting as well as he ever did and ranks high among the league's hitters. The usual comparison between him and Heinie Manush, for whom he was traded, can not be made this visit in view of the fact that Heinie is sitting on the bench taking the rest cure for a hitting slump.

Tko rookie third basemen were given the "once over" by Manager Walter Johnson yesterday. One was Rudolph (Red) Porter, a left-handed hitter who has been starring with the Anacostia Eagles, while the other was Raymond Weaver, who bats right-handed. Weaver graduated last June from Purdue University and starred with the rah-rah boys for three seasons.

Detroit Infield Revamped.

Every member of the Detroit infield, except Mark Koehig, changed positions yesterday. Fans evidently thought Manager Bucky Harris had gone crazy from the heat, but the Tiger skipper had his reasons. Gehringer was shifted from second to first

MRS. MOODY ADVANCES AT NETS

By BILL KING.

MANCHESTER, Mass., July 21 (A.P.).—Seven of the Nation's first ten women tennis players and the unranked Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, who, in other years, topped them all, today gained the quarter finals in the Essex Country Club's brilliant tourney.

Rankings, however, probably will mean but little during the remaining brackets for none of the seven appears to have any chance of halting the former Helen Wills sweep to her fourth victory in this annual competition.

Mrs. Moody Not Extended In Matches.

To gain the third last round, Mrs. Moody had to overcome two sturdy and hard-driving rivals, but at no time in either match did her competition approach the pressing stage. Starting a bracket behind most of the survivors of the first day's play, she engaged Mrs. Ary Lamme, New York, for 6—1, 6—3 victory. She caught up with the fourth round winners by overcoming Charlotte Miller, New York, 6—2, 6—2. These wins moved her into position for an encounter with Virginia Hilleary, Philadelphia, ranked fourth, with a semifinal bracket going to the winner.

As Mrs. Moody progressed through each round, the competition sharpened her play. She had a total of eight double faults during the day, but these errors resulted from her refusal to soften her second service ball.

Six of the service errors were made against Mrs. Lamme, but she nullified them by smashing a total of 21 placements against the New Yorker and aceing her once. The California star held her nets and outs down to eight and eighteen, respectively, in these two sets with Mrs. Lamme.

Tribe Beaten in Tenth By Boston Red Sox

Boston, July 21 (A.P.).—The Red Sox made it three out of four from Cleveland by taking the final game of the series today, 3 to 2, in 10 innings. It was the second extra-inning game of the series and the second time Wilcy Moore scored a win over the Indians in three days by fine relief pitching.

Wes Ferrell, Indian star hurler, allowed the Sox 13 hits. He weakened in the tenth and passed two men. Miller's rap through Hodapp brought in the winning run.

Moore relieved Hod Lisenbee in the seventh after Ferrell had tripled. The Cleveland pitcher later scored, but thereafter Moore was the master.

Short of Funds, French May Not EnterOlympiad

Paris, July 21 (A.P.).—The executive committee of the French Olympic Association decided today that insufficient funds were available to permit sending a French team to the 1932 Olympics at Los Angeles.

This decision, however, is subject to the action of the association as a whole. A general meeting is scheduled this Thursday for consideration of the problem of raising additional funds.

Court of Appeals Upholds Restrain Order on Carnera

NEW YORK, July 21 (A.P.).—An injunction granted Madison Square Garden of Illinois restraining Primo Carnera from fighting Jack Sharkey for a rival promoter was upheld today by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Judge John C. Knox in Federal Court issued the injunction several weeks ago ordering Carnera not to meet Sharkey until the Italian had gone through with a contract with the Garden to fight in September the winner of the recent Schmeling-Stribling title match in Cleveland. The decision was appealed but the new ruling has no actual affect now, however, inasmuch as Carnera recently signed a new contract to meet Schmeling and the German later called off the match because of an eye injury received in the Stribling victory.

The basis of the Court of Appeals ruling, written by Judge Harrie B. Chase, was that Judge Knox did not abuse his discretionary powers in ordering the Garden to file bonds of $60,000 to ensure Carnera against loss, and that the Garden contract with Carnera was valid.

Carnera may seek to recover the Garden bond because of Schmeling's withdrawal from the September match.

Clubs Approve Action On Newark's Protest

Buffalo, N. Y., July 21 (A.P.).—Representatives of clubs in the International League today approved the action of President Charles H. Knapp in rejecting Newark's protest of the game won by Baltimore on July 1. The protest was rejected because it was filed after the game instead of during it, the president said.

Thumb Injured, Klein May Be Out 3 Weeks

Peoria, Ill., July 21 (A.P.).—Chuck Klein, Philadelphia outfielder, leading home-run hitter in the National League, said today he believed he fractured his thumb in Cincinnati Sunday and that he might not be able to play for three weeks. He was to have the injury X-rayed on arrival in St. Louis today.

Robins Down Cubs Between Showers

Chicago, July 21 (A.P.).—The Brooklyn Robins captured a rain-interrupted game from the Cubs today, 4 to 3. The victory gave the Robins a 3-1 margin for the series and enabled them to leave Chicago two games ahead of the Cubs and 1½ games ahead of the third-place New York Giants.

CHICKAHOMINY, 12 TO 1, LASTS TO WIN EMPIRE FEATURE

Deploy Beats Scatter for 2d Place

Brilliant Bud Scores Popular Victory in Opener.

EMPIRE CITY RACE TRACK, N. Y., July 21 (A.P.).—With the local racing strip suddenly changed from fast to sloppy, favorite players failed to keep up their winning streak today. Long shots had their innings, and one of the outstanding upsets was the unexpected victory of Chickahominy in the Arrow Stakes, a claiming affair at about 6 furlongs. The gelding, which has not been close in recent starts, just lasted to win the purse for the Anall Stable at odds of 12 to 1.

The Pinetree Farm's Deploy, another outsider, was second, beating G. D. Widener's Scatter by three lengths. The Gen, favorite, was never prominent. After an avalanche of scratches, seven sprinters were left to compete. Chickahominy's time was 1:11 1-5 and he earned $2,690 by his hard-earned score.

Walls Rushes Mount To Front.

The start was good and Chickahominy was rushed to the fore by Jockey Walls. Deploy, Scatter and Squeaky followed in close pursuit. Smear and Glidelia were slow to leave and showed little speed in the going, while The Gen also performed indifferently. Chickahominy entered the stretch with Deploy still right alongside, but in the final drive Walls staged a powerful ride and Deploy hung just enough in the closing strides to lose the purse. Scatter closed fast in the stretch to get third money.

Brilliant Bud, well played at 13 to 5, scored a clever victory in the opening event, defeating the hot favorite, Zonda, with Dollar Princess third. The stirrup on Fator's tack broke and he pulled up Gift o' Gab. Brilliant Bud broke on top and made all the pace to win by a length in 1:02. Zonda took down the place by five lengths over Dollar Princess.

In one of the closests and most exciting finishes seen at the local track this summer occurred in the second race when Black Feather, Al Neiman and Hurry Bye came to the finish noses apart. It was a very close finish and Black Feather was handed the purse. Al Neiman was second and Hurry Bye third and Henry L. fourth. Hurry Bye and Black Feather alternated in the lead to the stretch, where Black Feather took command and held on gamely to win in 1:12 1-5. The winner paid 12 to 1.

Common Makes Show Of Field.

The G. D. Widener Common made a show of the field in the third. The gelding son of St. James showing a decidid liking for the muddy going, broke on top at the start and led all the way to win by four lengths. Insofar as the winner was concerned it was just a gallop. Common away on his toes liked the mud, ran into long lead and at no part of the five furlong journey was the result in doubt. Common beat Whisking four lengths while Lace Shawl was a length back. The time was 1:01 4-5.

Dr. Irving Jacobs' Rock Dun, 2 to 1, was a favorite to score. Gilded Arch was second and Farm Hand third. Gilded Arch led for seven furlongs but when Rock Dun challenged entering stretch he tired and the latter drew out to win galloping by eight lengths. Gilded Arch took the place by a head over Farm Hand with Highwood fourth a head away. The time was 1:50.

Xenofol, 2 to 5 choice, won the last event by a half length from Torealong. The latter beat the Tout three lengths for the place.

According to Murray Wade, publisher of the Oregon Magazine, in a baseball game between the Kirkpatricks, of Portland, and Salem, Ore., played in Salem in 1920, Duckey Holmes knocked a long fly into left field that was headed straight for the fence. Strangely enough, when the ball apparently hit the fence it disappeared completely. Upon investigation it was found that the baseball had gone through a knothole in the fence, giving Holmes a home run and Salem the game.

In scoring 108 points in a single basket ball game, Wilton Stibbs, center on the Shenandoah (Iowa) team, made 52 field goals and 4 free tosses.

to give him a berth which called for little throwing on account of his ailing arm, while Owen went to third because Harris wants to look at him on that side of the diamond. He came up as a shortstop and his best chance of making good is either there or at short. He is rated as too light a hitter for consideration as a first sacker, especially with the slugging Dale Alexander around.

Catcher Roy Spencer is expected to be back in the line-up by Saturday or Sunday. He tore a tendon in his right groin in Sunday's fracas with the Tigers, but the news was kept a deep, dark secret.

Bluege was picked off first in the second, but managed to elude Gehringer and Sorrell and get back to the bag in safety after a run-down.

Doljack and Johnson gave their interpretation of the famous "Alphonse-Gaston" act in the third on Sam Rice's looper, the center fielder finally dropping it for a two-base error. Two Nat runs scored on the muff. Ending the frame, Catcher Hayworth and Third Baseman Owen collided while chasing Harry Rice's pop, but the receiver managed to hang on to the ball.

Hargrave Is Robbed Of Hit by Walker.

Walker made a brilliant catch of Hargrave's drive in the fourth, grabbing the ball back by the scoreboard after a long run and holding on to it even though Johnson ran into him and knocked him down. Bluege, on second, had no idea that the catch could be made and so hustled around the bases, being an easy double-play victim.

Kuhel was on the job in the fifth. With Johnson on second and Gehringer on first, he noticed that the latter was napping, hustled to the bag and took Fischer's quick peg for the out, which ended the inning. With Walker, a left-handed hitter, up, the first sacker lulled Gehringer into thinking there would be no attempt to get him by playing deep.

An uncharged error by Cronin gave the Tigers their chance to score in the sixth and to threaten to do even more damage. After Walker, first up, was hit, the Nat shortstopper dropped Koenig's liner. He had an easy double-play had he held it. He recovered the ball in time to nail Koenig at first. Then Owen filed to Harry Rice for what should have been the third out.

Walker made a good target for Nat pitchers. Fischer hit him when he came up in the sixth and Hadley did the same thing in the next round. On this last occasion, it filled the bases with only one out.

The Tigers stole everything but Hargrave's uniform and equipment yesterday. When Gehringer pilfered in the eighth, it was the aliens' fourth theft of the game.

—Arlington Park Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

ARLINGTON PARK RACE TRACK, Chicago, July 21.—A banner crowd of turf patrons is expected to be on hand to witness the second running of the rich Arlington Matron Handicap today. This feature has attracted a list of ten of the leading three-year-old and upward, fillies and mares, which will be sent after the $10,000 added value of the prize at one mile. Among the entries is VALENCIENNES, a winner of the stake last year.

CON AMORE, from the J. W. Y. Martin Stable has been training smartly with this stake in view, and is at the top of her form. In her last performance, the daughter of High Cloud led home a clever group of her sex, stepping the six furlong distance in 1:10 4-5, a fifth a second behind the track record. On her present condition, the Martin colors should be carried to victory. Stern opposition will be furnished by the Mrs. J. D. Hertz entry of VALENCIENNES and RISQUE. The former has not shown to her best this year but her stable mate will battle it out with the top one. COUSIN JO finished behind CON AMORE in their last meeting and should finish in the money.

FIRST RACE—MEXICO has raced with better company than he meets here and is favored to graduate from this group of non-winners. MAD WIND followed the top one home last start and under identical conditions should finish in the runner-up position.

SECOND RACE—Six hedgetoppers will contest the $2,000 purse in the Springbrook Steeplechase. TOD SLOAN showed a splendid effort last outing and rates the call. ACROBATE II fenced well in his previous outing and should gain the place, with FICHET, a recent winner over the hurdles, selected for the show end of the purse.

THIRD RACE—OSCILLATION, a highly regarded juvenile from the Longridge Stable, finished second to Colonial Belle in her last effort. The Blondin filly has also turned in a winning race at this track and should show the way to her rivals. GALA FLIGHT was beaten four lengths by OSCILLATION and, although the Watkins youngster is dropping 1 pound off that effort, she rates the place, with ALL ROWES, from the Mrs. K. E. Hitts Stable, given the show call.

FOURTH RACE—MORE POWER figures to score over his eleven rivals. TRY IT, a sluggish beginner, has the class of this group, but may have to overcome interference. ALBAZANO has trained well after a brief letup and appears best of the others.

SIXTH RACE—SILVERDALE showed a clever performance last start to finish second to Paul Bunyan after setting all the pace over the mile distance. With that effort as a final conditioner, the J. P. Schorr color bearer should annex the purse. BEST MAN will furnish stern opposition. GOLDEN PRINCE, winner of the Michigan Handicap, is favored for the show.

SEVENTH RACE—CABILDO should lead his nine opponents to the wire. MACEDON has raced consistently lately and is given the place call, with FAIR BETH selected to gain the show honors.

EIGHTH RACE—GORMOND, a steady racer in the Reichert string, and winner of his last, should account for the purse. DUNMORE will appreciate the long route and may finish in the runner-up position, with DABSTER holding a slight edge over the others for third money.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—DANCING BOY, $15.46, $9.72, $7.82; RUFFIAN, $29.62, $16.82; PLAYING, $9.02.

DANCING BOY had the most early speed and, taking a short lead soon after the start, stood a hard stretch drive gamely to last to win. RUFFIAN met with some interference in the early running, but closed fast on the outside and would have won in another stride. PLAYING was in close quarters after going half the distance, but continued in game fashion. CHATTER ON was also crowded early. NIGHT VINTAGE met with some interference. SEMESTER and ELEANOR'S CHOICE displayed early speed. LINGUIST broke slowly and was far back all the way. ROKEBY had some early speed.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:46. Off at 2:53½. Winner, King Bruce Stable's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—OUTER HARBOR, $10.36, $6.36, $3.96; COPPERFIELD, $5.96, $3.76; DACITE, $5.00.

OUTER HARBOR, prominently placed soon after the start, came samely through the stretch and got the decision in a driving finish, but pulled up sore. COPPERFIELD, well up throughout, took a short lead in the stretch and held on gamely. DACITE stepped back slightly after going dangerously with a better race. ANNIE REE was going well at finish BAG SMASHER was in tight quarters after the start and was never dangerous. LILLIAN TOBIN displayed early speed, but tired. GREY KITTY was used up making the pace.

THIRD RACE—One mile (Hertz course, out of chute). Purse, $1,500; claiming. For maiden 2-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:21. Off at 3:24. Winner, L. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BLACK BULL, $9.44, $4.50, $4.62; PAL TO PAL, $8.38, $4.74; DUSKY BOY, $4.62.

BLACK BULL saved ground where possible and, taking a short lead entering the stretch, held on samely to best PAL TO PAL. Latter gained steadily in the last half mile and, challenging in determined fashion in the final eighth, barely missed. DUSKY BOY, in early running, was shut off and made up much ground. SWEET AIR acted badly at the barrier and started from the outside, broke well, but could not keep up with the leaders, although racing evenly to the finish. ATLIL, shuffled back after the start, made up much ground and would have been dangerous but for being blocked repeatedly while trying to get through on the inside in the stretch run. ORANGE PLUME and HIGH POCKETS tired. JOHN R. was in close quarters after the start.

FOURTH RACE—One and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,600; allowances. Cairo Purse. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:55. Off at 3:56. Winner, Audley Farm's b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—HIGH DEVINE, $12.90, $4.18, $3.12; PHANTOM LEGION, $2.78, $2.36; FREDERICK, $2.96.

HIGH DEVINE, showing sudden great improvement over his last effort, set a fast pace and, shaking off PHANTOM LEGION in the final eighth, was going away at the finish. PHANTOM LEGION, in second position throughout, challenged strongly in the stretch, but weakened in the last sixteenth. FREDERICK ran in spots and was going well at the finish. DESERT SUN was sharply blocked in the first quarter, then moved up close to the leaders, but was forced wide at the stretch turn and was tiring at end. TOMMIE KIRNAN displayed some early speed. The others were outpaced.

FIFTH RACE—One mile (Hertz course, out of chute). Purse, $1,500; claiming. For Palestine Purse. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:24½. Off at 4:24½. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CALF ROPER, $41.04, $10.58, $5.76; DARK SEA, $3.14, $2.52; MINOTAUR, $5.52.

CALF ROPER broke up fast on the outside after going a half and, although forced to race a trifle wide at the stretch turn, caught MINOTAUR in the final eighth and held away to the finish to win under a drive. DARK SEA, easily best, was in close quarters next the rail for the first five furlongs and was blocked repeatedly, but continued gamely and, coming with a rush when clear in the stretch, would have won in a few more strides. MINOTAUR, close up from the start, took a short lead at stretch turn and raced samely to the end. MORSEL met with considerable interference. MODERN TIMES tired after forcing the early pace. SATIN SPAR was done after going six furlongs.

SIXTH RACE—One mile (Hertz course, out of chute). Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:55. Off at 4:57½. Winner, C. E. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BETON, $9.14, $5.08, $3.84; STOP GAP, $6.76, $4.30; TARNISH, $13.54.

BETON took command after going a quarter and, racing well in the going, withstood the challenge of STOP GAP to lead to the finish. The latter was prominent from the start, but was tiring slightly at the end. TARNISH acted badly at the barrier and was slow to get going, but closed an immense gap to finish fastest of all. VOLTMETER went fairly well on a track which was to his liking. SAM PASS loomed up dangerously at the far turn, but weakened in the run home.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:25. Off at 5:27. Winner, F. Reuter's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—GALAHAD, $5.18, $3.20, $2.78; PLEASE, $5.96, $3.72; MONTANARO, $2.50.

GALAHAD, far back for over half the distance, came fast on the outside when called upon and, wearing down PLEASE, was going away at the finish. PLEASE broke quickly and, opening up a long lead in the early running, held on fairly well, but could not resist winner. MONTANARO made up some ground, but did not threaten first two. DIXIE LAD improved his position slightly under punishment, but was never dangerous. RIVER FOREST stopped badly after going six furlongs.

NATS BEATEN BY TIGERS IN FINAL

Irving Hadley had a chance to save the game for the young southpaw, but he quickly filled the bases by walking one Tiger and hitting another and stood to win or lose himself when a hit followed, knotting the string. He had troubles in the eighth and lost the verdict in the ninth when Koenig singled and Hayworth tripled.

The Nationals did not deserve to win, and it was only because of alien miscues that they were in the running. Vic Sorrell did the flinging for the visitors and he turned in an exceptionally well-pitched game. He allowed but seven hits, half as many as were garnered from the combined offerings of Fischer and Hadley, and all of Washington's runs were unearned.

Cronin's Uncharged "Boot" Hurts.

Sam Rice was charged with the lone native error and this did no harm. An uncharged one by Cronin figured prominently, however, as it enabled the visitors to coin their run in the sixth. After Walker had been hit, the hit-and-run was on with Koenig up and he lined to Cronin. Had the shortstop held the ball, an easy double play would have resulted, for Walker was almost to second at the time.

No miscue was charged, because the short-fielder recovered the ball in time to make the out at first. Had this double play been made, Owen's fly, which followed, would have ended the round and Hayworth, who later singled the runner home, would not have even come up to the tee.

That the Tigers had many scoring chances is indicated by the fact that they had fourteen stranded—almost enough to populate a small town. In only one inning, the second, were they set down in one, two, three order. All of their markers were earned and what kept them from not doing more damage was the fact that they were limited to two blows per frame, getting this many safeties in no less than six. They also benefited from two hit batsmen and three walks. And, with the residents' lead always small, the fans were given plenty of worries.

Error Helps Nats Go To Front.

One was out when the Nats started their splurge in the third. Then Hargrave singled and Fischer fanned. West's drive down the first-base line skidded under a gate into the stands and so was limited to two bases, with Hargrave held at third. Sam Rice then dropped a Texas leaguer in short right, both Johnson and Doljack closing in for it. The latter finally called to take it and, instead of making the third out, contributed a two-base error, Hargrave and West registering and the batter carrying on to second. He counted on Cronin's single to left.

Despite another error in this inning, other "boots" in two others, and a walk, only one Nat got as far as third over the balance of the route, although a brilliant catch by Walker was need

LATZO, BERLENBACH HERE TONIGHT

2 Ex-Champs Top Laurel Program

Weiss, Weiner Face Star; Fullam in Special Event.

34 Rounds Scheduled in Six Bouts in Mid-City Arena.

RESUMING operations after an intermission of nearly three weeks, the Midcity Boxing Club tonight offers in its second show in the Laurel arena 34 rounds of action featured by the appearance of two nationally known flistic figures—Pete Latzo, former welterweight champion, and "Punch 'Em Paul" Berlenbach, once king of the light heavies. The milling in the first of four preliminaries begins at 8:30 o'clock.

Chief interest among the fans, of course, centers in the appearance of Latzo and Berlenbach, the most famous ring gladiators to show in this vicinity since old Johnny Dundee met "Honey Boy" Finnegan in the Washington Auditorium in 1925.

Latzo is to engage a tough young Philadelphia Hebrew, Sammy Weiss, whom he defeated in two previous clashes by close margins. The contest is scheduled for 10 rounds. Berlenbach will oppose a taller, heavier man in Herman Weiner, of Baltimore, over a five-round route.

Weiss Promises Latzo Trouble.

That Latzo, an Italian from Scranton, Pa., will be called on to exhibit his best was indicated last night with the arrival of Weiss and the latter's manager, Al Lippe. The Philadelphians exuberated confidence with Weiss almost boasting that he is a better man than Latzo and will prove it in this third meeting.

"Sam's trained to the minute," Manager Lippe declared. "The thing foremost in his mind for the past two weeks has been to whip Latzo decisively. He is burning up for revenge for those two losses. Sam is going to carry the fight to Pete, you can bet on it."

In the event Weiss forces the mixing, as is expected, some rousing slugging likely will ensue. Never one to give ground, Latzo undoubtedly will meet the lad at least half way.

Berlenbach Still Boasts Sock.

Berlenbach, whose walloping established him as a sensation only a few years ago, has lost some of his championship form, but still boasts a sock that has accounted for several recent knockouts. Weiner, the larger of the two, has been groomed carefully for this test, but is to enter the ring on the short end.

Frankie Fullam, Catholic University boxing star of 1929, makes his professional bow in the role of a favorite when he takes on Sam Finazzo, Baltimore, in another five rounder. Frank last spring annexed the National A. A. U. middleweight title under the management of Dan Hickey, who coaches him tonight.

Buses Available For Trip.

Special buses furnished by White Line Tours are to be stationed at Ninth and E streets northwest, Ninth street and New York avenue northwest, Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, and North Capitol and H streets northwest. They depart for the fight site at 7:30 o'clock promptly.

The ticket sale continues today at Goldie Ahearn's, 500 Ninth street northwest; Vic Sport Shop, 716 Ninth street northwest; Curb Lunch, 714 H street northeast, and Spalding's, 1338 G street northwest.

Columbia Engine Nine Seeks Alexandria Series Honors

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 21.—Bolstered by the acquisition of two new hard-hitting outfielders, Columbia Engine Company's diamond outfit is preparing to make a strong bid for the local amateur unlimited championship in the Alexandria Gazette series due to get under way shortly.

"Buddy" Zimmerman, who has been playing a bang-up game for the Howard A. French Co. Team, of Washington, and Ellett Cabell, a member of the Virginia White Sox nine until several days ago, have been signed by Coach "Gillie" Lee to finish out the season with the Firemen.

The two new gardeners round out the strongest team ever presented by the Fire Fighters, in the opinion of Coach Lee, who is making a determined effort to whip his club in shape for the titular campaign. The Columbias won the city amateur crown last summer and are anxious to cop top honors for the second consecutive year.

Many New Players On Club.

Among Lee's charges are Lester McMenamin, who turned in one of the best pitching efforts of the year when he held the Culpeper All-Stars to three hits and shut them out, 1 to 0, last week for the Fraters; Dave Shapiro, "Hoodla" Elliott, Teddy Sutherland, Larry Kersey, Billy Travers, Zimmerman, Cabell, Lecky Nowland, Bobby Darley, Noble Smith, Purvis, Vance, Bradley, Snellings, Simpson and Berman.

The Fire Fighters' pitching staff, composed of Bernard Vance, Vincent Bradley, Ashby Snellings, George Simpson and McMenamin rates on a par with any performing on the sandlots in this sector.

Lee announced today that a special practice will be held Friday as one of the workouts he has planned in order to select his starting nine for the city championship grind. Saturday games will be played as another means of whipping his team into shape.

Friday's workout will be held on Richard Haydon Field starting at 5:15 o'clock and players who hope to perform for the Firemen in the Gazette series must attend the drill or remain on the bench, according to Lee.

Lee's club is without a game for Sunday afternoon but will book some speedy unlimited nine from Washington or vicinity for a battle at Haydon Field. The Saturday game policy will be inaugurated next week.

Cardinal A. C. tossers will travel to Annandale in search of additional diamond laurels this week-end, meeting the strong Annandale A. C. Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the second game of a home-and-home series.

Plans for the contest were completed last night by Sam DeVaughan, pilot of the Breenmen, and a hard workout has been called for 5 o'clock Friday to prepare for the battle. Coach "Coodles" Owens will be in charge of the drill.

The Cardinal nine holds one victory over the Annandale outfit, pushing across a run in the ninth inning of the game between the two teams here last Sunday to cop a 9-to-8 decision.

Art Ludlow, slugging manager of the St. Mary's Celtics, will give "Doc" Dreifus the call to pitch against Naval Hospital Sunday afternoon when the Washington Sailors come to Baggett's Park for the third of a five-game series.

Dreifus has won four games for the Green and Gold this year, including a pair of shutouts and a 1-hit, no-run performance, and is hoping to give the Celtics an edge in the setto with the Gobs. Each team now holds one victory.

One of the hardest games on the Colonial A. C. scheduled is billed for Bill Hammond's charges Sunday afternoon with the Rambler A. C. coming here from Washington for a contest at 3 o'clock off Guckert's Field.

Ted Miller, energetic manager of the Del Ray A. C., will pit his proteges against the powerful Isherwood A. C. of Washington in the regular Sabbath attraction at Edward Duncan Field this week-end. Play will start at 3 o'clock.

Isherwood scored a notable victory over another northern Virginia club last Sunday when it downed the Jefferson District Fire Department tossers at Virginia Highlands.

American, Gallaudet Play Shepherd Team

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., July 21.—Shepherd College's 1931 football team will play only one game at Shepherdstown, according to its schedule, which has just been released. One game is carded for Martinsburg, the Shepherds deciding to stage their annual battle with Potomac State College in this city on October 17.

American University, of Washington, is to be the opponent on the Shepherdstown gridiron, while Shippensburg (Pa.) Normal School, Fairmont (W. Va.) Teachers College, Shenandoah College, of Dayton, Va., and Gallaudet College, of Washington, are to be met on foreign fields. Incidentally the schedule is the shortest in the history of the Jeffersonians.

Mangan Net Winner At Ocean City, N. J.

Special to The Washington Post.

Ocean City, N. J., July 21.—Tom Mangan, veteran Washington, D. C., player, advanced to the fourth round of the singles in the Atlantic Coast tennis championship tournament here today by defeating Win Carter, dashing Rice Institute star, in straight sets, 6—3, 6—4.

Mangan, exhibing his steady backs court game, was forced to extend himself at all times to gain the decision. Carter's energetic returns kept the Capital player busy, but Mangan was always ready with a point-making placement at crucial moments. Donald Morrison, also of Washington, defaulted to C. C. Sharp, Cohansey Country Club, in the first round.

Betty Robinson May Return to Competition

Chicago, July 21 (A.P.).—Betty Robinson, Olympic sprint queen whose career was believed terminated by an airplane crash, may run again.

Harry Robinson, father of the speedy little Riverdale girl, said today physicians predicted his daughter's leg would mend to the same length as the other and that she would be able to compete again within a year.

Cheerful and talkative, Miss Robinson received her first visitors in an infirmary since the accident last June 28, when a plane piloted by her cousin, Wilson Palmer, fell. She had been training for the Olympic games in Los Angeles next year, hoping to repeat the 100-meter dash triumph she scored in Paris in 1928.

"It will be months before she can leave the hospital," Robinson said, "and more months in a wheel chair and on crutches. Within a year she will be fully recovered. Her broken arm and internal injuries are expected to heal completely, too."

Burrows, Connelly Tie In Public Links Tourney

Complete First Half With 158 Cards for 36 Holes; Large D. C. Delegation in Maryland Country Club Tourney.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

WITH 72 holes medal play as the competition for the public links championship of the District and with 36 ended yesterday, there remained an additional 36 on the program for today. With one-half of the contest completed there is a tie for first place between Bradley H. Burrows, the defending champion, and John J. Connelly, the 15-year-old golfer who learned his game as a caddy on the Rock Creek course.

Both have a total of 158 and both are members of the team which will represent Washington in the national public links tournament.

Connelly Rallies to Gain Tie.

Burrows has played two consistent rounds of 79 each to gain first place but Connelly came from behind in great fashion, for his score was 81 for the first eighteen holes. Yesterday, however, he negotiated the course in 77 strokes, the best card of the day, as follows:

Out 3 3 4 6 2 3 6 5 4 — 36
In 4 6 5 4 5 5 5 4 3 — 41 — 77

Although Burrows and Connelly now head the list there are at least three others within striking distance. John M. Downey is one stroke behind with 81—78—159, while G. C. Bannerman and Everett R. Johnson are only 160 each. Downey led the field with 78 on the first day, but Duncan H. Brooks, who was then only one stroke behind, slipped badly yesterday, requiring 84 strokes. Today there will be only twenty-three starters, for many of the players yesterday succumbed both to the heat and to the knowledge that they were too far in the rear ever to hope for a show of winning. The feature of yesterday's play was the ace secured by Herbert G. Dorsey on the fifth hole of course A. The scores:

159—John M. Downey, 78—82.
162—Herbert G. Dorsey, 81—81.
163—Joseph Micker, 82—81; R. R. Hair, 85—78; Duncan H. Brooks, 79—84.
164—Harlan Will, 86—78.
170—E. H. Knibiehly, 86—84.
171—Astor H. Clark, 82—89.
176—Robert Michelet, 89—87; Arthur F. Carroll, 88—90.
177—T. T. Harrow, 88—89; Maynard Hamma, 89—88.
178—James Thornton, 90—88.
180—Artin Brown, 94—86.
185—Leonard Berman, 89—94.
189—E. D. Burch, 98—91.

A delegation of Washington golfers will leave for Baltimore this morning to compete in the annual invitation golf tournament of the Maryland Country Club. The first Washington pair, Dr. George W. Mansfield and Howard Eales, Indian Spring, will start at 12:55 and will be followed at short intervals thereafter by Joseph T. Sherrier, Columbia, and J. F. M. Bowie, Columbia; Forrest Thompson, Indian Spring; Walter Skinker, Columbia, and Hugh Mackenzie, Columbia; J. B. Murphy, Columbia, and Dr. Robert L. Eller, Columbia. The main body of Washington entrants are scheduled for tomorrow, and will probably number 30 or 40. The qualification round closes tomorrow afternoon and will be followed by pairings for match play in fixe sixteens, the final round to be played on Saturday afternoon.

Big D. C. Entry List Tomorrow.

The real invasion of Washington golfers starts tomorrow, however, when 30 or more will compete. Those entered, with their starting times, are:

9:55, Wilson Barrett, Indian Spring G. C.; H. A. Mihills, Indian Spring G. C.; 10:00, Jack Powell, Columbia C. C.; 10:25, George J. Richardson, Indian Spring; E. A. Mirkle, Indian Spring; 11:00, J. F. Sullivan, Indian Spring; 11:05 Robert Gormley, Columbia; 11:15, Bynum E. Hurton, Columbia; 11:25, L. I. Stratton, Indian Spring; 11:35, W. M. Kochenderfer, Columbia; 11:45, I. C. Hodges, Columbia; 11:55, W. G. Mitchell, Indian Spring; 12:00, M. A. Shipley, Columbia; 12:10, H. N. Graves, jr., Indian Spring; Ralph S. Fowler, Washington Golf and C. C.

12:15, J. W. Harvey, jr., Indian Spring; H. L. Lacey, Indian Spring; 12:20, Ralph Fleharty, Washington Golf and C. C.; A. W. Howard, Washington Golf and C. C.; 12:30, George P. Howard, Washington Golf and C. C.; 12:35, Roy Marman, Washington Golf and C. C.; B. C. Brown, Washington Golf and C. C.; 12:40, W. W. Curtiss, Indian Spring; Maj. F. M. Davison, Indian Spring; 1:00, L. W. Laudick, Columbia; 1:05, C. J. Demoll, Columbia; 1:20, B. E. Hinton, Columbia; 1:25, John Holzberg, Columbia; 1:55, Leroy Sasscer, Indian Spring; 2:00, Monro Hunter, Indian Spring.

Sixteen employes of the Park Amusement Co., the organization which controls the East and West Potomac Park and the Rock Creek Park courses under the management of S. G. Leoffler, yesterday began their second annual golf tournament, eighteen holes match play. The winner will receive a diamond-studded medal, while a silver medal will be awarded to the runner-up. The last event was won by Al Farr, who has entered to defend his title.

The American Legion junior golf tournament, open to boys 17 years of age and under, began yesterday on East Potomac Park. Qualifying rounds will be played this week, ending Saturday. A number of handsome prizes have been secured. There is a large entry list.

FORT SIGNS BARRY AND STRICKLER

Battlers Agree to 10-Rounder to Top Card Monday.

ACCEPTING a defi hurled by Billy Strickler after the latter sprung back into prominence ten days ago, Reds Barry, through his manager, Patsy Donovan, last night agreed to meet Strickler next Monday night in the feature bout at Fort Washington.

The bout is scheduled over the ten-round route, the number of rounds having been determined upon only after considerable discussion among the principals, their representatives and officials of the Fort Washington A. A.

Strickler challenged Barry immediately following the former's decisive victory over Joe Finazzo, of Baltimore, on July 13. He especially asked for a fifteen-round fight on the winner-take-all basis.

Barry Declines to Go 15 Rounds.

It was learned last night that Donovan turned down the proposal of a fifteen-round bout, contending that the route was too long for Barry. A compromise of twelve rounds was offered, but he insisted on nothing more than ten.

This will be the third meeting between Strickler and Barry, and the former seeks to atone, partially at least, for a pair of defeats suffered at Reds' hands more than a year ago in Hagerstown, Md. In each of the previous clashes Barry outpointed Billy by virtue of superior boxing ability and speed.

Strickler made an impressive comeback ten days ago at the fort after a nine months' lay-off. Although Finazzo resorted to much holding, Strickler succeeded in scoring heavily with a body attack at close range. It is expected that he will rely on this sort of offense next Monday.

Both principals are now in training.

The remainder of the program will be announced within a day or two. Efforts are being made to match Billy Schwartz, Alexandria lightheavy, against a suitable opponent in an eight-round semifinal. Four bouts of four rounds each will round out the card.

Orange County Boosters Beat Ramblers, 8 to 5

Special to The Washington Post.

Orange, Va., July 21.—The Boosters from Orange County won an exciting game from the Orange Ramblers here today, 8 to 5. The Boosters scored one run in each of the first three innings and allowed the Ramblers one in the fourth, but in the first of the seventh the latter team scored four runs to take a two-run lead. When the Boosters came to bat Grim, pitcher for the Ramblers, walked two and started his opponents on a similar scoring rally, which gave them the game.

MARTINSBURG NETMEN LOSE

Martinsburg, W. Va., July 21.—The Martinsburg Tennis Club met defeat at the hands of the Winchester (Va.) Tennis Club, an ancient rival, in the first meeting of the year between the outfit. Shields, No. 1 player at Washington and Lee University, was the star of the meet, trimming Thomas, this city, a star at Hampden-Sidney College, 6—0 and 6—0. Winchester won three of five singles matches and split in the doubles.

HOSE COMPANY DIVIDES.

Martinsburg, W. Va., July 21.—Hose Company No. 5 split even in two games here with the Cumberland (Md.) Baltimore & Ohio team, winning the first 9 to 0 and losing the second 7 to 3. In the opener Rube Orem, former Blue Rridge League hurler, was on the mound for the locals and allowed the Marylanders only five hits. Corrigan, erstwhile Middle Atlantic League pitcher, turned in a victory for the visitors in the second game.

MRS. MOODY NEARS ESSEX NET FINALS

Mrs. Moody's backhands ended in the net and she was also forced into overdriving the lines the same number of times. She outscored the New York girl twenty placements to eleven and three aces to none.

Marjorie Morrill, of Dedham, last year's winner, shared the day's honors with Mrs. Moody by out-wearing Dorothy Andrus, last week's winner at Longwood, in a 6—3, 13—11 match that lasted almost 90 minutes. During the marathon set, Miss Andrus reached set point seven times, only to be caught by her rival.

Mrs. Lawrence A. Harper, of Santa Barbara, Calif., entered the third last bracket with a 6—3, 6—2 win over Mrs. J. Dallas Corbiere, of Southboro. Mary Greef, Kansas City, qualified for a meeting tomorrow with Mrs. Harper, by disposing of Cecilia Riegel, Philadelphia, in 6—3, 6—4 fashion.

Sarah Palfrey, only one of four Brookline sisters to survive the two days' singles racqueteering, shared the same quarter finals bracket with Miss Morrill, by advancing over Mrs. John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, 6—2, 8—10, 8—6.

Miss Hilleary drew her dubious Wednesday assignment against Mrs. Moody by nosing Mianne Palfrey out of a 6—3, 4—6, 6—3 match, and in the struggle for the bottom quarter-finals bracket Dorothy Weisel, Sacramento, defeated Edith Sigourney, Boston, 6—2, 2—6, 6—2, and another Californian, Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana, overcame another Easterner, Baroness Levi, New York, in another overtime contest, 6—2.

The first two rounds of the doubles play which Mrs. Moody did not enter, were run off today.

Officers will be elected at the next meeting of the directors. Present officers are: C. L. Robey, president; M. N. Lyon, vice-president, and H. T. Pancoast, secretary-treasurer.

Seeded Netmen Win In South Atlantic

Sedgefield Country Club, Greensboro, N. C., July 21 (A.P.).—Seven seeded players swept through their second-round singles matches with two-set victories today in the South Atlantic tennis tournament.

The other member of the select list, Jimmy Poole, of Greensboro, No. 6, will play his second-round contest tomorrow, meeting Sidney Payne, jr., of Greensboro, a member of the Yale Freshman Net Team. Poole defeated Bob Proctor, Charlotte, 7—5, 6—4, today in the first round.

Wilmer Hines, of Columbia, S. C., No. 1, had the hardest second-round encounter of any of the favorites. He turned back Harley Shuford, Hickory, N. C., 6—3, 9—7, and will meet the winner of the Poole-Payne match tomorrow.

The other seeded entrants had walkaways. Lefty Bryan, Chattanooga, No. 2, defeated Charles Myers, jr., Greensboro, 6—2, 6—2, and Jack Mooney, Atlanta, won by the same score over Harvey Harris, Raleigh. Lenoir Wright, Charlotte, No. 4, beat Cliff Flowers, Rockingham, N. C., 6—1, 6—3; Melvin Tarpley, Tampa, Fla., No. 5, ousted Slim Kendall, Shelby, N. C., 6—1, 6—1; Lucas Abels, High Point, N. C., No. 7, defeated John Strong, Raleigh, 6—0, 6—1, and Arthur Hendrix, Lakeland, Fla., No. 8, advanced by a 6—2, 6—2 victory over Howard Holderness, Greensboro.

The doubles matches will begin tomorrow.

RAIN STOPS CARNERA.

ORANGE HORSE SHOW IS UNDER WAY TODAY

More Than 50 Owners Send 560 Entries for Annual Exhibition.

Special to The Washington Post.

Orange, Va., July 21.—The thirty-second annual exhibition of the Orange horse show, leading social and sporting event of the season, gets under way here tomorrow morning, continuing through Thursday.

Five hundred and sixty entries, made by more than 50 owners, indicate full classes. Almost every county in eastern and northern Virginia is represented in the entry list, and there are scattered entries from the District of Columbia, Delaware and Kentucky. Two races each day across country over a flagged course will augment the show ring exhibitions.

Cathode Ray, chestnut owned by Miss Elizabeth Nesbit, of Warrenton, who won the hunter championship at the Culpeper horse show this year and thereby a second leg on the Blanche Ortman Challenge Cup, is entered in several classes. This 6-year-old son of Omar Khayam won the grand championship of the Culpeper show, taking nine firsts in the events. In winning second leg on the Blanche Ortman Challenge Cup, Miss Nesbit becomes the only exhibitor to have made two wins since it was first offered in 1925.

Cathode Ray's first appearance in the ring tomorrow will be in the class for lightweight hunters, which has thirteen entries. Other entries in the event are: Bell of Erwin, owned by Mrs. Thomas H. Somerville; Miss Nesbit's Sportsman; Golden Grail and Running Sands, owned by the Benton Stables, Middleburg; Princess Royal and Duchess O'Dare, by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Corley, of Richmond; W. B. Bogert's Gay Cockade and Rocking Moon; Rivarra, owned by Mrs. John C. Stuart, of Keswick; Horrent, owned by John W. McComb, of Wilmington, Del.; Chatterplay, owned by Ernest Woolf, of Upperville, and Mint Julep, owned by W. W. Osborne, Gordonsville.

51 Horses to Parade.

Fifty-one horses will parade in the class for green hunters, presented by Wallace D. Kimball, of Orange. Money prizes go to the first three winners. Forty-four entries are listed in the hunter hack class. Among exhibitors are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Somerville, of Montpelier Farm; the Misses Elizabeth and Edith Nesbit, of Warrenton; W. B. Bogert, Keswick; Mrs. R. M. Brady and Mrs. H. T. Holladay, jr., Rapidan; James N. Andrews, Somerset; Mrs. Allen Potts and W. W. Osborne, Gordonsville; E. B. Sydnor, Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Carter, Orange; Dr. W. B. Newcomb, Norfolk; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gorley, Richmond; Mrs. D. N. Lee, Middleburg, and J. J. Wodriff, Somerset. John C. Stuart, master of the hunt, of the Keswick Hunt, has entered in this class his chestnut gelding, In The Gloaming.

The old guard class, presented by E. B. Sydnor, of Richmond, will be one of the interesting features of the exhibition. Regulations governing this class call for riders to have been members, prior to 1906, of an organized hunt, or, if invited, to have ridden in colors over four jumps of standard height. Hands, seat and skill of rider will count 50 per cent, and performance of horse 50 per cent. Among the nineteen exhibitors listed in this class is Dr. L. S. Ricketts, of Orange, one of the organizers of the show.

Thirty-three hunters will contest for the plate in the Corinthian class, presented by the Montpelier Horse Show. All riders are to be costumed in hunting colors. Conformation will count 25 per cent, and performance 75 per cent.

Followers of the hounds will be interested in the class for hunt teams. Five will compete for the trophy in this class, presented by Mrs. Thomas H. Somerville. The trophy has to be won three times by the same exhibitor before becoming his property. This event last year was won by David B. Smith's Hunt Team, Warrenton, and who will again compete this year.

Vie for Montpelier Trophy.

Exhibitors competing for the Montpelier Trophy are: Mrs. Allen Potts, Anthony and George Rives, Lieut. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Curtin, Julian H. Morris, and Miss Edith Nesbit.

Mrs. August Wambersie's black gelding, Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Corley's Duchess O'Dare and Princess Royal, Miss Nesbit's Cathode Ray, and Dr. E. T. Trice's Fortune Teller, are among the sixteen entries in the Horse Shoe Cup Class open to all.

In the event for ladies' hunters, to be ridden by ladies over regulation jumps not to exceed 4 feet, 35 will compete. Mrs. Thomas H. Somerville has entered a trio composed of Love Match, Belle of Erin and Phenolax. M. W. Carter will send in a quartet composed of Reap, Palamon, Country Club and House Boy. W. W. Osborne will send in Mint Julep and Spring Morning. W. B. Bogert's entries will include Gay Cockade and Rocking Moon. Meander Farm will have two entries, Inkee and Cut Sugar. Cathode Ray, Squiffy and Sportsman will be ridden by the Misses Nesbit. Mrs. A. C. Wambersie will send in her black gelding, Breemen.

There are 30 entries in the open stake class for hunters and 15 in the class for middle and heavyweight hunters. In the class for "Pair of Hunters," presented by J. E. Hempstead, Chicago, Ill., there are eleven exhibitors, and seventeen will compete for the Montebello Cup, presented by Walter G. Dunnington, Orange and New York.

The pony classes, in which there are 52 entries, will be an interesting feature both days.

Faber Woman Buried Near Albemarle Line

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., July 21.—Mrs. Laura R. Mawyer, wife of William Mawyer, died yesterday morning at her home at Faber, just across the Albemarle line, after a prolonged illness. Funeral was at 3 o'clock this afternoon, conducted by the pastor of the Methodist Church at Faber. Interment was in the cemetery at the church.

Mrs. Mawyer was Miss Laura Dudley, daughter of the late George Dudley, of Albemarle County, and was 81 years of age. Besides her husband she is survived by several children.

MURDER COMPLICITY IS DENIED BY EPPARD

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., July 21.—Russell Eppard, 32, Blue Ridge Mountain logger, denied in Rockingham Circuit Court here today he was implicated in the shooting to death of his neighbor, Robert Davis, 56, at Furnace, in Northeast Rockingham on April 9, last. Eppard contradicted all statements Charles Rufus Lam, 24, now serving a life sentence for the actual shooting, that he (Eppard) got Lam drunk and inspired him to do the shooting.

Eppard is charged with complicity in the murder for which Lam was convicted at the May term of court. Eppard occupied the witness stand for two hours today reciting his movements before and after the shooting. All evidence was completed late today and the case probably will go to the jury late tomorrow.

The defendant denied that he held any grudge against Davis who, Lam charged, was a moonshine rival of Eppard and admitted that he had helped to arrest Lam on several occasions for law violations. The defense contends that Lam is accusing Eppard of a part in the slaying in order to get even. Charles Slye, also indicted for complicity in the killing, testified today that neither he nor Eppard had any part in the slaying. Both he and Eppard contended that Lam shot Davis to protect the honor of his younger sister, whom Davis was accused of wronging.

Slye's trial will not be held at this term of court. Lam admitted at his trial that he shot Davis five times and that he left Eppard and Slye at the woodpile in front of the Davis home. Lam went to the homes of Eppard and Slye after the shooting and asked them to accompany him to a nearby store, where he surrendered to officers.

Eppard denied that there was a prearrangement that Lam should come to him after the shooting and that he (Eppard) would take care of him. Defense witnesses substantiated the testimony of Lam, who appeared for the State, that Lam, a deserter from the United States Army, was alone behind the Davis house at the time of the shooting.

Bull Run Battlefield Annual Picnic Held

Special to The Washington Post.

Manassas, Va., July 22.—Annual basket picnic and memorial service commemorative of the Battle of Massassas was held today on the Henry House Hill, near Manassas, under auspices of Washington Camp, No. 305, Sons of Confederate Veterans, and trustees of Manassas Battlefield Confederate Park, Inc.

Among speakers were David L. Pulliam, of Richmond; Col. C. Seymour Bullock, C. J. Meetze and Mrs. Lucy Steele Clay, of Washington, president of Mary Taliaferro Thompson Memorial Association. Mrs. Clay spoke on the proposed museum to be erected on the battlefield. John W. Rust, president of the Battlefield Association, presided.

Southern Presbyterians Have 443,495 in School

Montreat, N. C., July 21 (A.P.).—R. E. Magill, of Richmond, Va., secretary of the executive committee of religious education and publication of the Southern Presbyterian Church, reported today the church's Sunday schools had a membership of 443,495 during the last year.

The Sunday schools, Mr. Magill reported, contributed $382,991, to benevolent causes of the church and $429,486 to current Sunday school expenses. During the year 9,631 of 19,987 members added to the church were Sunday school pupils.

Parole Officer's Purse, Stolen, Grows Larger

Chicago, July 21 (A.P.).—M. H. Cons learned today that being a State parole officer had its peculiar compensations.

Cons, who keeps check on boys paroled from the St. Charles Reformatory, missed his wallet yesterday. It contained a $10 and a $1 bill, his badge, and identification.

Today a special delivery package brought the wallet and its contents to his office and the $1 bill became a $5 one.

He could not account for the $4 present.

County Will Stage Picnic on August 5

Prince William Group to Hold Annual Event at Brentsville.

Special to The Washington Post.

Brentsville, Va., July 21.—The annual picnic of Prince William County will be held on the old courthouse grounds here on August 5, according to announcement of the committee today.

In addition to the regular features in which home demonstration groups and 4-H clubs participate, there will be the added feature this year of a special program in connection with the two hundredth anniversary of Prince William County. The program will be held in the morning, while athletic games, including a baseball game between northern and southern Prince William teams, and horse shoe championships will be scheduled for the afternoon.

Those on the program committee are Mrs. J. B. Thornton, R. C. Haydon, superintendent of schools, W. L. Lloyd, F. D. Cox, county agent, and Miss Sarah Pitts, home demonstration agent. Recreation, arrangement and food committees comprise Judge Wheatley Johnson, Miss Janet Russell, Mrs. Luther Bowman, Maj. F. W. Patterson, Mrs. John Seymour, Mrs. Kate Bradshaw, E. R. Earhart, Will L. Kerlin, Miss Mae Fountaine, J. S. Huff, Mrs. Jack Piercy, Mrs. Egbert Thompson, Mrs. Raymond Ellis, the Rev. J. M. Frame and L. P. Mowry.

Gas Station Man Freed In Danville Slaying

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., July 21.—The Pittsylvania grand jury today declined to indict P. E. Bailey, operator of a filling station, who, on the night of July 7, shot and killed Edgar C. Love, who, Bailey contended, was shot while in the act of robbing a gasoline pump.

The grand jury spent half a day examining State witnesses. At a preliminary hearing Bailey testified that he shot once to frighten the marauder and then to kill when he thought Love was advancing toward him. He admitted that he had kept a shotgun vigil for several nights after the pump had been robbed several times.

Boy Scouts Leave For Summer Camp

Special to The Washington Post.

Purcellville, Va., July 21.—Scouts from various troops in the county left yesterday for Camp Roosevelt, the summer camp for scouts, where they will spend a week.

Those in the party were John Kincaid, Troop 155, Leesburg; Charles Sherman, Freddy Stipe, Dalton Paxson, Stanley Tyler, Moncure Lyon, of Troop 157, Purcellville, and Mortimere Thompson and Chester Gordon, of Troop 180, Round Hill. They were accompanied by Field Executive J. A. Sherman, who returned last night.

Among the instructors at Camp Roosevelt is W. L. Leitch, of Alexandria, scout executive for the northern Virginia area.

Scouts in the county have been active during recent sporting events. At the match polo games played on Welbourne Field, near Middleburg and at the Loudoun Hunt Horse Show, they assisted in parking cars and other activities incident to handling large crowds which attended these events.

LEADER IS CHOSEN FOR WELFARE UNIT

Miss Dora B. Beck Will Head Albemarle-Charlottesville Public Work.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., July 21.—Miss Dora B. Beck has been elected superintendent of public welfare of the joint Albemarle-Charlottesville unit, which embraces the work of the Red Cross Chapter of the city and county, the superintendent serving as secretary of the Red Cross. She succeeds Mrs. Lula King, resigned.

Miss Beck for four and a half years was superintendent of public welfare in Harnett County, N. C., and for three and a half years county superintendent in Arkansas, with headquarters at El Dorado. She was educated at Salem College, North Carolina, the University of North Carolina and Columbia. In addition to her county experience, she has worked with several private agencies, including the New York Children's Aid Society.

Miss Charlotte Crawley, formerly of Charlottesville, has joined the staff of the State Children's Bureau. She is a bachelor of science of the University of Virginia and a master of arts of the University of Chicago. After several years of teaching in Virginia, Miss Crawley became superintendent of public welfare in Charlottesville and Albemarle. She was with the Illinois Children's Aid Society. Recently she has been social case worker with the Appleton Church Home, in Macon, Ga.

Farm Women Plan To Gather Tuesday

Virginia Homemakers Will Attend Demonstrations at Blacksburg.

Blacksburg, Va., July 21 (A.P.).—The Virginia Homemakers' Association will meet at Virginia Polytechnic Institute at the same time the State Farmers' Institute holds its annual sessions during the Institute of Rural Affairs starting next Tuesday.

Many of the sessions of the Homemakers' Association, composed of farm women, will be held with the standards of living section of the rural affairs institute.

The Homemakers' Association will open its meeting Tuesday morning, at which time various committee reports will be heard. That afternoon home demonstration work in each district will be reported upon, while a demonstration of attractive dishes for summer will be held at 3 o'clock by Mrs. Frances Y. Kline, of New York.

Four demonstrations are scheduled for the Thursday afternoon session.

West Virginia Show Gets Best Horses

Elaborate Program Is Announced for August 6 and 7.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charles Town, W. Va., July 21.—The Charles Town Horse Show Association, which will hold its show August 6 and 7, has announced an elaborate program for both days. The officers, Dr. Harry P. Langdon, president; Charles H. Strider, vice president; Dr. J. L. Kuke, secretary, and Frank Brooke, manager, have charge.

Many Virginia horses from Middleburg, Warrenton, Berryville, Upperville, Manassas, Leesburg, Purcellville, Round Hill, Front Royal and other points nearby have already entered high-class horses. Races will be held each afternoon.

Classes will comprise thoroughbreds, halfbreds, heavy draft, roadsters, park saddle and saddle class, ponies, touch and out, in and out jump, 3 and 4 year old hunters, green hunters, lightweight hunters pair hunters, corinthian, handicap jump, handy hunters, 3-year-old hunters, and also the mule class.

Stony Point Couple Wed.

Charlottesville, Va., July 21 (Special).—Guy Elwood Bowbray and Miss Myrtle Kirby, both of Stony Point, this county, were married yesterday at the parsonage of the Christian Church, this city, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Edwin S. Sweeney. The couple will live at Stony Point.

LAUREL-BOWIE ROAD OILING IS DEFERRED

Action Is Taken Following Petition of Citizens; Rum Seized in Raid.

Because the Laurel-Bowie road is not sufficiently settled, oiling the stretch will be postponed until next year, according to H. D. Williar, chief engineer of the State's road commission, in a reply to the commissioners, who are acting on a petition submitted by citizens of Bowie a few weeks ago.

A 7-mile stretch of this road is graveled, and it is this new section the citizens wish oiled. The remainder is macadam.

The commissioners at their meeting yesterday also received a delegation from Glen Arden, headed by Attorney S. Marvin Peach, who presented a petition signed by 60 citizens to make safe the roadway from Hillery road to Landover road. This petition was referred to the road committee for that district.

A committee petitioning for a roadway into the Bradbury Heights School asked the commissioners to write a letter to J. G. Reilly requesting that he allow the road to run through his property. The school board has said that they have no funds available for building the road. The petitioning committee was composed of Mrs. Ralph Small, Mrs. Ely Baily and Charles Smith, all of Bradbury Heights.

H. L. Leonard, an official of the Washington Suburban Gas Co., notified the commissioners that the gas company will lay 300 feet of 2-inch gas mains in Daniels Park, a subdivision of Berwyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Blackman, of Mount Rainier, yesterday filed suit in the Circuit Court in Upper Marlboro for the adoption of Jennifer Lorn, who according to record was found abandoned at one of the Washington parks on November, 1929. The record states the child was born in August, 1929.

The child is to be given the name of Lorraine Mary Blackman. She is now a ward of public welfare board which consents to the adoption.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cromwell Aisip, of Takoma Park, have been granted a final decree in the adoption of a child of Annie Rotter.

A final divorce decree has been granted by Judge Joseph C. Mattingly to Gerald J. Stroup, of Riverdale, from Hannah B. Stroup, of Chevy Chase, Md., on grounds of desertion.

At the height of the gayety attendant upon John Austin's forty-first birthday celebration early yesterday, Prince Georges County police raided his home and seized a 500-gallon still and a quantity of liquor. Although Austin was arrested on a charge of illegal possession, a number of guests were allowed to go free.

Police said they found 35 gallons of alcohol, 6 cases of corn whiskey and a 10-gallon keg of rye whisky on the premises. Austin was released on bond of $1,000. Less than a month ago he was arrested for possession, but was acquitted when another man arrested at the same time was convicted.

Slight fires in two garages in Seat Pleasant have aroused the suspicions of volunteer firemen that a pyromaniac may again be at work in the town. Firemen said the blazes were apparently of incendiary origin.

The fire damaged garages belonging to Mayor Harmon O. Acuff and George N. Palmer. Some time ago a series of expensive fires in the town was traced to a pyromaniac.

Girl Bonded in Court; Tells Fear of Uncle

Elizabeth Edwards, 21, of Fort Humphreys, Va., was released on her personal bond in Traffic Court yesterday after a story of her fear of an uncle's wrath when she returned home, had won over the heart of Judge Gus A. Schuldt.

The girl was arrested by Policeman R. A. Cunningham and held overnight on charges of driving without a permit, without lights and speeding. She told Judge Schuldt her dread of a scolding when she went back to Fort Humphreys had made her tell conflicting tales to Cunningham. Judge Schuldt dismissed the permit charge, and took her personal bond on the other counts.

Quantico Marines Hosts to Firemen

More than 600 Baltimore firemen yesterday journeyed to Quantico, Va., where they were guests of the Marine detachment at a sight-seeing and entertainment program.

Among officials of the Baltimore Department who made the trip were Charles A. Jording, president of the fire commission; Dr. John J. McGinity, fire commissioner, and his wife; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Cassedy, August Emerich, chief; Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Wilkinsen and Dr. and Mrs. Oliver S. Lloyd.

The firemen arrived at Quantico shortly after noon and were greeted by Gen. Smedley Butler and his staff. Following luncheon a baseball game was played between the firemen and Marines, the latter winning by 2 to 1. Dinner at 5:30 o'clock was followed by a regimental parade. The program closed with a smoker in the post gymnasium. The firemen left on a special train for Baltimore at 10:30 o'clock.

Several four-round boxing bouts and one six-round melee were staged during the songfest by the Marines for the entertainment of the visitors. The best of these, judged by the enthusiasm exhibited by the crowd, was been Sailor Clark, of the Naval Field Hospital at the post, and Battling Medlock, a Marine. Clark had Medlock bleeding and extracted a couple of teeth in the early rounds, but the Marine came back to earn a draw. The firemen arose to the occasion and reciprocated the attentions of their hosts with several selections by their band and a picked vocal quartet. Other specialties were contributed by members of both outfits.

School Phonograph Smashed.

Charles Williams, colored janitor of the Orr School, Twenty-second and Prout streets southeast, reported to police yesterday that a rear door of the building had been forced and a phonograph smashed. No other property was stolen or damaged.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

A One-Year Plan for American Business.

RUSSIA has a five-year plan, American leaders are talking of a ten-year plan and President Hoover recently spoke of a twenty-year plan. We propose the following one-year plan for the improvement of efficiency in business, the betterment of industry and the return of prosperity:

1. A 50 per cent cut in office "conferences." Anything that can be accomplished in conference in an hour can be accomplished in a dozen other ways in fifteen minutes.

2. Fewer interviews and more work.

3. Immediate minimization of golf and adherence to the following program:

(a) No discussion of the lighter ball during business hours.

(b) The number of golf fanatics on any board of directors to be limited to 2 per cent.

(c) A pledge by all business executives never to bring their clubs to the office.

(d) A clause in all contracts requiring that important executives who find that golf interferes with the jobs give up their jobs.

4. A definite and final discontinuance of the custom of settling business matters at luncheon. (The average luncheon takes about three hours and nobody ever gets down to the point anyhow.)

5. A return to the old-fashioned business office that suggested work, concentration and performance instead of indolence, opium dreams and Oriental splendors.

6. Plainer looking stenographers, including a reasonable number with hair on the upper lips.

7. An understanding among young women in business offices that they are dressing for business and not for the "Follies."

8. Immediate recognition of the fact that nothing has slowed up business more than the modern theory that stenographers in business offices should be chosen exclusively from the standpoint of the ornamental.

9. Fewer yachts among executives who can't afford them.

10. Less singing of "The Gang's All Here" and more singing of "I've Been Working on the Railroad."

11. A revival of the slogan "the customer is always right!"

12. Less faith in the theory that a string of flashy billboards, a good slogan, a million-dollar electric sign over Broadway, a radio quartet and six vice presidents with illustrious names are the chief essentials to business success.

13. Fewer charts showing what caused it and more action to prevent its happening again.

14. A law prohibiting the sale or possession of blue or smoked glasses.

15. The dungeon for chronic pessimists, calamity howlers and the-worst-is-yet-to-come boys.

16. Restoration of the lost American capacity for indignation over wrongdoing and a more general feeling that the bank president, business executive and industrial leader who allows his name to be used on the literature of questionable stock promotion schemes should be boiled in oil.

17. Shooting at sunrise for business figures, some of them directors of great corporations, who sell securities short, contribute to the stock market collapse and prolong business depression while posing as upstanding Americans, good fellows and "best minds."

18. A more general acceptance of the idea that honesty is not something you may consider yourself possessing as long as there has been no grand jury indictment.

19. A return to plain home cooking and more simple living. (Half the business men of America have been out of condition for the last ten years as a result of high living and excessive whoopee.)

20. More regard for the brotherhood of man by business men outside of the Kiwanis Club luncheons, the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet and the week before Christmas.

21. Underemphasis of the apple in American commercial life.

22. A little more courage all along the line.

23. Less faith in fairy godmothers, wizards, magicians and lucky breaks and more faith in hard work, a complete understanding of the job and an occasional night sweat due to overwork.

A KINDLY THOUGHT.

GRANTING Germany a moratorium was evidently like shouting to a man, sinking for the third time, that he needn't worry about the time-payments on his automobile for a year or so.

* * * *

Let's hope it will not be said that the moratorium was a success, but the patient dies.

* * * *

Several cases of whisky were stolen recently from the cellar of the German Embassy. Stolen is a harsh word. Very likely somebody took it as a loan and will return it if allowed a year's moratorium.

False Fire Call Under Nose Of Policeman Jams Traffic

"Fire? What fire?"

With a puzzled expression, Policeman Harold D. Johnson, of the Traffic Bureau, on duty at Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, last night gazed about him as the greater part of Washington's downtown fire apparatus arrived at the intersection.

A fire chief, one of the first to arrive at the scene, leaped from his car and ran to where Johnson was standing in the center of the street. Bewildered, the officer declared he had no idea where the fire could be.

An alarm, however, had been sent from the fire box on the corner. At a loss to explain, Johnson said he had been directing traffic for several hours, but had seen no smoke or flames.

The fire engines continued to arrive—the rescue squad, huge hook and ladder trucks and finally the police reserves from the Third Precinct. Traffic became snarled and Johnson's temper became slightly ruffled. Hundreds of persons gathered, but still efforts to locate a fire were to no avail.

"Just another false alarm," said a fireman as he climbed back on a truck.

Man Who Failed to 'Crash' District Jail Is Given Job

Ernst Beelitz, Florida farmer, who lost his life's savings in the Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Co. failure, and has since made repeated attempts to "crash" the District Jail, so that he might have some place to lay his head, will not need to suffer that last humiliation.

Beelitz, a German immigrant, who had invested his earnings safely, he thought, with the defunct company, made several unsuccessful attempts to get himself jailed. And just as Judge Ralph Given was beginning to relent, and prepared to impose sentence on Beelitz yesterday, a friend came forward.

Moved by the farmer's condition, an official of the United States Department Employment Service offered him a place on a Virginia farm where he will only have to do light chores. Judge Given was about to give Beelitz 30 days on vagrancy charges when the new-found friend spoke for him.

Beelitz was before Judge Given on the same charges last week, but the court continued the case until yesterday in the hope that some aid might be found. The farmer was first charged when he went to the First Precinct and refused to leave until they had booked him.

Churchmen Urged To Invoke Courage

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., July 21.—The church must develop and sound the note of courage and happiness in these days of unrest, bankruptcy, suicide, pessimism and uncertainty, Dr. F. Blackwelder, of Baltimore, declared tonight at the Virginia Lutheran Conference at Massanetta Springs.

The conference and training school got into full swing today with delegates present from all parts of the Old Dominion and from adjacent States. The round table discussion of the various phases of church life were particularly interesting.

Speaking on "The Secrets of a Happy Life," Dr. Blackwelder suggested that one who looks upon life as something to be found interesting and who gives his best self has discovered the enduring secret of happiness.

The truly happy, he said, have learned the blessedness of being handicapped. They have also found the new freedom which is not the right to do as one pleases but the power to do as one ought. Happy folks forget the flaws and look for the gold medals of life. They determine to see life through.

Former Tazewell Man Yorktown History Aid

(Associated Press.)

Elbert Cox, formerly instructor of history at the Tazewell, Va., High School, yesterday was appointed second assistant historian at the Colonial National Monument, Yorktown, Va., by the Department of the Interior.

Cox, the department said, has specialized in Virginia historical research.

West Virginia Girl University Queen

Student Contest Winners Honored at Dance at Charlottesville.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., July 21.—Miss Marie Williams, of Huntington, W Va., was crowned "Miss University of 1931," and Miss Lillian Driscoll, of this city, daughter of a Baptist minister, "Miss Charlottesville" at the annual beauty contest ball.

The affair was given at Fry's Spring dancing pavilion, under auspices of the Summer School News, a semi-weekly paper, published in the first term of the summer quarter at the University of Virginia by students in the school of education.

Following the grand march, silver loving cups were awarded winners by William Edgar Byrd, jr., business manager of the News. In addition to the loving cup, Miss Williams received gifts donated by merchants of Charlottesville, and a round-trip flight to Washington, presented by a flying service.

Small School Tracts Purchased by District

The District Commissioners purchased two small pieces of property yesterday upon recommendation of Maj. H. L. Robb, assistant engineer commissioner, for school and playground sites.

For a tract adjacent to Langdon school they paid $2,300 to Reid S and Frances M. Baker, and for two lots in the vicinity of Eighteenth street and Minnesota avenue southeast they paid $831. The latter constitute a part of the site for a junior high school.

78 Gallons of Whisky Seized.

Sergt. A. E. Miller and Private F. J. Knoble, of the Second Police Precinct, yesterday seized 78 gallons of corn whisky stored in a house at 153 Pierce street northwest. The house was unoccupied and no arrests were made.

ERNEST GRAGG RITES HELD AT ARLINGTON

After remaining fourteen years in an unmarked grave in Ireland, the body of Ernest H. Gragg, a Navy seaman, who died of exposure when the Rochester was sunk off the coast of Ireland, in 1917, was brought back for final interment yesterday in Arlington National Cemetery.

The body had arrived in New York on the President Roosevelt, a week ago, and the full military funeral was being held in abeyance until the arrival of his mother, Mrs. Cona Gragg, of Corpus Christi, Tex., who had requested the return of the remains.

She had traveled as far East as Birmingham, Ala., when another son, who was accompanying her to Washington, became ill. In order to remain with him she telegraphed Representative Buchanan, of Texas, to let the War Department take complete charge of the funeral, and the seaman was finally buried with full military honors in the overseas section of the cemetery.

The Texas representative attended the ceremony. Gragg was a member of the armed guard on the Rochester, a privately owned boat carrying supplies to France, and with several other shipmates he was on the Atlantic in a lifeboat for four days before the party was finally rescued. He died shortly after being brought to land.

Prince Georges Squad Makes Four Relief Runs

Four runs were made yesterday by the Bladensburg unit of the Prince Georges County Rescue Squad in one of the busiest days they have had this year. The calls they answered included one to the scene of the railroad accident in Berwyn, where two men were killed, though the injured had already been taken to the hospital when they arrived.

The squad was also called when Sydney Kearns, of Tuxedo, cut his foot on a piece of glass while running through a field near his home. He was taken to Providence Hospital to stop the flow of blood from a severed artery. W. E. Hunt, of College Park, was taken to Garfield Hospital by the unit to be treated for heat exhaustion. A third run was made early yesterday morning to take to a Washington hospital a person suffering from acute appendicitis.

Bonds for Montgomery Pass Legal Scrutiny

The board of commissioners of Montgomery County was informed at its meeting yesterday that all legal forms for the $1,055,000 bond issue, sold last week, had been complied with, and that the printing of the securities could proceed. No action on the order was taken at the meeting, however.

The board of election supervisors of the county appeared before the commissioners and asked that vaults to hold records be installed in their office. Lacy Shaw, president of the board, said the matter would be taken under advisement and a decision given at the next meeting on Thursday. A number of hospital bills for the care of the ailing paupers of the county were also ordered paid.

Charlottesville Couple Wed.

Charlottesville, Va., July 21 (Special).—Vivian K. Breeden and Miss Myrtle O'Neal Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar F. Johnson, of this city, were married at 8:30 o'clock last evening at the parsonage of the Hinton Avenue Methodist Church, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. J. W. Bouldin. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Newman H. Breeden.
